Representative Schmaedecke's remarks are as follows:

I'm voting to recommit HB 368 not, however, against Equal Rights for men and women.

HB 368 is a conglomerate of Acts, not truly designed to equate rights between men and women, but which denies basic principles long recognized and established in Kentucky law. The principle of Equal Rights for Men and Women is confused in this Act by a failure of recognition of physiological differences between men and women, and a failure to recognize the practical aspects of human affairs. HB 368 not only confuses but also denies principles of law long established in inchoate rights relating to real property. It does, through Section 98, completely confuse the law relative to marital funds, a doctrine we established in 1972 through the enactment of the "1972 Divorce Act."

It repeals "Slander Per Se" a doctrine long established in law both in England in the United States, as well as other key statutes which ought not be repealed but which ought to be enlarged to protect both men and women.

I cannot in conscience although committed to the principle of Equal Rights, vote for this Act.

No person, business, industry, city, county, water district, or other political subdivision shall have the right to withdraw, divert, or transfer public water from a stream, lake, ground water source or other body of water, unless such person, business, industry, city, county, water district or other political subdivision has been granted a permit by the department [division] for such withdrawal, diversion, or transfer of water. Provided, however, no permit shall be required for [and nothing herein shall interfere with] the use of water for agricultural and domestic purposes including irrigation; and no permit shall be required if the amount of water withdrawn, diverted or transferred is less than the amount established by regulation [and no permit shall be required for water used in the production of steam generating plants or water injected underground in conjunction with operations for the production of oil or gas].

Section 4. KRS 151.160 is amended to read as follows:

(1) All public water withdrawn, diverted or transferred pursuant to a permit under KRS 151.140 must be recorded and a report thereof submitted to the department in a manner prescribed by the department.

(2) The wilful failure to keep accurate records of the withdrawal, diversion or transfer of public water or the failure to submit reports as prescribed by the department shall subject the permit holder to the provisions of KRS 151.990 and possible revocation of the permit.

[(1) All public water withdrawn pursuant to a permit under KRS 151.140, must be recorded and a report thereof kept and sent to the division as hereinafter provided.]

[(2) Beginning July 1, 1967, all persons, business, industries, cities, counties, water districts and other political subdivisions withdrawing, diverting or transferring public water under a permit from the division, must record the amount of water withdrawn, diverted or transferred each day. No permit shall be denied to a responsible applicant who has established an amount of water for which he has a need for a useful purpose, provided the requested amount of water is available.

(3) A permit may be issued for an amount of water withdrawal less than that applied for, if found by the department [division] to be in the best interests of the public or other water users.

(4) Permits for the withdrawal, transfer, or diversion of public water may be amended at any time upon application to the department [division] by the withdrawer, or by the department [division] when the [quarterly] reports indicate that the withdrawer is using substantially a different amount [less] than permitted [the permit amount].

Section 6. KRS 151.180 is amended to read as follows:

(4) On the basis of the evidence produced at the hearing, the commissioner shall make findings of fact and conclusions of law and enter such decisions and orders, as in his opinion will best further the purposes of this chapter, and shall give written notice of such decisions and orders to the petitioner. The decision issued under this subsection shall be issued no later than 30 days following the close of the hearing by the department.

(5) The decision of the department shall become final and binding on all parties, subject to judicial review as provided in KRS 151.190.

[Prior to the denial of an application for a water withdrawal permit or the issuance of a permit for amounts less than the applicant applied for, the person, business, industry, city, county, water district or other political subdivision aggrieved thereby, shall be notified by the division and given an opportunity to appear before the division and be heard. (2) Study and review for the state as its official agency, all survey reports, engineering reports, and other reports concerning or affecting water related projects within the state which are proposed for construction by the federal government, the state government or any agency or subdivision thereof, or which will involve the expenditure of federal or state funds, and which might affect flood control or the development of water resources of the state, and to act as the official representative of the state in any representations, recommendations, or requests to congress or the general assembly concerning such projects or the priority which should be accorded them with relation to the statewide program;

[(7) Adopt, with the approval of the department, certain rules and regulations pertaining to flood control and water resources found necessary in the administration of its duties.]

Section 8. A new section of KRS Chapter 151 is created to read as follows:

(1) An application for a certificate of inspection shall be submitted by the owner when requested by the department, and the department shall examine applications for a certificate of inspection and cause an on-the-ground inspection to be made of an existing dam. The department shall then, within 60 days of the receipt of the completed application for a certificate of inspection, either grant the certificate or disapprove the request in writing, stating the reasons for disapproval.

(2) In deciding whether or not a certificate of inspection should be issued, the department shall take into account all pertinent facts and conditions, but shall not issue a certificate unless the following conditions have been met:

(a) The proposed action will be conducted in such a way that the safety of the public is adequately provided for;

(b) All information requested by the department has been provided; and

(c) The changed flow of the stream or level of the reservoir will not significantly interfere with a beneficial use by other water users.

(3) In granting a certificate of inspection, the department may impose such conditions relating to the inspection, operation, maintenance alteration, repair, use, or control of a dam or reservoir as it determines are necessary for the protection of public health, safety or welfare.

(4) The department may establish hazard categories for dams based on downstream floodplain use, size, or type of dam, or other criteria, and may impose different conditions or types of conditions on the approval of dams or reservoirs in the different categories.

(5) The department may utilize the results and information provided by or for the United States Army Corps of Engineers pursuant to the provisions of Public Law 92-367 if the information is not more than one (1) year old at the time of use.

(6) Certificates of inspection shall be for a definite period of time, not to exceed five (5) years, as determined by the department and stated on the certificate. In determining the period of inspection, the department may take account of any circumstances pertinent to the situation, including, but not limited to, the size and type of dam, topography, geology, soil conditions, hydrology, climate, use of the reservoir, the lands lying in the floodplain downstream from the dam, and the hazard category of the dam.

(7) The department may modify a certificate of inspection or the conditions attached to it. Such modification shall become effective ninety (90) days following issuance by the department of a revised certificate, except when the department finds that a state of emergency exists and that life or property would be endangered by delay. In case of an emergency declared by the department, the new conditions shall be effective immediately.

(8) Specific guidelines for issuance and renewal of certificate of inspection shall be provided by regulations.

(9) Plans and specifications submitted to the department shall be the responsibility of and signed by an engineer licensed by the Commonwealth and experienced in the design and construction of dams, as determined by the department.

Section 9. A new section of KRS Chapter 151 is created to read as follows:

The public safety and welfare requiring it, the commissioner shall conduct a program of regular inspections of dams and reservoirs within the state. The frequency of such inspections shall be as determined by the commissioner, who may establish different inspection intervals.

Section 10. A new section of KRS Chapter 151 is created to read as follows:

(1) Whenever the department determines that any person to which a certificate of inspection has been issued has failed to comply with the conditions in said certificate or whenever the department determines that life or property are or may be endangered by the failure or incapacity of any dam, reservoir, levee, embankment, or other water barriers, or by other causes related to a dam or reservoir, levee, embankment, or other water barriers irrespective of any conditions or the lack thereof in the certificate of inspection for said dam or reservoir, or in those instances where no certificate is required on levee, embankment or other water barriers, the department shall order the owner thereof to take such action as is necessary to render the dam, reservoir, levee, embankment, or other water barriers safe. Where the owner fails, in the judgment of the department, to take satisfactory action toward compliance with such order, or to maintain a satisfactory rate of progress toward full compliance therewith, or where in the judgment of the department, the danger to life or property will not permit delay, the department shall request that a state of emergency be declared by the governor, and upon such declaration, shall take such action as it deems necessary to render the dam, reservoir, levee, embankment, or other water barriers safe, which action may include, but is not limited to:

- (a) Taking full charge and control of the dam, reservoir, levee, embankment, or other water barriers;
- (b) Lowering the water level or emptying the reservoir;
- (c) Performing any necessary remedial or protective work at the site; or
- (d) Taking such other steps as may be necessary to safeguard life and property.

(2) The department may continue such action until the dam, reservoir, levee, embankment, or other water barriers involved is rendered safe or the emergency requiring the action has ceased. The commissioner is authorized to enter into contracts or agreements with other state, local, or federal agencies, or other persons, for work necessary to implement such necessary actions.

(3) Any person to whom an order is directed pursuant to this Section shall comply therewith immediately, but, on petition to the department, may within five (5) working days have a hearing thereon.

Section 11. A new section of KRS Chapter 151 is created to read as follows:

Whenever the commissioner takes action authorized by Section 10, the owner or owners of the dam or the dams creating the impoundment, or levee, embankment, or other water barriers at which such action was taken shall be jointly and severally liable for the costs of taking such action, including applicable overheads, and a lien in the amount of such costs shall be automatically created on all property owned by any such owner at or proximate to such dam or reservoir. The commissioner shall file an action in the circuit court having jurisdiction over any owner or the owner's property for the recovery of such costs, and may join all other owners in such action irrespective of any statutes to the contrary relating to jurisdiction or venue. Following the conclusion of such action the commissioner may make application to the court for foreclosure sale of the property to satisfy any judgment obtained by the commissioner.

Section 12. KRS 151.330 is amended to read as follows:

(1) The governor, the commissioner of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection [natural resources], the secretary for finance and administration [commissioner of finance], the commissioner of health, the commissioner of commerce, the commissioner of agriculture, the attorney general, the secretary of the department of transportation, the commissioner of fish and wildlife resources, and the commissioner of parks, and their respective successors in office, shall be a body corporate and politic, constituting a public corporation and a governmental agency and instrumentality of the Commonwealth [commonwealth] by the name of "The Water Resources Authority [water resources authority] of Kentucky" with perpetual succession and with power in that name to contract and be contracted with, sue and be sued, have and use a corporate seal, and exercise, in addition to the powers and functions specifically stated in this chapter [and KRS chapter 146], all the usual powers of private corporations to the extent that the same are not inconsistent with specifically enumerated powers.

The commissioner of Natural Resources and Environmental Protection [natural resources] shall, by virtue of his office, be the vice-chairman of the authority. The secretary of finance and administration [commissioner of finance] shall, by virtue of his office, be the treasurer of the authority.

(2) All actions for penalties and injunctive relief for violations of this chapter shall be brought in the name of the Commonwealth [commonwealth] of Kentucky by the attorney general in the circuit court of the county in which the applicant resides, or in the circuit court having jurisdiction of the defendant.

HB 655, AN ACT relating to strip mining.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 350.093 is amended to read as follows:

(1) On lands where the method of operation does not produce a bench (area strip mining), complete backfilling shall be required, beginning at or beyond the top of the highwall and sloped to the toe of the spoil bank at a maximum angle not to exceed the approximate original contour of the land with no depressions to accumulate water. Such backfilling shall eliminate all highwalls and spoil peaks. Whenever directed by the division, the operator shall construct in the final grading, such diversion ditches or terraces as will control the water runoff on long uninterrupted slopes. Additional restoration work may be required by the division according to regulations adopted by the department.

(2) On lands where the method of operation produces a bench (contour strip mining), terrace backfilling shall be required and performed as follows:

(a) All highwalls must be reduced or backfilled. The steepest slope of the reduced or backfilled highwall and of the outer slope of the fill bench shall be no greater than forty-five degrees (45) from the horizontal; provided, however, if the highwall is composed of solid rock and sufficient soil is not available to backfill or cover the solid rock suitable to establish vegetative cover, the department, by regulation, may make modifications to the requirements of this section;

(b) The table portion of the restored area shall be a terrace [with a slope toward the reduced highwall of not greater than ten degrees (10)];

(c) Whenever excess spoil is placed in the head-of-the-hollow fills, it shall be compacted under regulations promulgated by the division;

(d) Ridge fills shall not exceed a depth of ten (10) feet;

(e) [(c)] The restored area shall have a minimum depth of four (4) feet of fill over the floor of the pit from which the coal has been removed;

(f) [(d)] There shall be no depressions to accumulate water but lateral drainage ditches connecting to natural or constructed waterways shall be constructed whenever directed by the division;

(g) [(e)] Additional restoration work may be required by the division according to regulations adopted by the department;

(h) On slopes twenty-eight degrees (28) or greater no operator shall construct a bench that exceeds 45 feet with the placement of spoil not to exceed twenty (20) linear feet down the natural slope from the projected outcrop to the toe of the spoil. Blasting of the highwall on slopes twenty-eight degrees (28) or greater is prohibited.

(i) [(f)] In addition to the backfilling and grading requirements above, the operator's method of operation on steep slopes shall [may] be regulated and controlled according to regulations adopted by the department. Such regulations shall [may] limit bench widths, shall limit the amount of overburden to be placed beyond the solid bench to forty percent (40%) or less of the material disturbed, [control the amount of overburden to be placed beyond the solid bench,] may prohibit any overburden from being placed beyond the solid bench on precipitous slopes as defined by the department, or may require any measure whatsoever to accomplish the purpose of this chapter.

(3) An operator may propose alternative plans other than backfilling where a water impoundment is desired, if such restoration will be consistent with the purpose of this chapter. Such plans are to be submitted to the division, and if such plans are approved by the department and complied with within the time limits as may be determined by the department as being reasonable for carrying out such plans, the backfilling requirements of this chapter may be modified by the department.

(4) As determined by regulations of the department, time limits shall be established requiring backfilling, grading and planting to be kept current. All backfilling and grading shall be completed before necessary equipment is moved from the operation.

(5) If the operator or other person desires to conduct drift mining upon the premises or use the openings for haulageways or other lawful purposes, the operator may designate locations to be used for such purposes at which places it will not be necessary to backfill as herein provided for until such drift mining or other use is completed, during which time the bond on file for that portion of the operation shall not be released. That portion of such locations shall be described and designated on the map attached thereto.

(6) When the backfilling and grading have been completed and approved by the division, the director shall release the bond which was filed for that portion of such operation in its full amount less one hundred dollars ($100) per acre, which shall be retained by the division until such time as the planting and revegetation is done according to law and approved by the division, at which time the director shall release the bond in the remaining amount of one hundred dollars ($100) per acre.

Section 2. KRS 350.130 is amended to read as follows:

(1) If any of the requirements of this chapter or rules or regulations adopted pursuant thereto or the orders of the division and the department have not been complied with within the time limits set by the division or the department or by this chapter, the division shall cause a notice of noncompliance to be served upon the operator, or where found necessary, the director shall order the suspension of a permit. Such notice or order shall be handed to the operator in person or served by registered mail addressed to the permanent address shown on the application for a permit. The notice of noncompliance or order of suspension shall specify in what respects the operator has failed to comply with this chapter or the regulations or orders of the division and the department. If the operator has not reached an agreement with the division or has not complied with the requirements set forth in the notice of noncompliance or order of suspension within time limits set therein, the permit may be revoked by order of the department and the performance bond shall then be forfeited to the division.

(2) When a bond is forfeited pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, the director shall give notice to the attorney general, who shall collect the forfeiture.

(3) An operator whose mining permit has been revoked shall not be eligible to receive another permit or to have suspended permits reinstated until he shall have complied with all the requirements of this chapter in respect to former permits issued him, provided, further, that no operator shall be eligible to receive another permit who has forfeited any bond unless the land for which the bond was forfeited has been reclaimed without cost to the state or the operator has paid such sum as the department finds is adequate to reclaim such lands. The division shall not issue any additional permits to any operator who has repeatedly been in noncompliance or violation of this chapter, or who has had permits revoked on more than three occasions. The division shall issue regulations concerning repeated noncompliance by any operator.

Section 3. The effective date of this Act shall be July 1, 1975.

If, in such referendum called under the provisions of this Act, a majority of the eligible producers in the area in which such referendum is conducted, who vote therein, shall vote in the affirmative and in favor of the levying and collection of such assessment proposed in such referendum, then such assessment shall be collected in the manner determined and announced by the association conducting such referendum.

Section 13. A new section of KRS Chapter 247 is created to read as follows:

In the event a majority of the eligible producers in such referendum who vote therein shall vote in favor of the assessment, then the commissioner shall notify forthwith, by registered or certified mail, all persons engaged in the business of purchasing soybeans in this state, that on and after the date specified in such letter, the specified assessment shall be deducted from the producer's payment by the purchaser, or his agent or representative, from the purchase price of such soybeans. The assessment so deducted shall, on or before the 15th day of the month following the end of the month in which such soybeans are sold to the purchaser, be remitted by such purchaser to the duly certified association which conducted the referendum. The books and records of all such purchasers of soybeans shall at all times be open for inspection by the commissioner of agriculture or his duly authorized agents during regular business hours.

Section 14. A new section of KRS Chapter 247 is created to read as follows:

There is hereby established a fund utilization committee composed of four members appointed by the certified organization; two members appointed by the association representing the largest number of soybean farmers in the state; and one member appointed by the governor's council on agriculture, or, if such council does not exist, by the governor. Such appointments shall be for terms of two calendar years and each appointing body shall promptly file with the commissioner the names of its respective appointees.

Section 15. A new section of KRS Chapter 247 is created to read as follows:

Such funds, including donations from individuals, concerns, corporations and grants from the state or governmental agencies, shall be used for the purpose of promoting and stimulating, by research, market development and education, the increased use and sale, domestic and foreign, of soybeans and soybean products. The duly certified association receiving the assessment funds shall, upon the advice and consent of the fund utilization committee, use and disburse the same as follows:

(1) Such association may first refund to itself therefrom the costs and expenses incurred in the conduct of the referendum;

(2) Such association may spend or disburse the necessary funds therefrom for administrative costs and expenses, but no more than 10 percent of the funds collected in any marketing year shall be so utilized; and

(3) From the balance remaining no less than 50 percent thereof shall be used for market development work by means of grants or contracts with any nationally recognized, soybean-grower controlled or operated group or organization, such as the American soybean association market development foundation, Hudson, Iowa.

Section 16. A new section of KRS 247 is created to read as follows:

In the event the referendum is carried in the affirmative and the assessment is levied and collected as provided, any producer upon and against whom such assessment shall have been levied and collected under the provisions of this Act, if dissatisfied with said assessment and the result thereof, shall have the right to demand of and receive from the treasurer of said certified association a refund of such assessment so collected from such producer; provided, such demand for refund is made in writing within 30 days from the date on which said assessment is collected from such producer.

Section 17. A new section of KRS Chapter 247 is created to read as follows:

(1) The board shall review the assessment program annually. If, at the end of each year after the first year of the assessment program, the board determines that the producers in the referendum area representing 50 percent of the production of soybeans have indicated their dissatisfaction with the program by demanding a refund of the assessment collected from them, the commissioner shall then conduct a referendum among the producers in such area. If, upon such referendum, a majority of the producers in the area reject such program, it shall be terminated at the end of the marketing year in which the referendum for the area was conducted; otherwise, such assessment program shall continue in force and effect.

(2) If the duly certified association of soybean producers expresses in writing its desire to the commissioner to discontinue the assessment program and terminate the same, the commissioner shall within 15 days following receipt of such request convene the board to review and act on such request. The board, after reviewing such request and conducting whatever proceedings are deemed appropriate and necessary in connection with such request, may terminate the program effective at the end of the marketing year in which the board action is taken; and, in this event, the commissioner shall notify, by registered or certified mail, the purchasers of soybeans affected thereby of the termination of such program.

Section 18. A new section of KRS Chapter 247 is created to read as follows:

Whenever in the judgment of the board or the duly certified association, a purchaser has engaged in or is about to engage in any acts or practices that constitute a violation of any of the provisions of this Act, the board or the duly certified association may make application to the Franklin Circuit Court for an order enjoining such act, or acts or practices and obtain a restraining order and preliminary injunction against such purchaser.

Section 19. A new section of KRS Chapter 247 is created to read as follows:

Any purchaser of soybeans who violates, or fails or refuses to comply with the provisions of this Act, shall upon conviction be fined not less than $25 nor more than $50 for each offense; each day of the violation, or failing or refusing to comply with the provisions of this Act shall constitute a separate offense.

HB 490, AN ACT relating to Revenue and Taxation.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 136.070 is amended to read as follows:

(1) With respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1965, every corporation organized under the laws of this state, every corporation having its commercial domicile in this state, and every foreign corporation owning or leasing property located in this state or having one or more individuals receiving compensation in this state, except state and national banks and trust companies, savings and loan associations organized under the laws of this state and under the laws of the United States and making loans to members only, production credit associations, insurance companies, including farmers' or other mutual hail, cyclone, windstorm or fire insurance companies, insurers and reciprocal underwriters, public service companies subject to taxation under KRS 136.120, and religious, educational, charitable and like corporations not organized or conducted for pecuniary profit, shall pay to the state an annual license tax of seventy cents on each one thousand dollars of the capital employed in the business as computed under the provisions of subsections (2) and (3) of this section.

(2) The corporation shall determine its total capital, both within and without Kentucky. The term "capital" as used in this section includes, but is not limited to, capital stock, surplus, monies borrowed for purposes other than current operating expenses and used in lieu of or in addition to invested capital and earned surplus, advances by affiliated companies, intercompany accounts, or any other items representing additional capital used and employed in the business. The term "capital stock" as used in this section, shall be deemed to have such value as is reflected on the books of the corporation whether having par value or not.

(3) The total capital, as determined under subsection (2) of this section, shall be apportioned as follows:

(a) The total capital shall be multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the property factor plus the payroll factor, plus the sales factor, and the denominator of which is three.

(b) The property factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the average value of the taxpayer's real and tangible personal property owned or rented and used in this state during the tax period and the denominator of which is the average value of all the taxpayer's real and tangible personal property owned or rented and used during the tax period.

1. Property owned by the taxpayer is valued at its original cost. If the original cost of any property is not determinable or is nominal or zero such property shall be valued by the department under regulations promulgated by the department. Property rented by the taxpayer is valued at eight times the net annual rental rate. Net annual rental rate is the annual rental rate paid by the taxpayer less any annual rental rate received by the taxpayer from subrentals, provided that such rental and such subrentals are reasonable. If the department determines that the annual rental or subrental rate is unreasonable, or if nominal or zero rate is charged, the department may determine and apply such rental rate as will reasonably reflect the value of the property rented by the taxpayer.

2. The average value of property shall be determined by averaging the values at the beginning and ending of the tax period but the department may require the averaging of monthly values during the tax period if reasonably required to reflect properly the average value of the taxpayer's property.

(c) The payroll factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total amount paid or payable in this state during the tax period by the taxpayer for compensation, and the denominator of which is the total compensation paid or payable everywhere during the tax period. Compensation is paid or payable in this state if:

1. The individual's service is performed entirely within the state; or
2. The individual's service is performed both within and without the state, but the service performed without the state is incidental to the individual's service within the state; or
3. Some of the service is performed in the state and the base of operations or, if there is no base of operations, the place from which the service is directed or controlled is in the state, or the base of operations or the place from which the service is directed or controlled is not in any state in which some part of the service is performed, but the individual's residence is in this state.

(d) The sales factor is a fraction, the numerator of which is the total sales of the taxpayer in this state during the tax period, and the denominator of which is the total sales of the taxpayer everywhere during the tax period. Sales of tangible personal property are in this state if:

1. The property is delivered or shipped to a purchaser, other than the United States government, or to the designee of the purchaser within this state regardless of the f.o.b. point or other conditions of the sale; or
2. The property is shipped from an office, store, warehouse, factory, or other place of storage in this state and the purchaser is the United States government. [or the taxpayer is not taxable in the state to which the property is delivered or shipped.]
3. Sales, other than sales of tangible personal property, are in this state if the income-producing activity is performed in this state; or the income-producing activity is performed both in and outside this state and a greater proportion of the income-producing activity is performed in this state than in any other state, based on costs of performance.

(4) If the apportionment provisions of this section do not fairly measure the taxpayer's capital in this state, the taxpayer may petition for or the department may require:

- (a) The exclusion of any one or more of the factors;
- (b) The inclusion of one or more additional factors which will fairly measure the taxpayer's capital in this state; or
- (c) The employment of any other method to produce an equitable apportionment of the taxpayer's capital.
- (5) No corporation required to pay an annual license tax under this section shall pay less than ten dollars.

Section 2. The provisions of this Act shall apply to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1973.

Section 3. KRS 133.030 is amended to read as follows:

(1) The county board of assessment appeals [supervisors] shall convene at the county seat on the second Monday in June [May] in each year; except that no meeting shall be held until the tax roll has been completed and [until after] the inspection period has been held as provided by law, or until revaluation of the property has been completed by the property valuation administrator at the direction of the Department of Revenue as provided by KRS 132.690 or by the department itself as provided by KRS 133.150. All records of the property valuation administrator, including all data concerning property sales within the preceding year, shall be available to the board [of supervisors] while meeting.

(2) The first regular meeting day of the board shall be devoted to a review of the appeals filed with the county clerk as clerk of the board, including a review of recent sales of comparable properties provided in accordance with the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, and an inspection of the properties involved in the appeals when in the opinion of the board such inspection will assist in the proper determination of fair cash value.

(3) The board of assessment appeals [supervisors] shall continue in session only such time as is necessary to hear appeals [and review assessments as provided in KRS 133.120]. The board shall not continue in session more than one (1) day if there are no appeals to be heard nor more than five (5) days after it convenes in each year, unless an extension of time is authorized by the department of revenue upon request of the county judge. Each board member [supervisor] shall be paid not less than ten (10) nor more than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) for each day he serves, the amount to be fixed by order of the fiscal court annually prior to May 1. This compensation shall be paid one-half (1/2) out of the county levy and the other half out of the state treasury.

(4) Members of temporary [additional] panels of the board shall serve at the pleasure of the county judge, Provided however, That their appointment shall be limited to the time necessary for hearing appeals but in no case more than five (5) days except upon approval of an extension of time by the department of revenue. Section 4. KRS 133.040 is amended to read as follows:

The property valuation administrator shall complete the tax roll of all property in his county before the first Monday in May of each year in accordance with law, and on or before that date he shall file with the department of revenue, on blanks to be forwarded by the department, a recapitulation of all property assessed on said tax roll with his official certificate attached thereto. Such recapitulation shall show the assessment of property by types of property and by taxing districts. The property valuation administrator shall file with the department of revenue at the same time the schedules containing a list of the intangible personal property. Within thirty calendar days [two (2) weeks] after receiving the recapitulation [and schedules,] the department of revenue shall direct the property valuation administrator to make any [the] changes that are necessary to correct the assessment. [After the property valuation administrator has made the necessary correction in assessment and records thereof, he shall return such intangible schedules to] T[t]he department of revenue[.

and it] shall preserve all recapitulations and [such] schedules or a photographic facsimile thereof for a period of seven (7) years from the assessment date.

Section 5. KRS 133.045 is amended to read as follows:

In case of necessity, the department of revenue may order a reasonable extension of time for the inspection period of the tax roll or it may order that the inspection period be at a different time than that provided herein. The property valuation administrator shall publish pursuant to KRS chapter 424, a notice as to the time of the inspection period. The cost of such notice shall be paid by the fiscal court of the county. Such notice shall also be posted at the courthouse door. Failure to publish or post notices when the inspection period is at the regular time as provided in this section shall not invalidate assessments made by the property valuation administrator and recorded on the tax roll prior to the inspection period.

Section 6. KRS 133.120 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Any taxpayer aggrieved by an assessment made by the property valuation administrator may appeal to the board of assessment appeals [supervisors.], however, no appeals shall be accepted by the board of assessment unless a [A] letter or other written petition stating the reasons for appeal, identifying the property for which the appeal is filed and stating the taxpayer's opinion of the fair cash value of the property, shall be filed with the county clerk within the five day period in which [between the date] the inspection period is held [begins and the date the board of supervisors convenes]. The board of assessment appeals [supervisors] may review and change any assessment made by the property valuation administrator upon recommendation of the [property valuation administrator,] department of revenue, county judge, mayor [chief finance officer] of any city using the county assessment or the superintendent of any school district in which the property is located, provided, such recommendation is made to the board in writing specifying the individual properties[y] recommended for review. If the board of assessment appeals [supervisors] determines that any such assessment should be increased, then it shall give the taxpayer notice in the manner required by subsection (4) [(2)] of KRS 132.450, specifying a date when the board will hear the taxpayer, if he so desires, in protest of such increase. Any property owner who has listed his property with the property valuation administrator at its fair cash value, likewise may ask the county board of assessment appeals to review the assessments of properties he believes to be assessed at less than fair cash value, providing, he specifies, in writing the individual properties for which the review is sought and factual information upon which his request is based; such as, comparable sales or cost data. Nothing in this section shall be construed as granting any property owner the right to request a blanket review of properties or the board the power to conduct such a review.

(2) The board of assessment appeals [supervisors] shall hold a public hearing for each individual taxpayer [all] appeal[s] in protest of the assessment by [action of] the property valuation administrator filed in accordance with the provisions of subsection (1) of this section, and after hearing all the evidence, shall fix the assessment of the property at its fair cash value [make such changes as it deems necessary to equalize assessments]. The board shall report to the property valuation administrator any property omitted from the tax roll. The property valuation administrator shall assess such property and immediately give notice to the taxpayer in the manner required by KRS 132.450 (4) [(2)], specifying a date when the board of assessment appeals [supervisors] will hear the taxpayer, if he so desires, in protest of the action of the property valuation administrator.

(3) The board of assessment appeals [supervisors] shall have power to issue subpoenas, compel the attendance of witnesses, and adopt rules and regulations concerning the conduct of its business. Any member of the board shall have power to administer oaths to any witness in proceedings before the board.

(4) The powers of the board of assessment appeals shall be limited to those specifically granted by this section.

(5)/[(4)] No appeal under this section shall delay the collection or payment of any taxes based upon the assessment in controversy. The taxpayer shall pay all state, county and district taxes due on the valuation which he claims as true value and stated in the petition of appeal filed in accordance with the provisions of subsection (1) of this section [as and when required by law, and]. W[w]hen the valuation is finally determined upon appeal, the court or the Kentucky board of tax appeals shall certify the valuation to the county court clerk and the taxpayer shall be billed for any additional tax and six per cent (6%) interest from the date when the tax would have become due if no appeal had been taken. The provisions of KRS 134.390 shall apply to such tax bill.

(6) Any member of the county board of assessment appeals may be required to give evidence in support of the board's findings in any appeal from its actions to the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals.

(7)/[(5)] It shall be the duty of the county attorney to represent the interest of the state and county in all hearings before the board of assessment appeals [supervisors] and on all appeals prosecuted from its decision. In the event the county attorney is unable to represent the state and county, he or the fiscal court shall arrange for substitute representation.

An accurate record of the proceedings and orders of the board [of supervisors] and of each of its authorized panels shall be kept and shall show the name of the owner of the property, the description, the type of property, the amount of the assessment the property valuation administrator placed on the property, and the amount of change made in the assessment by the board [of supervisors]. A copy certified by the chairman of the board and attested by the county clerk shall be filed by the clerk with the property valuation administrator and with the department of revenue within five (5) days after the adjournment of the board.

(2) After receipt of the clerk's certification of the action of the board of assessment appeals [supervisors], the property valuation administrator shall complete his rolls by adding to them all listings and assessments which he may have made after the rolls were open for inspection as provided in KRS 133.045 and making all adjustments ordered by the board [of supervisors], and he shall turn the rolls over to the clerk within ten (10) days after the board adjourns. Whereupon the clerk shall make a recapitulation of the assessment by taxing districts and types of property and shall submit such recapitulation to the department of revenue not later than June 20 [1] the time is extended by the department.

(3) The county clerk shall certify to the county court the number of days during which the board was in session, and the court shall enter this fact of record along with the amount due the board members [supervisors] for their services. On a presentation of a copy of the order, the department of finance shall draw a warrant on the state treasurer in favor of the board members [supervisors] and clerk for the amount due for their services.

(4) The county clerk and any authorized deputies serving as clerk of the board or a panel thereof shall be allowed the same compensation per day for their services as is allowed to members of the board [of supervisors] of their county, and they shall be paid in the same manner as members of the board [of supervisors] are paid. The county clerk and his authorized deputies shall be allowed compensation for completing and filing the record of the board and for preparing the recapitulation in the same manner as allowed for their services while acting as clerk of the board or clerk of a panel of the board.

Section 8. KRS 133.130 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person claiming to be erroneously charged with any tax upon property not owned by him may, at any time not later than the next regular county court after he has received notice of the same by demand made upon him to pay the tax, offer evidence in support of the complaint to the county court of the county in which the assessment was made. If the court finds that he was not the owner of the property assessed, it may correct the same by releasing him from the payment of the tax, and the court order exonerating the tax shall, upon delivery of a copy thereof to the property valuation administrator, constitute an order to [shall] have the property immediately listed against the rightful owner.

(2) An appeal may be taken from any final order of the court made under this section or under KRS 133.110. The court shall certify its actions to the department of revenue and sheriff. The sheriff shall not receive credit under this section unless copies of the judgments are furnished to the department by June 1 after the judgments are entered.

Section 9. KRS 133.180 is amended to read as follows:

The department of revenue shall charge the amount of taxes due from the county to the sheriff of the county. When any item of property is in process of appeal and the valuation has not been finally determined, the certification of such property shall be based on the valuation claimed by the taxpayer as the true value. The county clerk shall affix the certification to the tax books and enter it of record in the order book, and it shall be the sheriff's or collector's warrant for the collection of taxes.

Section 10. KRS 133.181 is amended to read as follows:

If the department of revenue, in making its equalization of the property in any county in accordance with the provisions of KRS 133.150, causes any increase or decrease to be made in the value of any property, the county court clerk shall correct the tax books to comply with the final certification of the assessment by the department. As compensation for his services, the clerk shall receive the same compensation [three dollars ($3.00)] per day that he receives for serving as clerk of the board of assessment appeals for as many days as are necessary to make the corrections but not to exceed a total of ten (10) days. One-half (1/2) of such amounts shall be paid out of the county levy and one-half (1/2) out of the state treasury. Such sums shall be paid at the same times and in the same manner as is the clerk's compensation for preparing the tax bills under KRS 133.240 (2).

Section 11. KRS 133.215 is amended to read as follows:

The sheriff shall be entitled to the [a] fee prescribed by KRS 64.090 [of twenty-five cents (25)] for serving a subpoena for the board of assessment appeals [supervisors]. He shall also have a like fee [of

The property valuation administrator shall proceed to assess the property and shall within ten (10) days from the date the property was listed notify the taxpayer of the amount of the assessment. The notice shall be given as provided in KRS 132.450 (4) [(2)].

(2) The property valuation administrator may at any time list and assess any real or tangible property which may have been omitted from the regular assessment. For purposes of hearing appeals from omitted assessments the County Judge shall notify the Chairman of the Board of Assessment Appeals of the date set for hearing and may authorize one member of the Board to hear the appeal and issue a ruling of his decision on the assessment, which shall be appealable, to the Kentucky Board of Tax Appeals as provided by KRS 131.340 (2).*

(4) *Any property voluntarily listed as omitted property for taxation under this section shall be subject to penalties provided in KRS 132.290 (3). Accumulated earnings of the Common School Fund shall each fiscal year be transferred to the School Foundation Program.

The amount to be included for the 1974-75 school year in the Foundation Program of a district for teachers' salaries shall be determined by multiplying the number of teachers in each rank, not to exceed the number of classroom units allowed, by the amount set forth in the following schedule, for a term of 185 days, for each rank:

Rank	I	II	III	IV	V
Experience
0-3 Years	$ 7,740	$7,190	$6,640	$2,900	$2,600
4-9 Years	$ 8,820	$8,270	$7,740	$2,900	$2,600
10 Years & Over	$ 9,440	$8,890	$8,360	$2,900	$2,600

Beginning with the school year 1975-76, the amount to be included in the Foundation Program of a district for teachers' salaries shall be determined by multiplying the number of teachers in each rank, not to exceed the number of classroom units allowed, by the amount set forth in the following allotment schedule, for a term of 185 days, for each rank:

Rank	I	II	III	IV	V
Experience
0-3 Years	$ 8,440	$7,840	$7,240	$2,900	$2,600
4-9 Years	$ 9,610	$9,010	$8,440	$2,900	$2,600
10 Years & Over	$10,290	$9,690	$9,110	$2,900	$2,600

No working budget or salary schedule shall be approved in which the average salary paid any rank of teachers is not at least equivalent to the allotment for that rank, or in which any teacher is paid less than ninety-three percent (93%) of the Foundation Program allotment for that rank, except where there is a decline in local revenue of the district concerned after it has levied the maximum ad valorem property tax rate permitted by law. Any such reduction permitted shall be only for the amount of the decline in local revenue.

In the event any local board of education contends there has been a decline in local tax resources in that district, the State Board of Education shall certify such contention to the Department of Revenue. Said department shall then determine whether or not there has, in fact, been a decline in local tax resources of such district, and, if so, the amount of such decline. The Department of Revenue shall then certify its determination to the State Board of Education, and said Board shall accept such certified determination as final.

The allotment to any school district of classroom units, pursuant to KRS 157.360(1), shall not exceed the number of teachers employed by that school district.

Entitlement for basic classroom units obtained in schools of one classification shall not be allocated to schools of another classification. For the purposes of determining such entitlement, classification shall be as follows:

- (1) One-teacher schools;
- (2) Schools, other than one-teacher schools, with less than one hundred pupils in average daily attendance; and
- (3) Schools, other than one-teacher schools, with more than one hundred pupils in average daily attendance.

In the determination of allotments pursuant to KRS 157.360(2), there shall not be allotted a full classroom unit for any non-isolated one-teacher school with fewer than 27 pupils in average daily attendance, or for any isolated one-teacher school which has fewer than 12 pupils in average daily attendance.

Allotments, provision for which is made under this Act, for classroom units pursuant to KRS 157.360(4), (5), and (9) shall be as follows:

Vocational Education	1,780	2,035	2,230
Exceptional Children	1,360	1,860	2,460
Kindergarten	100	150	200

Provided, however, that if classroom units in either category prove to be excessive, the surplus not to exceed fifty (50) such classroom units may be reallocated to the other category by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, upon approval of the State Board of Education and the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration.

Allotments for classroom units pursuant to KRS 157.360(6) shall only be for those personnel enumerated under said subsection who are qualified for their respective positions under applicable provisions of law and regulations, and who maintain programs which have been approved pursuant to applicable regulations.

The amount to be included in the Foundation Program for other current expenses shall be determined by multiplying the number of classroom units by: $1,680 in the 1974-75 school year and $1,830 in the 1975-76 school year.

The amount to be included in the Foundation Program for capital outlay shall be determined by multiplying the number of classroom units by: $1,400 in the 1974-75 school year and $1,550 in the 1975-76 school year.

In accordance with the intent of KRS 162.060 and 162.160, no space shall be rented, purchased, or otherwise acquired and thereafter converted to classroom use without prior approval of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. The State Board of Education may adopt regulations for the housing of school children; provided, however, that no existing room shall be divided by partitions of nonstructural materials. No classroom units shall be allotted for a second teacher in the same classroom. No facilities shall be approved for classroom use which are detrimental to the health of, or dangerous to the safety of, school children.

If a school district operates any school or grade of a school for a term of less than nine and one-quarter (9-1/4) scholastic months or for a school day of less than the minimum required by KRS 158.060, the average daily attendance of such school shall be reduced proportionately by the Superintendent of Public Instruction in determining the allotment of classroom units pursuant to KRS 157.400 and applicable regulations.

Notwithstanding the provisions of KRS 156.650, no unexpended portions of the Foundation Program fund shall be expended at any time for the purpose of KRS 156.610 through 156.650.

The total appropriation for the Foundation Program shall be measured by, or construed as, estimates of the state expenditures required by KRS 157.310 et seq. If the required expenditures exceed these estimates, the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration, with approval of the Governor, may increase the appropriations by such amount as may be available and necessary to meet, to the extent possible, the required expenditures under the hereinabove cited sections of the Kentucky Revised Statutes; provided, however, that any such increase, or the total appropriations to the Foundation Program, is subject to the provisions of paragraph 11 Part Six, General Provisions, of this Act and the provisions of KRS 45.160.

All monies transferred to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration for capital construction from any appropriations shall be expended, accounted for, and otherwise treated in the same manner as funds appropriated directly to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration for capital construction.

If at the end of any fiscal year the monies and securities to the credit of the State Fire and Tornado Insurance Fund exceed $2,000,000, and if conditions with respect to life and fire safety in state properties are such as not to require the expenditure of all excess funds for improvements to said conditions, then the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration, with the concurrence of the Commissioner of Insurance, shall determine the amount of such excess not so required and may authorize its transfer to the Capital Construction Fund, for expenditure in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 56 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes.

PART FOUR RESTRICTED FUNDS

All Restricted Funds received by various officers, departments, boards, commissions, institutions, divisions, and other agencies of state government and all funds balances brought forward from the previous fiscal year are appropriated. Such funds shall be spent as stipulated by the applicable trust or statute. These funds shall be deposited in the State Treasury and maintained in a Restricted Fund group with subsidiary records for specific accounts. Conditions established by the donor or applicable statute shall govern expenditures, except that restricted funds may not be transferred to the Operating Fund Group of accounts as an appropriation for general operations.

PART FIVE BONDED INDEBTEDNESS FUNDS

There is appropriated for the retirement of bonds issued by or authorized by the Commonwealth or its agencies, boards and departments or commissions, the amount necessary to meet the annual debt service.

Revenues pledged as income shall be deposited to the respective revenue accounts from which as first pledge the necessary principal, interest and reserves shall be paid. Any balance after this payment shall be transferred to the operating fund of the applicable agency, office, board, commission or department to be used for general operational expenses authorized under conditions established by the Trust Indenture.

PART SIX GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. The appropriations listed herein to the various officers, departments, boards, commissions, institutions, subdivisions, and agencies of State Government from Agency Funds and/or Agency Receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975, and for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1976, consist of all of the fees (which include fees for board and room, athletics and student activities) and rentals, admittances, sales, bond proceeds, licenses collected by law, gifts, subventions, Federal grants and other Federal funds received, contributions, and other miscellaneous receipts produced or received by any agency of the State Government, except as otherwise specifically provided, for the use and benefit of the agencies of the State Government for the purposes for which each fund is authorized. All funds received are appropriated. Such funds shall be deposited in the State Treasury and credited to the appropriate fund shown as provided in KRS Chapters 12, 42, 45.

In the event the sum of receipts received and credited to any Revolving or Trust and Agency Fund Account during fiscal year 1974-75 or fiscal year 1975-76 (plus the balance forwarded to the credit of any such account from the previous fiscal year) exceeds the appropriation shown, the Executive Department for Finance and Administration may approve, during the year in which the excess occurs, the use of such excess to replace other funds anticipated but not received, to meet increased program costs, or to reduce the General Fund allotments. Excess funds may not be used to increase the expenditure base of recurring General Funds for the next biennium.

In the event receipts received and credited to any Revolving or Trust and Agency Fund plus any balance forwarded to the credit of any such account from the previous fiscal year are less than the appropriation, the expenditure level shall be reduced by the Executive Department for Finance and Administration to the amount of such funds available.

On or before June 1, 1974 for fiscal year 1974-75 and on or before June 1, 1975, for fiscal year 1975-76, each agency shall submit to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration schedules showing estimated receipts by source and by program, which are anticipated to be received each quarter of the fiscal year.

2. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to repeal any appropriation made hereinbefore or hereinafter for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1974, and nothing in this Act is to be construed as amending or altering the provisions of Chapters 42 and 45 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes pertaining to the duties and powers of the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration in accordance with the detailed estimates embodied in the Executive Budget 1974-76 and supporting work papers, as considered by the General Assembly, and the decision of the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration shall be final and conclusive.

3. The Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration is authorized to establish a system or formula or a combination of both for pro-rating the administrative costs of the Departments of Personnel, Executive Department for Finance and Administration, Treasury, and Law relative to the administration of programs in which there is joint participation by the State and Federal Governments for the purpose of receiving the maximum amount of participation permitted under the appropriate Federal laws and regulations governing such programs. Any reimbursements received from Federal Funds under this system or formula shall accrue to the General Expenditure Fund and any system or formula for the proration shall be developed pursuant to the provisions of KRS 18.330.

4. In enacting this Appropriation Act, it is the deliberate intention of the General Assembly to enact each section, and each subsection thereof as a separate and/or specific appropriation and law, and if any section, any subsection, or any provision thereof shall be held invalid or unconstitutional, the decision of the courts shall not affect or impair any of the remaining sections, subsections, or provisions contained herein.

5. All continuing appropriations in existence at the time this Act takes effect are discontinued and repealed by this Act, notwithstanding any provisions of the Kentucky Revised Statutes to the contrary, except as provided by Chapters 12, 42, 45, 56, 152, 177 and 341 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes. All laws and portions of laws in conflict with any of the provisions of this Section, to the extent of such conflict, are hereby repealed.

6. In the event prior year service credit for military service in Kentucky Retirement Systems is authorized by the General Assembly, up to $500,000 in fiscal year 1974-75 and $500,000 in fiscal year 1975-76 is appropriated for employer contributions. These funds shall be allotted from the "contingency" funds appropriated to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration for non-recurring expenditures in the Capital Construction funds.

7. In the event General Fund Surplus at the close of books for fiscal year 1973-74 plus the revised estimates for General Fund Revenue for fiscal year 1974-75 exceed $913,524,045, any excess up to a maximum of $2,847,050, may be used to reduce in-state tuition at the University of Louisville an additional $75 each year of the biennium. The $2,847,050 ($935,550 for 1974-75 and $1,911,500 for 1975-76) shall be appropriated to the Council on Public Higher Education for allotment to the University of Louisville upon reduction of such tuition. The $1,911,500 shall not lapse at the end of fiscal year 1974-75.

8. Nothing in this Act shall prevent the Department of Education from converting from the classroom unit basis of calculating the Foundation Program to the weighted pupil cost unit approach in 1975-76 except that no school district shall receive less funds under the pupil cost unit approach than received under the classroom unit calculation. It is the intent of the General Assembly to convert to the pupil cost unit approach basis of calculation as soon as the necessary data, weighted factors, and approved procedures are available. The Department of Education shall submit by January 1, 1975, to the Governor and to the Legislative Research Commission, a plan for converting to the pupil cost unit approach.

Notwithstanding the provision of KRS 157.400, any undistributed balance in the Foundation Program fund at the end of fiscal years 1973-74 and 1974-75 shall lapse to the General Expenditure Fund; provided, however, that if a change in the Foundation Program is approved by the General Assembly and if the Department of Education submits an acceptable plan, by January 1, 1975, to the Governor and the Legislative Research Commission for conversion to the Weighted pupil cost unit approach of calculating Foundation Program aid, any balance, not to exceed $5,500,000, remaining in the Foundation Program fund at the end of the 1974-75 fiscal year may, with the approval of the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration and the Governor, continue into fiscal year 1975-76 to make such conversion and to ensure that no public local school district shall receive less funds as a result of converting to the pupil cost unit approach of calculating Foundation Program allotments than would have been received under the classroom unit method of calculation now in effect.

9. At such time as the Congress of the United States may enact into law a provision increasing or extending coverage of Federal minimum wage requirements now in effect, the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration with the approval of the Governor, shall be authorized to pay, out of any available General Fund Surplus, to those state employees affected by such increase, an amount necessary to raise their respective compensation to a level consistent with the requirements of any such newly enacted provision increasing minimum wage requirements.

10. Funds necessary to continue existing revolving accounts are appropriated for each fiscal year of the 1974-76 biennium. Any surplus funds in any such account at the closing of books for the fiscal year shall lapse. If any revolving account is abolished, or funds therein are lapsed during the 1974-76 biennium, such funds shall lapse to the General Expenditure Fund if such General Funds were in part or in whole used to establish or sustain the revolving fund. If no general funds were involved, funds shall be returned to the original source.

11. WHEREAS, the finances of the Commonwealth cannot be ascertained with absolute certainty at this time, and since the actual needs of each officer, department, board, commission, institution, agency, or other activity or subdivision of the State Government can only be anticipated and not finally determined by the General Assembly, and since the total amount of revenue accruing from General Fund taxes, from the State Road taxes, from various fees or from Federal funds from which these appropriations are made, can only be anticipated through existing laws and those that may hereinafter be enacted, and recognizing the complex nature of the economy and the impact the energy crisis may have upon it, it is the purpose and intention of this Act that the expenditures for each fiscal year shall not exceed the total financial resources accruing to any fund for the same fiscal year respectively.

Recognizing the uncertainties in the economy and the problems in forecasting revenue, together with the unreliability of Federal funds under the present national administration policies, the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration is hereby granted authorization to adjust sources of funds within appropriations for programs authorized herein; to delay initiation of expansion or new programs planned and identified in the Executive Budget 1974-76; to increase funds for existing program requirements when inflationary costs exceed the increase authorized in the budget, and, specifically, to adjust budgets to cover exceptional increases in fuel costs and institutional subsistence costs. The Commissioner, Department of Revenue shall by May 31, 1974, for fiscal year 1974-75 and by May 31, 1975, for fiscal year 1975-76 provide to the Governor and a copy to the Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue a revised estimate of revenue. Based upon this estimate the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration shall submit to the Governor with a copy to the Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue a proposed revised budget if: (1) the estimate plus surplus from the previous year is less than projected in the Executive Budget 1974-76; or (2) if the estimate plus surplus from the previous fiscal year exceeds the amount projected in the Executive Budget 1974-76. The descending priorities for reduction shall be: (1) continuation of existing service levels; (2) increases required by Federal or state law; (3) extra-ordinary inflationary increases in current expenses; (4) expansion of services recommended in the Executive Budget 1974-76; (5) renovation of existing facilities; (6) new programs included in the Executive Budget 1974-76; and (7) new capital projects listed in the Kentucky Executive Budget. Surplus from fiscal year 1973-74 brought forward into fiscal year 1974-75 when combined with the revised estimate of General Fund revenue exceeding $916,371,095 is appropriated for allocation in fiscal year 1974-75 on the following priorities: (1) statutory increases not included in the budget and appropriation; (2) loss of funds anticipated in the budget as a source of income, which loss would otherwise cause a reduction in service delivery; (3) extra-ordinary inflationary increases which would otherwise cause a reduction in service delivery; (4) overruns on renovation projects listed in the budget document; and (5) overruns on new capital construction projects listed in the budget document.

Surplus from fiscal year 1974-75 brought forward into fiscal year 1975-76 when combined with the revised estimate of General Fund revenue exceeding $933,485,645, is appropriated for allocation in fiscal year 1975-76 on the same priority set forth for 1974-75.

The adjustments authorized above shall apply to both current state revenue and non-recurring funds; although the use of the non-recurring funds for recurring expenses shall be clearly identified in the revised budget and shall be kept to a minimum.

If the May 31st estimates show an increase above projections in the Executive Budget 1974-76 for any fund and a decrease in others, transfers between funds shall be permitted up to the expenditure level set forth herein except that road funds may not be used for other than road fund or road fund related purposes.

The Governor shall consult with the Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue in his review of the proposed budget revision and shall indicate his decision by an official Executive Order.

12. No state agency, department or office shall incur obligations, unless such planned obligation is set forth in the Executive Budget or by statute; raise fees; accept grants; or use fund balances to increase the base of the state General Fund expenditure level set forth herein.

Any General Fund appropriation to replace anticipated loss of Federal funds, shall lapse to the General Expenditure Fund to the extent such Federal funds are received.

13. The Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration, in the manner set forth and as provided by general law, is authorized, empowered and directed by the General Assembly to prevent an overdraft or deficit in any fiscal year for which appropriations are herein made, by equitably reducing, according to need, without discrimination, the appropriations made herein to any officer, department, board, commission, institution, subdivision, agency, or other activity of the State Government, provided however, that the power vested shall not permit any reduction of the appropriation of any officer, department, board, commission, institution, subdivision, agency, or other activity of the State Government that will actually impair the necessary constitutional functions of any such agency or activity, the operations and functions of which are determined to be necessary constitutional functions of State Government. Such adjustments shall be reviewed with the Joint Committee on Appropriations and Revenue before the reduction is made, and shall apply to changes in revenue or expenditure estimates after the fiscal year begins.

The Committee Substitute for HB 288 is as follows:

HB 288, AN ACT relating to appropriations for the operation, maintenance, support, and functioning of the government of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and its various officers, departments, boards, commissions, institutions, subdivisions, agencies, and other state supported activities.

Source of Appropriation:

General Fund	$309,718,400	$348,000,500
--------------	---------------	---------------

Accumulated earnings of the Common School Fund shall each fiscal year be transferred to the School Foundation Program.

The amount to be included for the 1974-75 school year in the Foundation Program of a district for teachers' salaries shall be determined by multiplying the number of teachers in each rank, not to exceed the number of classroom units allowed, by the amount set forth in the following schedule, for a term of 185 days, for each rank:

Rank	I	II	III	IV	V
Experience
0-3 Years	$ 7,740	$7,190	$6,640	$2,900	$2,600
4-9 Years	$ 8,820	$8,270	$7,740	$2,900	$2,600
10 Years & Over	$ 9,440	$8,890	$8,360	$2,900	$2,600

Beginning with the school year 1975-76, the amount to be included in the Foundation Program of a district for teachers' salaries shall be determined by multiplying the number of teachers in each rank, not to exceed the number of classroom units allowed, by the amount set forth in the following allotment schedule, for a term of 185 days, for each rank:

Rank	I	II	III	IV	V
Experience
0-3 Years	$ 8,440	$7,840	$7,240	$2,900	$2,600
4-9 Years	$ 9,610	$9,010	$8,440	$2,900	$2,600
10 Years & Over	$10,290	$9,690	$9,110	$2,900	$2,600

No working budget or salary schedule shall be approved in which the average salary paid any rank of teachers is not at least equivalent to the allotment for that rank, or in which any teacher is paid less than ninety-three percent (93%) of the Foundation Program allotment for that rank, except where there is a decline in local revenue of the district concerned after it has levied the maximum ad valorem property tax rate permitted by law. Any such reduction permitted shall be only for the amount of the decline in local revenue.

In the event any local board of education contends there has been a decline in local tax resources in that district, the State Board of Education shall certify such contention to the Department of Revenue. Said department shall then determine whether or not there has, in fact, been a decline in local tax resources of such district, and, if so, the amount of such decline. The Department of Revenue shall then certify its determination to the State Board of Education, and said Board shall accept such certified determination as final.

The allotment to any school district of classroom units, pursuant to KRS 157.360(1), shall not exceed the number of teachers employed by that school district.

Entitlement for basic classroom units obtained in schools of one classification shall not be allocated to schools of another classification. For the purposes of determining such entitlement, classification shall be as follows:

- (1) One-teacher schools;
- (2) Schools, other than one-teacher schools, with less than one hundred pupils in average daily attendance; and
- (3) Schools, other than one-teacher schools, with more than one hundred pupils in average daily attendance.

In the determination of allotments pursuant to KRS 157.360(2), there shall not be allotted a full classroom unit for any non-isolated one-teacher school with fewer than 27 pupils in average daily attendance, or for any isolated one-teacher school which has fewer than 12 pupils in average daily attendance.

Allotments, provision for which is made under this Act, for classroom units pursuant to KRS 157.360(4), (5), and (9) shall be as follows:

	1973-74	1974-75	1975-76
Vocational Education	1,780	2,035	2,230
Exceptional Children	1,360	1,860	2,460
Kindergarten	100	150	200

Provided, however, that if classroom units in either category prove to be excessive, the surplus not to exceed fifty (50) such classroom units may be reallocated to the other category by the Superintendent of Public Instruction, upon approval of the State Board of Education and the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration.

Allotments for classroom units pursuant to KRS 157.360(6) shall only be for those personnel enumerated under said subsection who are qualified for their respective positions under applicable provisions of law and regulations, and who maintain programs which have been approved pursuant to applicable regulations.

Funds are appropriated for construction projects enumerated in the Executive Budget 1974-76, including but not limited to reclamation projects, major items of equipment necessary to execute statutory responsibilities, industrial development projects (including pilot plants related to energy research), construction, renovation, property acquisition, and administrative costs related to design, construction and supervision of such projects.

All monies transferred to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration for capital construction from any appropriations shall be expended, accounted for, and otherwise treated in the same manner as funds appropriated directly to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration for capital construction.

If at the end of any fiscal year the monies and securities to the credit of the State Fire and Tornado Insurance Fund exceed $2,000,000, and if conditions with respect to life and fire safety in state properties are such as not to require the expenditure of all excess funds for improvements to said conditions, then the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration, with the concurrence of the Commissioner of Insurance, shall determine the amount of such excess not so required and may authorize its transfer to the Capital Construction Fund, for expenditure in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 56 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes.

All income from real estate rentals, sales, interest on funds in the capital construction fund including balances at the end of previous fiscal year are appropriated and shall be administered as provided in Chapter 56 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes.

The above General Fund appropriation includes $1,000,000 during fiscal year 1974-75 to establish an Emergency School Loan Fund to be used by the State Board of Education to make temporary, no interest loans to local school districts to aid in the reconstruction and repair of school facilities damaged by disasters.

PART FOUR RESTRICTED FUNDS

All Restricted Funds received by various officers, departments, boards, commissions, institutions, divisions, and other agencies of state government and all funds balances brought forward from the previous fiscal year are appropriated. Such funds shall be spent as stipulated by the applicable trust or statute. These funds shall be deposited in the State Treasury, unless otherwise provided by KRS 41.290, and maintained in a Restricted Fund group with subsidiary records for specific accounts. Conditions established by the donor or applicable statute shall govern expenditures, except that restricted funds may not be transferred to the Operating Fund Group of accounts as an appropriation for general operations.

PART FIVE BONDED INDEBTEDNESS FUNDS

There is appropriated for the retirement of bonds issued by or authorized by the Commonwealth or its agencies, boards and departments or commissions, the amount necessary to meet the annual debt service.

Revenues pledged as income shall be deposited to the respective revenue accounts from which as first pledge the necessary principal, interest and reserves shall be paid. Any balance after this payment shall be transferred to the operating fund of the applicable agency, office, board, commission or department to be used for general operational expenses authorized under conditions established by the Trust Indenture.

PART SIX GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. The appropriations listed herein to the various officers, departments, boards, commissions, institutions, subdivisions, and agencies of State Government from Agency Funds and/or Agency Receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975, and for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1976, consist of all of the fees (which include fees for board and room, athletics and student activities) and rentals, admittances, sales, bond proceeds, licenses collected by law, gifts, subventions, Federal grants and other Federal funds received, contributions, and other miscellaneous receipts produced or received by any agency of the State Government, except as otherwise specifically provided, for the use and benefit of the agencies of the State Government for the purposes for which each fund is authorized. All funds received are appropriated. Such funds shall be deposited in the State Treasury and credited to the appropriate fund shown as provided in KRS Chapters 12, 42, 45.

In the event the sum of receipts received and credited to any Revolving or Trust and Agency Fund Account during fiscal year 1974-75 or fiscal year 1975-76 (plus the balance forwarded to the credit of any such account from the previous fiscal year) exceeds the appropriation shown, the Executive Department for Finance and Administration may approve, during the year in which the excess occurs, the use of such excess to replace other funds anticipated but not received, to meet increased program costs, or to reduce the General Fund allotments. Excess funds may not be used to increase the expenditure base of recurring General Funds for the next biennium.

In the event receipts received and credited to any Revolving or Trust and Agency Fund plus any balance forwarded to the credit of any such account from the previous fiscal year are less than the appropriation, the expenditure level shall be reduced by the Executive Department for Finance and Administration to the amount of such funds available.

On or before June 1, 1974 for fiscal year 1974-75 and on or before June 1, 1975, for fiscal year 1975-76, each agency shall submit to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration schedules showing estimated receipts by source and by program, which are anticipated to be received each quarter of the fiscal year.

2. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to repeal any appropriation made hereinbefore or hereinafter for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1974, and nothing in this Act is to be construed as amending or altering the provisions of Chapters 42 and 45 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes pertaining to the duties and powers of the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration in accordance with the detailed estimates embodied in the Executive Budget 1974-76 and supporting work papers, as considered by the General Assembly, and the decision of the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration shall be final and conclusive.

3. The Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration is authorized to establish a system or formula or a combination of both for pro-rating the administrative costs of the Departments of Personnel, Executive Department for Finance and Administration, Treasury, and Law relative to the administration of programs in which there is joint participation by the State and Federal Governments for the purpose of receiving the maximum amount of participation permitted under the appropriate Federal laws and regulations governing such programs. Any reimbursements received from Federal Funds under this system or formula shall accrue to the General Expenditure Fund and any system or formula for the proration shall be developed pursuant to the provisions of KRS 18.330.

4. In enacting this Appropriation Act, it is the deliberate intention of the General Assembly to enact each section, and each subsection thereof as a separate and/or specific appropriation and law, and if any section, any subsection, or any provision thereof shall be held invalid or unconstitutional, the decision of the courts shall not affect or impair any of the remaining sections, subsections, or provisions contained herein.

5. All continuing appropriations in existence at the time this Act takes effect are discontinued and repealed by this Act, notwithstanding any provisions of the Kentucky Revised Statutes to the contrary, except as provided by Chapters 12, 42, 45, 56, 152, 177 and 341 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes. All laws and portions of laws in conflict with any of the provisions of this Section, to the extent of such conflict, are hereby repealed.

6. In the event prior year service credit for military service in Kentucky Retirement Systems is authorized by the General Assembly, up to $500,000 in fiscal year 1974-75 and $500,000 in fiscal year 1975-76 is appropriated for employer contributions. These funds shall be allotted from the "contingency" funds appropriated to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration for non-recurring expenditures in the Capital Construction funds.

7. In the event General Fund Surplus at the close of books for fiscal year 1973-74 plus the revised estimates for General Fund Revenue for fiscal year 1974-75 exceed $913,524,045, any excess up to a maximum of $2,847,050, may be used to reduce in-state tuition at the University of Louisville an additional $75 each year of the biennium. The $2,847,050 ($935,550 for 1974-75 and $1,911,500 for 1975-76) shall be appropriated to the Council on Public Higher Education for allotment to the University of Louisville upon reduction of such tuition. The $1,911,500 shall not lapse at the end of fiscal year 1974-75.

8. Nothing in this Act shall prevent the Department of Education from converting from the classroom unit basis of calculating the Foundation Program to the weighted pupil cost unit approach in 1975-76 except that no school district shall receive less funds under the pupil cost unit approach than received under the classroom unit calculation. It is the intent of the General Assembly to convert to the pupil cost unit approach basis of calculation as soon as the necessary data, weighted factors, and approved procedures are available. The Department of Education shall submit by January 1, 1975, to the Governor and to the Legislative Research Commission, a plan for converting to the pupil cost unit approach.

Notwithstanding the provision of KRS 157.400, any undistributed balance in the Foundation Program fund at the end of fiscal years 1973-74 and 1974-75 shall lapse to the General Expenditure Fund; provided, however, that if a change in the Foundation Program is approved by the General Assembly and if the Department of Education submits an acceptable plan, by January 1, 1975, to the Governor and the Legislative Research Commission for conversion to the Weighted pupil cost unit approach of calculating Foundation Program aid, any balance, not to exceed $5,500,000, remaining in the Foundation Program fund at the end of the 1974-75 fiscal year may, with the approval of the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration and the Governor, continue into fiscal year 1975-76 to make such conversion and to ensure that no public local school district shall receive less funds as a result of converting to the pupil cost unit approach of calculating Foundation Program allotments than would have been received under the classroom unit method of calculation now in effect.

9. At such time as the Congress of the United States may enact into law a provision increasing or extending coverage of Federal minimum wage requirements now in effect, the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration with the approval of the Governor, shall be authorized to pay, out of any available General Fund Surplus, to those state employees affected by such increase, an amount necessary to raise their respective compensation to a level consistent with the requirements of any such newly enacted provision increasing minimum wage requirements.

10. Funds necessary to continue existing revolving accounts are appropriated for each fiscal year of the 1974-76 biennium. Any surplus funds in any such account at the closing of books for the fiscal year shall lapse. If any revolving account is abolished, or funds therein are lapsed during the 1974-76 biennium, such funds shall lapse to the General Expenditure Fund if such General Funds were in part or in whole used to establish or sustain the revolving fund. If no general funds were involved, funds shall be returned to the original source.

11. Whereas, inasmuch as the finances of the Commonwealth cannot be ascertained with absolute certainty at this time, and since the actual needs of each officer, department, board, commission, institution, agency or other activity or subdivision of state government can only be anticipated and not finally determined by the General Assembly, and since the total amount of revenue accruing to the General Expenditure Fund and to the State Road Fund and accruing from various fees or from Federal funds from which appropriations are made can only be anticipated as being produced through existing laws and those that may hereafter be enacted, and recognizing the complex nature of the economy and the impact the energy crisis may have upon it, it is the purpose and intention of this Act that the expenditures for each fiscal year shall not exceed the total financial resources accruing to any Fund, as defined in KRS Chapter 45, for the same fiscal year.

Recognizing the uncertainties in the economy and the problems in forecasting revenue together with the unreliability of Federal funds under the present national administration policies and recognizing that the needs of each officer, department, board, agency, commission, institution, subdivision or activity of state government, together with the total financial resources accruing to the General Expenditure Fund and the State Road Fund can not be fully determined at this time, it is the intention and purpose of this General Assembly that the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration, with the approval of the Governor of the Commonwealth, is authorized, empowered and directed to ascertain and determine the needs of each officer, department, board, commission, institution, subdivision, agency or other activity of state government and to ascertain the total financial resources anticipated to be accrued to the General Expenditure Fund and the State Road Fund of the Commonwealth, and upon the ascertainment and determination of said facts, he, the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration, in the manner set forth as provided by general law, is authorized, empowered, and directed by the General Assembly to prevent an overdraft or deficit in any fiscal year for which appropriations are herein made, by equitably reducing, according to needs, without discrimination, the appropriations herein made from the General Expenditure Fund and State Road Fund to each officer, department, board, commission, institution, subdivision, agency or other activity in state government, provided, however, that the power invested shall not permit any reduction of the appropriations of any officer, department, board, commission, institution, subdivision, agency or other activity of state government that will actually impair the necessary constitutional functions of such agency or activity, the operations and functions of which are determined to be necessary constitutional function of state government.

In affecting such reductions the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration shall reduce appropriations contained in this Act in the following order: First, by eliminating or suspending all contingent or provisional appropriations contained herein; Second, by eliminating new capital projects; Third, by eliminating or delaying new programs; Fourth, by eliminating or delaying renovation projects; Fifth, by eliminating or delaying any expansion of the existing service levels; Sixth, by eliminating or delaying increases in current operating expenses and capital outlays; Seventh, by delaying or suspending cost increases mandated by Federal or state law; Eighth and finally, by reducing the existing service levels of state agencies, institutions and programs.

12. In the event General Expenditure Fund revenue estimate, plus surplus brought forward, for the 1974-75 fiscal year exceeds $916,371,095, such excess is hereby appropriated to the General Contingency Fund which is hereby created, and may be allocated, upon order of the Governor, to state agencies for the following purposes:

- (1) Statutory cost increases not otherwise provided for in this Act;
- (2) Unusual reduction or loss of other funds anticipated in the 1974-76 budget, which loss would cause an undesirable reduction in state program service levels;
- (3) Extraordinary inflationary cost increases which would otherwise cause an undesirable reduction in service levels;
- (4) Unanticipated cost increases in renovation and construction projects provided for in this Act;
- (5) Contingent or provisional projects.

13. In the event General Expenditure Fund revenue estimate, plus surplus brought forward, for the 1975-76 fiscal year exceeds $933,485,645, such excess is hereby appropriated to the General Contingency Fund and may be allocated, upon order of the Governor, to state agencies for the following purposes:

- (1) Statutory cost increases not otherwise provided for in this Act;
 - (2) Unusual reduction or loss of other funds anticipated in the 1974-76 budget which loss would cause an undesirable reduction in state program service levels;
 - (3) Extraordinary inflationary cost increases which would otherwise cause an undesirable reduction in service levels;
 - (4) Unanticipated cost increases in renovation and construction projects provided for in this Act;
 - (5) Contingent or provisional projects.
14. Any adjustments, either increasing or decreasing the appropriation contained in this Act, shall be reported in writing and on a timely basis by the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration to the Joint Interim Committee on Appropriations and Revenue. The Governor and Commissioner shall consult with the committee in regard to such adjustments.
15. No state agency, department, office or program shall incur any obligation against the general fund appropriations contained herein unless such obligation may be reasonably determined to have been contemplated in the Governor's budget proposal and is supported by the work papers and other records pertaining thereto.
16. Any appropriation made herein by the General Expenditure Fund in anticipation of loss or reduction of Federal grants shall lapse to the General Expenditure Fund to the extent such Federal funds otherwise become available.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 304.14-120 is amended to read as follows:

(1) No basic insurance policy or annuity contract form, or application form where written application is required and is to be made a part of the policy or contract, or printed rider or indorsement form or form of renewal certificate, or advertising to be used in conjunction with any of the foregoing shall be delivered, or issued for delivery or, in the case of advertising, for publication in this state, unless the form has been filed with and approved by the commissioner. This provision shall not apply to surety bonds, or to specially rated inland marine risks, or to policies, riders, indorsements or forms of unique character designed for and used with relation to insurance upon a particular subject, or which relate to the manner or distribution of benefits or to the reservation of rights and benefits under life or health insurance policies and are used at the request of the individual policyholder, contract holder, or certificate holder. As to group insurance policies issued and delivered to an association outside this state but covering persons resident in this state, all or substantially all of the premiums for which are payable by the insured members, the group certificates to be delivered or issued for delivery in this state shall be filed with and approved by the commissioner. As to forms for use in property, marine (other than wet marine and transportation insurance), casualty and surety insurance coverages the filing required by this subsection may be made by rating organizations on behalf of its members and subscribers; but this provision shall not be deemed to prohibit any such member or subscriber from filing any such forms on its own behalf.

(2) Every such filing shall be made not less than thirty (30) days in advance of any such delivery. At the expiration of such thirty (30) days the form so filed shall be deemed approved unless prior thereto it has been affirmatively approved or disapproved by order of the commissioner. Approval of any such form by the commissioner shall constitute a waiver of any unexpired portion of such waiting period. The commissioner may extend by not more than an additional thirty-day period within which he may so affirmatively approve or disapprove any such form, by giving notice to the insurer of such extension before expiration of the initial thirty-day period. At the expiration of any such period as so extended, and in the absence of such prior affirmative approval or disapproval, any such form shall be deemed approved. The commissioner may at any time, after notice and for cause shown, withdraw any such approval.

(3) Any order of the commissioner disapproving any such form or any notice of the commissioner withdrawing a previous approval shall state the grounds therefor and the particulars thereof in such detail as reasonably to inform the insurer thereof. Any such withdrawal of a previously approved form shall be effective at expiration of such period, not less than thirty (30) days after the giving of the notice of withdrawal, as the commissioner shall in such notice prescribe.

(4) The commissioner may, by order, exempt from the requirements of this section for so long as he deems proper any insurance document or form or type thereof as specified in such order, to which, in his opinion, this section may not practicably be applied, or the filing and approval of which are, in his opinion, not desirable or necessary for the protection of the public.

(5) Appeals from orders of the commissioner disapproving any such form or withdrawing a previous approval may be taken as provided in subtitle 2.

The Committee on Business Organizations and Professions reported HB 341, HB 480 with Committee Amendment attached thereto, HB 483, HB 648, and SB 100 with Committee Amendment attached thereto, with the expression of opinion that the same should pass. The law relating to bail shall not be applicable to children detained in accordance with KRS 208.010 to 208.540.

(2) When a child is taken into custody by a person other than a peace officer, on a charge of committing a public offense, such person shall as soon as possible place the child in the custody of a peace officer.

(3) When a peace officer has taken or received a child into custody or has issued a traffic ticket, citation or a summons on a charge of committing any motor vehicle offense, alcoholic beverage offense, or other offense not normally under the jurisdiction of juvenile court, or other offense [an offense,] under the provisions of KRS 208.020 (1) (a), (b), or (c) the officer shall immediately notify the parent, or if the parent is not available, then a relative, guardian, or custodian of the child, that the child has been detained, give an account of specific charges against the child, including the specific statute alleged to have been violated, and the reasons for the detention, and state the time and place of the detention hearing. Unless the nature of the offense or other circumstances are such as to indicate the necessity of keeping the child in secure custody, the officer shall release the child to the custody of his parent or other responsible adult upon the written promise, signed by such person, to bring the child to the court at a stated time or at such time as the court may direct. The written promise, accompanied by a written report by the officer, shall be submitted to the court forthwith. If the person fails to produce the child as agreed or upon notice from the court, a petition, warrant, or both may be issued for the apprehension of the person or of the child, or both.

When a child is detained in any way or for any reason, there shall be a hearing held within forty-eight hours, exclusive of Sunday, of the commencement of detention to determine whether or not there is reasonable cause to believe that an offense has been committed and that the detained child committed the offense. The Commonwealth shall bear the burden of proof, and if it shall fail to establish such reasonable cause, the child shall be released and the complaint dismissed. If such reasonable cause is established, the court shall then determine whether or not the circumstances surrounding the child are such as to endanger its safety or welfare or that of the community. The Commonwealth shall bear the burden of proof and it shall be by a preponderance of the evidence. Upon such showing of proof and order of the court, the child shall be detained until such time as the court may withdraw the order for detention or make a speedy disposition in the child's best interest. Unless such a hearing is held and the necessity for detention properly established, the child shall be released to the custody of its parent or other responsible person pending further disposition of the case. A child shall have a right to counsel at any hearing determining its right to freedom pending the disposition of its case, and its parents or other responsible person shall have a right to attend the hearing if such attendance will not unnecessarily delay the hearing. Any person aggrieved by a proceeding under this subsection may proceed by habeas corpus to the circuit court.

(5) Whether the child is released before or after a hearing, or is detained as the result of such a hearing, the child and his parents, relative, guardian, or custodian shall be given written notice of the time and place of the adjudicative hearing concerning the child and an account of the specific charges against the child, including the specific statute alleged to have been violated. Such notice shall be given at least forty-eight hours prior to the initial hearing on the case.

Section 2. KRS 224A.020 is amended to read as follows;

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky finds as a fact that the polluting and befouling of the waters of the state has harmed, and is presently harming and injuring, the state's abundant water resources, and, if unabated, will continue to harm such state water resources, and will endanger the health, safety, welfare and well-being of the general public, and the ability of the Commonwealth of Kentucky to provide essential governmental services for the benefit of the public, and that such situation, if allowed to continue unchecked, will destroy the natural chemical, physical, and biological integrity of the waters of the state. It is hereby found and determined to be essential to the preservation of the natural water resources, economic potential, and general well-being of the Commonwealth that, to the maximum and greatest extent possible, the Commonwealth of Kentucky should and must actively engage in a program of assistance to governmental agencies whereby waste water treatment works may be provided to abate the devastation and destruction to the state's water resources, and the health menace to the general public, caused and occasioned by the pollution of the waters of the state. [The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky further finds as a legislative determination of fact that the abatement of waste water pollution is a national, as well as a state problem, and recognizes that existing federal law providing for grants-in-aid for waste water treatment works provides that in order to obtain the maximum federal grant participation, a state must also furnish such aid, and that without state aid, governmental agencies undertaking construction of waste water treatment works in the Commonwealth of Kentucky must provide a greater proportion of the necessary costs therefor than would otherwise be the case if state aid is furnished, thus imposing greater financial burdens on the citizens of the Commonwealth.]

Section 3. KRS 224A.040 is amended to read as follows:

The authority is specifically authorized, pursuant to the terms, conditions, restrictions and requirements of this chapter to make state grants as funds are available, to any governmental agency to assist said governmental agency to carry out the construction of waste water treatment works which will constitute and be an eligible project. [It is the intent of this chapter that state grants shall be made by the authority to governmental agencies in such manner as to maximize the total amounts of federal grant participation received, or to be received, for all eligible projects instituted by governmental agencies within the Commonwealth of Kentucky.]

Section 4. KRS 224A.080 is amended to read as follows:

All governmental agencies shall have and possess, in addition to all other powers now or hereafter vested in them, the following powers:

- (1) To undertake eligible projects;
- (2) To make application for, and to receive, federal grants in aid of eligible projects in accordance with the provisions of any federal laws now in effect, or in effect in the future;
- (3) To make application for, and to receive, state grants in accordance with the terms and provisions of this chapter;
- (4) To comply with rules, regulations, and bylaws promulgated by the authority with respect to state grants;

- (5) To enter into assistance agreements with the authority;
- (6) To comply with all terms, conditions and requirements of any assistance agreement pursuant to which a state grant is to be received from the authority;
- (7) To covenant with the authority to, and to impose, service charges upon all persons to whom sewer services are provided by the construction of eligible projects. Such service charges shall, as appropriate in the individual cases and circumstances, be in addition to all other rates, rentals, and charges of a similar nature now or hereafter authorized by law and now or hereafter being levied and collected by such governmental agencies. Counties and urban county governments, including counties containing Metropolitan Sewer Districts, shall have the right to covenant with the Authority to pay to the Authority on an annual, automatically renewable basis, such moneys and funds pursuant to an Assistant Agreement as shall enable the Authority to amortize revenue bonds issued to provide eligible projects to such counties and urban county governments, subject to Constitutional provisions;
- (8) To covenant with the authority to mandatorily require the use of sanitary sewers by all persons owning, renting, or occupying premises generating pollution, where sewer service is reasonably available to such premises, and to exhaust all remedies for the collection of service charges, including termination of water service to delinquent sewer customers; and to promptly remit all service charges collected to the authority in accordance with the terms, conditions, and requirements of assistance agreements.

Section 5. KRS 224A.100 is amended to read as follows:

The authority may enter into assistance agreements with governmental agencies, and governmental agencies may enter into assistance agreements with the authority in connection with eligible projects. Each such assistance agreement shall be subject to approval by the State Water Pollution Agency, may contain and include such provisions as may be agreed upon by the parties thereto, and shall include and prescribe the following provisions:

- (1) An estimate of the reasonable cost of the eligible project, as determined by the authority;
- (2) The amount of state grants to be made to the governmental agency;
- (3) The time or times at which such state grants shall become payable to the governmental agency;
- (4) The specific purpose or purposes for which the proceeds of state grants made pursuant to the assistance agreement shall be expended;
- (5) The conditions under which state grants may be expended on account of the eligible project by the governmental agency;
- (6) An agreement by the governmental agency:
 - (a) To proceed expeditiously with and promptly complete the eligible project or cause same to be completed in accordance with plans and specifications approved by federal and state regulatory agencies;
 - (b) To commence or cause to be commenced operation of the eligible project on completion of construction, and not to discontinue operations or dispose of such eligible project without the approval of the authority and the State Water Pollution Agency;
 - (c) To operate and maintain or cause to be operated and maintained the eligible project in accordance with the applicable provisions of federal and state law;
 - (d) To cooperate fully with [secure approval of] the authority and the State Water Pollution Agency before applying for federal assistance for pollution abatement, if any [in order to maximize the amounts of such federal assistance received or to be received for all eligible projects in the Commonwealth of Kentucky;]
 - (e) To provide for the payment of the governmental agency's share of the cost of the eligible project, if the entire eligible project is not financed by a state grant and describe with specificity the manner in which the governmental agency proposes to finance its share of such cost, if any;
- (7) A provision that in the event federal grant assistance which was not included in the calculation of the state grant payable pursuant to subsection (2) of this section becomes available to the governmental agency, the amount of the state grant shall be recalculated with the inclusion of such additional federal assistance, and the governmental agency shall pay to the authority the amount, if any, by which the state grant actually made, exceeds the state grant payment as determined by the recalculation;
- (8) The extent to which the state grant shall be repaid to the authority, which shall not be less than the sum of the following:
 - (a) The aggregate principal amount of the state grant; and
 - (b) Interest on the aggregate balance of the principal amount of the state grant from time to time remaining unpaid, computed at the applicable interest rate, plus not to exceed 1/4 of 1%.
- (9) The time or times and amounts when the repayments required by subsection (8) of this section shall be made by the governmental agency to the authority;
- (10) The extent to which a service charge shall be imposed by the governmental agency. Any such service charge shall be calculated to produce amounts sufficient to meet the repayment schedule prescribed by subsection (8) of this section;
- (11) An agreement between the governmental agency and the authority that upon any failure of the governmental agency to make payment to the authority in accordance with the time schedule and repayment schedule fixed by the assistance agreement of the amounts prescribed by said schedules, that in such event the authority may, without further action, require the State Treasurer to pay to the authority such amount of other state revenues, tax sharing, or other state aid (with the exception of funds in aid to education and funds derived from motor fuel taxes or vehicle license taxes pursuant to Section 230 of the Constitution of Kentucky) as the governmental agency may thereafter become entitled to receive from the state, until all delinquent payments pursuant to the repayment schedule, plus interest thereon, from the date of each delinquency at the rate of six per cent (6%) per annum, shall have been paid.

Section 6. A new section of KRS Chapter 244A is created to read as follows:

The Authority shall be authorized and empowered in connection with the issuance of its revenue bonds and notes for the accomplishment of its public purposes pursuant to this chapter, to establish in respect of such revenue bonds and notes such reserve funds or replacement funds as may be required in the sound discretion of the Board of the Authority in order to enable the Authority to effectuate its proper public purposes, and to issue such revenue bonds and notes in the most advantageous manner. In the event any such reserve fund or replacement fund created by the Authority in connection with any such revenue bond issue or note issue should, in violation of any contract made by the Authority with any bond holder or note holder be monetarily deficient in any respect as of any date of accounting so stipulated by the Authority, the Authority shall immediately make formal request in writing to the Commissioner of the Executive Department for Finance and Administration, and to the Governor of Kentucky, that sums adequate to restore such reserve fund or replacement fund to its contractually required level and to pay any overdue principal and interest on any outstanding revenue bonds and notes of the Authority be included in the next succeeding executive budget, and that such budget request be presented to the General Assembly of Kentucky with recommendation for approval by the General Assembly for payment to the Authority for the use and benefit of such reserve fund or replacement fund. In the event the next regularly scheduled session of the General Assembly of Kentucky shall occur more than six (6) months after any such request by the Authority, the Authority shall request that sums adequate to restore such reserve fund or replacement fund to such contractually required level and to pay any overdue principal and interest on any outstanding bonds and notes of the Authority be made available from the Governor's Contingency Fund, and if such funds are so made available the budget request hereinabove described in this section shall be correspondingly reduced.

WHEREAS, the eternal stars in their silent orbits keep constant vigil, the angels of heaven look down and weep and Almighty God watches over these men, yet mortal man has not raised a hand to recognize, honor, or respect that hallowed spot; and

NOW, THEREFORE,

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, the Senate concurring therein:

Section 1. That the Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky is hereby authorized to appoint a committee to make recommendations to the Chief Executive as to what appropriate and official action should be taken to officially recognize, care for, and preserve that historical site.

SB 86, AN ACT relating to actions against the Commonwealth of Kentucky arising out of its contracts.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 44.270 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Any person, firm or corporation, having entered into a lawfully authorized written contract with the commonwealth after the effective date of this Act, [June 16, 1966,] may bring an action against the commonwealth on a claim for enforcement of contract or on a claim for breach of contract in the Franklin Circuit Court[, provided, however, that all available remedies under any regulation of the contracting agency or under any clauses in the contract shall first be exhausted]. Any such action shall be tried by the court sitting without a jury. All defenses in law or equity, except the defense of governmental immunity, shall be preserved to the commonwealth.

(2) Recovery on a claim for breach of contract shall not exceed an amount equal to the original amount of the contract, exclusive of any additions by means of change order or other adjustment, between the claimant and the commonwealth. Recovery on a claim for enforcement of contract shall not exceed the total amount remaining to be paid under the terms of the original contract between the claimant and the commonwealth, including any additions by change order or other adjustment, so that the total liability of the commonwealth, including any amount necessary to satisfy any claim for enforcement of the contract, is limited by the amount established for the contract.

Section 2. KRS 44.280 is amended to read as follows:

[If a hearing by the contracting agency is held, and a record thereof is made, the final disposition of the claim by the agency may be appealed to the Franklin Circuit Court. On appeal no new evidence may be introduced except as to fraud or misconduct of some person engaged in the hearing before the contracting agency. The court sitting without a jury shall hear the cause upon the record before it, and dispose of the appeal before it in a summary manner, being limited to determining: whether or not the contracting agency acted without or in excess of its powers; the decision was procured by fraud; the decision is not in conformity to law, and whether the findings of fact support the decision of the contracting agency.] The court shall enter its findings as a judgment of the court, and such judgment shall have the same effect and be enforceable as any other judgment of the court in civil cases subject to the provisions of KRS 44.330.

Section 3. KRS 44.300 is amended to read as follows:

Appeals may be taken to the Court of Appeals from Franklin Circuit Court under the same conditions and under the same practice as appeals are taken from judgments in civil causes rendered by circuit courts. [The Court of Appeals shall review only the matters subject to review by Franklin Circuit Court.]

Section 4. KRS 44.310 is amended to read as follows:

[If a contracting agency has provided for hearings or other administrative remedies for resolving claims for enforcement of contracts or for breach of contracts, such claims shall be presented to the agency within one (1) year after they have accrued.] Any such claim shall be commenced in Franklin Circuit Court within one (1) year after the claim accrues [or within ninety (90) days after a final adverse agency decision made pursuant to a regulation or clause in the contract, whichever occurs later].

Section 5. KRS 44.330 is amended to read as follows:

(1) Each agency which has had an award or judgment against it upon a claim filed pursuant to KRS 44.260 to 44.330 shall furnish a certified copy of the award or judgment to the Executive Department for Finance and Administration [of finance]. All awards and judgments not in excess of five hundred thousand dollars against the Bureau of Highways, Department of Transportation, shall be paid out of the state road fund, upon warrants drawn by the Commissioner for Finance and Administration upon the State Treasurer. All awards and judgments not in excess of five hundred thousand dollars against other departments or agencies of the state, which are not maintained by appropriations out of the general fund, shall be paid out of the funds created or collected for the maintenance and operation of such department or agency, upon warrants drawn by the Commissioner for Finance and Administration upon the State Treasurer. All awards and judgments not in excess of five hundred thousand dollars against all other departments and agencies of the state shall be paid out of the general fund, upon warrants drawn by the Commissioner for Finance and Administration upon the State Treasurer.

(2) The Executive Department for Finance and Administration [of finance] shall request an appropriation from the next regular session of the General Assembly for the purpose of satisfying all such awards and judgments during the preceding two fiscal years which are not satisfied under subsection (1) of this section.

Section 6. A new section of Chapter 45 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes is created to read as follows:

Any Kentucky court judgment against the Commonwealth awarding damages up to five hundred thousand dollars for breach of contract or enforcement of contract shall be a necessary governmental expense and payment shall be approved by the Executive Department for Finance and Administration and paid by the State Treasurer. (1) An individual claiming to be aggrieved by an unlawful practice, a member of the commission, or the Attorney General may file with the commission a written sworn complaint stating that an unlawful practice has been committed, setting forth the facts upon which the complaint is based, and setting forth facts sufficient to enable the commission to identify the persons charged (hereinafter the respondent). The commission staff or a person designated pursuant to its rules shall promptly investigate the allegations of unlawful practice set forth in the complaint and shall within five days furnish the respondent with a copy of the complaint. The complaint must be filed within one hundred eighty days after the alleged unlawful practice occurs[, except that a complaint alleging discrimination in real estate transaction must be filed within thirty days, and a complaint alleging discrimination in employment (under KRS 344.030 to 344.110) must be filed within ninety days].

(2) The commission shall determine within thirty days after the complaint has been filed whether there is probable cause to believe the respondent has engaged in an unlawful practice. If it is determined that there is no probable cause to believe that the respondent has engaged in an unlawful practice, the commission shall issue an order dismissing the complaint and shall furnish a copy of the order to the complainant, the respondent, the Attorney General, and such other public officers and persons as the commission deems proper.

(3) The complainant, within ten days after receiving a copy of the order dismissing the complaint, may file with the commission an application for reconsideration of the order. Upon such application, the commission or an individual designated pursuant to its rules shall make a new determination within ten days whether there is probable cause to believe that the respondent has engaged in an unlawful practice. The terms of a conciliation agreement reached with a respondent may require him to refrain from the commission of unlawful discriminatory practices in the future and make such further provisions as may be agreed upon between the commission or its staff and the respondent. If a conciliation agreement is entered into, the commission shall issue and serve on the complainant an order stating its terms. A copy of the order shall be delivered to the respondent, the Attorney General, and such other public officers and persons as the commission deems proper. Except for the terms of the conciliation agreement, neither the commission nor any officer or employee thereof shall make public, without the written consent of the complainant and the respondent, information concerning efforts in a particular case to eliminate an unlawful practice by conference, conciliation, or persuasion whether or not there is a determination of probable cause or a conciliation agreement.

Upon a finding that the terms of the agreement are not being complied with by the respondent, the commission shall take such action as it deems appropriate to assure compliance.

(6) At any time after a complaint is filed, the commission may file an action in the circuit court in a county in which the subject of the complaint occurs, or in a county in which a respondent resides or has his principal place of business, seeking appropriate temporary relief against the respondent, pending final determination of proceedings under KRS 344.160, 344.190 to 344.210, and 344.230 to 344.260, including an order or decree restraining him from doing or procuring any act tending to render ineffectual any order the commission may enter with respect to the complaint. (1) If the commission determines that the respondent has not engaged in an unlawful practice, the commission shall state its findings of fact and conclusions of law and shall issue an order dismissing the complaint. A copy of the order shall be delivered to the complainant, the respondent, the attorney general, and such other public officers and persons as the commission deems proper.

(2) If the commission determines that the respondent has engaged in an unlawful practice, the commission shall state its findings of fact and conclusions of law and shall issue an order requiring the respondent to cease and desist from the unlawful practice and to take such affirmative action as in the judgment of the commission will carry out the purposes of this chapter. A copy of the order shall be delivered to the respondent, the complainant, the attorney general, and to such other public officers and persons as the

This duty extends to the obligation to bargain collectively as set forth in subsection (3) of Section 6 of this Act.

Section 6. A new section of KRS Chapter 337 is created to read as follows:

(1) Employers, their representatives or their agents are prohibited from:

(a) Interfering, restraining or coercing non-profit hospital employees in the exercise of the rights guaranteed in Section 4 of this Act;

(b) Dominating or interfering with the formation, existence or administration of any labor organization.

The

Section 7. A new section of KRS Chapter 337 is created to read as follows:

(1) Whenever in accordance with such regulations and as may be prescribed by the State Labor Relations Board a petition has been filed:

(a) By a non-profit hospital employee or group of non-profit hospital employees or any labor organization acting in behalf of 30 percent of the employees who have signed union affiliation cards and the union showing proof of representation.

i. Wish to be represented for collective bargaining by a labor organization as exclusive representative, or

(b) By the employer alleging that one or more labor organizations has presented to it a claim to be recognized as a representative of the majority of non-profit hospital employees in an appropriate unit; the board shall investigate such petition, and if it has reasonable cause to believe that a question of representation exists, shall provide for an appropriate hearing upon due notice. If the board finds that there is a question of representation, it shall direct an election by secret ballot to determine whether or by which labor organization the non-profit hospital employees desire to be represented and shall certify the result thereof.

(2) The board shall decide in each case, in order to assure non-profit hospital employees the fullest freedom in exercising the rights guaranteed by this Act, the unit appropriate for the purposes of collective bargaining, based on such factors as community of interest, wages, hours, and other working conditions of the non-profit hospital employees involved, the history of collective bargaining, and the desires of non-profit hospital employees.

(3) An election shall not be directed in any bargaining unit or in any subdivision thereof within which the preceding twelve-month period a valid election has been held. The board shall determine who is eligible to vote in the election and shall establish rules governing the election. In any election where none of the choices on the ballot receives a majority, a runoff shall be conducted, the ballot providing for the selection between the two choices receiving the largest and the second largest number of valid votes cast in the election. A labor organization which receives the majority of the votes cast in an election shall be certified by the board as exclusive representative of all the non-profit hospital employees in the unit.

(4) Nothing in this or any other Act shall be construed to prohibit recognition of a labor organization as the exclusive representative by an employer by mutual consent.

(5) No election shall be directed by the board in any bargaining unit where there is in force and effect a valid collective bargaining agreement. Provided, however, no collective bargaining agreement shall bar an election upon the petition of persons not parties thereto where more than three years have elapsed since the execution of the agreement or the last timely renewal, whichever was later.

Section 8. A new section of KRS Chapter 337 is created to read as follows:

Violations of the provisions of Section 6 of this Act shall be deemed to be unfair labor practices remedial by the board in the following manner:

(1) Whenever it is charged by an employer or a labor organization that any person has engaged in or is engaging in any such unfair labor practices, the board, or any agent designated by the board for such purposes, shall issue and cause to be served upon the person a copy of the charges and a notice of hearing before the board of a member thereof, or before a designated agent, at a place there fixed, not less than five days after serving of the copy of the charges by the board. Any charge may be amended by the charging party, at any time prior to the issuance of an order based thereon, provided that the charged party is not unfairly prejudiced thereby. The person upon whom the charge is served may file an answer to the charge. The charging party and the person charged shall appear in person or otherwise and give testimony at the place and time fixed in the notice of hearing. (In the discretion of the member or agent conducting the hearing or the board,) any other person may be allowed to intervene in the proceeding and to present testimony. In any hearing the board shall not be bound by the rules of evidence prevailing in the courts.

(2) The testimony taken by the member, agent or the board shall be reduced to writing and filed with the board. Thereafter the board upon notice may take further testimony or hear argument. If upon the preponderance of the testimony taken the board is of the opinion that any person named in the charge has engaged in or is engaging in an unfair labor practice, then it shall state its findings of fact and shall issue and cause to be served on the person an order requiring him to cease and desist from the unfair labor practice, and to take such affirmative action including reinstatement of non-profit hospital employees with or without back pay, as will effectuate the policies of this Act. The order may further require the person to make reports from time to time showing the extent to which he has complied with the order. If upon the preponderance of the testimony taken the board is not of the opinion that the person named in the charge has engaged in or is engaging in the unfair labor practice, then the board shall state its finding of fact and shall issue an order dismissing the complaint. No order shall issue based upon any unfair labor practice occurring more than six months prior to the filing of the charge with the board, unless the person aggrieved thereby was prevented from filing the charge by reason of service in the armed forces, in which event, the six-month period shall be computed from the day of his discharge. No order of the board shall require the reinstatement of any individual as a non-profit hospital employee who has been suspended or discharged, or the payment to him of any back pay, if the individual was suspended or discharged for cause.

(3) Until the record in a case has been filed in court, the board at any time, upon reasonable notice and in such manner as it deems proper, may modify or set aside, in whole or in part, any finding or order made or issued by it.

(4) The board or the charging party may petition for the enforcement of the order and for appropriate temporary relief or restraining order, and shall file in the circuit court for the county in which the violation occurred, the record in the proceedings. Upon the filing of the petition, the circuit court shall cause notice thereof to be served upon the charged party, and thereupon shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and shall grant such temporary or permanent relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper, enforcing modifying, enforcing as so modified, or setting aside in whole or in part the order of the board. No objection that has not been urged before the board, its member or agent, shall be considered by the court, unless the failure or neglect to urge the objection is excused because of extraordinary circumstances. The findings of the board with respect to questions of fact if supported by substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive. If either party applies to the circuit court for leave to present additional evidence and shows to the satisfaction of the circuit court that the additional evidence is material and that there were reasonable grounds for the failure to present it in the hearing before the board, its member or agent, the court may order the additional evidence to be taken before the board, its member or agent, and to be made a part of the record. The board may modify its findings as to the facts, or make new findings, by reason of additional evidence so taken and filed, and it shall file the modifying or new findings, which findings with respect to questions of fact if supported by substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive, and shall file its recommendations, if any, for the modification or setting aside of its original order. Upon the filing of the record (with it) the jurisdiction of the court shall be exclusive and its judgment and decree shall be final, except that the same shall be subject to review by the Court of Appeals in accordance with the general court rules.

(5) Any person aggrieved by a final order of the board granting or denying in whole or in part the relief sought may obtain a review of such order in the court by filing in the circuit court a complaint praying that the order of the board be modified or set aside, with copy of the complaint filed on the board, and thereupon the aggrieved party shall file in the court the record in the proceeding, certified by the board. Upon the filing of the complaint, the court shall proceed in the same manner as under subsection (4), and shall grant to the board such temporary relief or restraining order as it deems just and proper, enforcing modifying, enforcing as so modified, or setting aside in whole or in part the order of the board. The findings of the board with respect to questions of fact if supported by substantial evidence on the record considered as a whole shall be conclusive.

(6) The commencement of proceedings under subsections (4) and (5) shall not, unless specifically ordered by the court, operate as a stay of the board's order.

(7) Complaints filed under this Act shall be heard expeditiously by the court to which presented, and shall take precedence over all other civil matters except earlier matters of the same character.

Section 9. A new section of KRS Chapter 337 is created to read as follows:

(1) If after a reasonable period, but in no event less than thirty days, of negotiations over the terms of a new collective bargaining agreement or modifications in an existing agreement the parties to the negotiations are deadlocked, either party or the parties jointly may petition the board by certified mail, to initiate fact finding.

(2) Upon receipt of a petition to initiate fact finding, the commissioner shall cause an investigation to determine whether or not the parties are deadlocked in their negotiations. During the course of this investigation, the commissioner is empowered to utilize his office in an effort to effectuate a settlement between the parties through mediation and conciliation.

(3) Upon completion of the commissioner's investigation, and if a settlement between the parties has still not been reached, the commissioner shall within five days appoint a qualified and disinterested person as the impartial chairman of a three-man panel to function as the fact finders. In addition to the impartial chairman, the other two members of the panel shall be one member named by the labor organization and one by the employer, parties to the deadlocked negotiations.

(4) Upon consultation with the other members of the panel, the impartial chairman shall establish dates and places for public hearings. Whenever feasible, public hearings shall be held within the jurisdiction in which the employer is located. The panel may subpoena witnesses, and a written transcript of the hearing shall be made. Upon completion of the hearings the panel shall, by majority decision, make written findings of fact and recommendations for solution of the dispute. The panel shall cause all of its written findings, recommendations and opinions to be served on the employer and labor organization (parties) and same shall be released to the public. Expenses incurred by the three-man panel in Section 9, subsections (1), (2), (3), (4), (5), (6) shall be paid by the parties involved in the labor dispute.

(5) The commissioner may adopt, promulgate, amend and rescind such rules and regulations as he deems necessary and administratively feasible not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act to carry out his responsibilities over the fact-finding procedures set forth in this section. However, unless the parties agree to extend the time for the hearings, they must be completed with recommendations from the fact-finding panel, within 120 days from the date the petition to initiate the fact-finding procedure was received by the commissioner.

Section 10. A new section of KRS Chapter 337 is created to read as follows:

Except as hereinafter provided, when a labor organization has been designated in accordance with the provisions hereof as the exclusive representative of non-profit hospital employees in an appropriate unit, the chief executive officer of the employer or his designated authorized representative or authorized representatives, shall represent the employer in collective bargaining with such employee organization.

Section 11. A new section of KRS Chapter 337 is created to read as follows:

(1) Any agreement reached by the negotiators shall be reduced to writing and shall be executed by both parties.

(2) An agreement between the employer and a labor organization shall be valid and enforced under its terms when entered into in accordance with the provisions of this Act and signed by the chief executive officer of the employer or his representative. No publication thereof shall be required to make it effective. The procedure for the making of an agreement between an employer and a labor organization provided by this Act shall be the exclusive method of making a valid agreement for non-profit hospital employees represented by a labor organization.

(3) Suits for violation of agreements between an employer and a labor organization representing non-profit hospital employees may be brought by the parties to such agreement in the circuit court of the county of the employer.

Section 12. A new section of KRS Chapter 337 is created to read as follows:

Upon the written authorization of any non-profit hospital employee within a bargaining unit, the employer shall deduct from the payroll of the non-profit hospital employee the monthly amount of dues as certified by the secretary of the exclusive bargaining representative and shall deliver the same to the treasurer of the exclusive bargaining representative.

HB 622, AN ACT relating to workmen's compensation.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 342.120 is amended to read as follows:

(1) A claimant may in the original application for benefits, or either party may by motion while the case is pending, accompanied by proper allegations, and the board shall upon its own motion at any time before the rendition of the final award, cause the Special Fund to be made a party to the proceedings if either or both of the following appears:

(a) The employee is disabled, whether from a compensable injury, occupational disease, pre-existing disease, or otherwise, and has received a subsequent compensable injury by accident, or has developed an occupational disease;

(b) The employee is found to have a dormant non-disabling disease or condition which was aroused or brought into disabling reality by reason of a subsequent compensable injury by accident or an occupational disease.

(2) When the Special Fund has been made a party the board shall direct the procedures provided in KRS 342.121, and when either the special fund or the office of the Attorney General has been made a party the board shall, before taking any further action in the case, furnish a certified copy of the complete record in the case with all exhibits, to and including the date the special fund or the office of the Attorney General was made a party, to the commissioner if the special fund is made a party and to the Attorney General if his office is made a party.

(3) If it is found that the employee is a person mentioned in paragraphs (a) or (b) of subsection (1) and a subsequent compensable injury or occupational disease has resulted in additional permanent disability so that the degree of disability caused by the combined disabilities is greater than that which would have resulted from the subsequent injury or occupational disease alone, and the employee is entitled to receive compensation on the basis of the combined disabilities, the employer shall be liable only for the degree of disability which would have resulted from the latter injury or occupational disease had there been no pre-existing disability or dormant, but aroused disease or condition.

(4) The remaining compensation for which such resulting condition would entitle the employee, including any compensation for disability resulting from a dormant disease or condition aroused into disabling reality by the injury or occupational disease, but excluding all compensation which the provisions of this chapter would have afforded on account of prior disabling disease or injury had it been compensated thereunder, shall be paid out of the Special Fund provided for in KRS 342.122. Such remaining compensation shall be paid directly to the employee by the carrier or self-insured employer who is liable for compensation under subsection (3) of this section, and the carrier or self-insured employer shall be reimbursed for such payments from the Special Fund on a quarterly basis and under such regulations as the commissioner [board] may provide for such purpose.

Section 2. KRS 342.122 is amended to read as follows:

(1) "Adjusted cost" as used in this section and in KRS 342.475 means all compensation, hospital and medical benefits paid thereunder, plus an additional factor of twelve percent of such total payments, to cover the administrative cost of the employer. However in no event shall "adjusted cost" be less than fifty percent of the basic insurance premium computed by applying current manual rates for workmen's compensation insurance to the payroll of every employer carrying his own risk and for this purpose each such employer shall annually furnish payroll data to the commissioner [Workmen's Compensation Board]. "Adjusted cost" shall not include amounts paid for injuries occurring prior to March 22, 1962.

(2) In addition to the taxes and assessments imposed by KRS 342.450 and 342.475, a Special Fund tax at the rate of three-fourths of one percent of the amount of premiums received shall be paid by every insurance carrier as defined in KRS 342.445, subject to the credits therein set out, and the commissioner [board] shall assess against the "adjusted cost" of every employer carrying his own risk a Special Fund Tax computed by taking three-fourths of one percent of the "adjusted cost" determined as provided in KRS 342.475. The provisions of KRS 342.450, 342.455, 342.460, 342.465 and 342.470 shall, so far as applicable, also apply to the levy and collection of such additional tax of three-fourths of one percent of such premiums of insurance carriers.

(3) All taxes and assessments imposed by subsection (2) of this section shall be paid into the State Treasury and shall be credited to the Special Fund for the commissioner [board], which fund shall be used only for the payment of awards of compensation made by the board and chargeable against said fund, expenses of legal representation thereof, fees and expenses of the physicians in connection therewith, and shall be withdrawn for that purpose by [under the supervision of] the Commissioner of Labor who shall direct the administrative and fiscal operations of the special fund and, any other statute to the contrary notwithstanding, the board shall have no control over the administrative or fiscal operations of the special fund after the effective date of this Act.

(4) Any sum remaining in the Special Fund at the end of any fiscal year shall be set up by the Executive Department for Finance and Administration [Department of Finance] to the credit of such fund for the next ensuing fiscal year.

(5) If the Commissioner of Labor finds that the Special Fund tax levied pursuant to this section is insufficient to pay such claims awarded under the Special Fund provisions, then he may levy additional assessments against all insurance companies writing workmen's compensation insurance in Kentucky, including every employer carrying his own risk. The amount of each insurance company's assessment shall be in the proportion that each company's annual workmen's compensation premium writings in Kentucky bears to the total of all annual workmen's compensation premiums written in Kentucky. Such assessment will be based upon information contained in the insurance company's last filed annual statement with the Department of Insurance. Such assessments against every employer carrying his own risk will be based upon that proportion which the "adjusted cost" of all such own risk carriers. "Adjusted cost" reports filed with the board in accordance with KRS 342.475 will be the basis of such determination. Such additional assessment against insurance companies and employers carrying their own risk shall be apportioned between the two classes as the total of premiums and the total of "adjusted cost" each bears to the combined total.

(6) The fund heretofore designated as the Subsequent Claim Fund is abolished and there is substituted therefor the Special Fund as herein set out and all monies and properties owned by the Subsequent Claim Fund are transferred to the Special Fund.

(5) If such recommendations and directives are not acted upon within a reasonable time, as prescribed, the Commissioner shall maintain mandatory or prohibitory injunction proceedings in the appropriate circuit court to effect compliance with the Commissioner's directive on such nuisances, hazards and unsafe conditions which have been determined to be harmful to the health and public safety of the community in which it is located.

SB 114, AN ACT relating to workmen's compensation.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS 342.316 is amended to read as follows:

(1) (a) The employer liable for compensation for occupational disease shall be the employer in whose employment the employe was last exposed to the hazard of the occupational disease during any period in which this section is applicable to a coal mine, an operator who acquired it or substantially all of its assets from a person who was its operator on and after January 1, 1973 shall be liable for, and secure the payment of, the benefits which would have been payable by the prior operator under this section with respect to miners previously employed in the mine if it had not been acquired by such later operator. At the same time, however, this subsection does not relieve the prior operator of any liability under this section. Also, it does not affect whatever rights the later operator might have against the prior operator. Said employer shall have the right to contribution from each previous employer, as determined in an independent civil action, wherein the employe was similarly exposed to the hazard of said occupational disease, in a sum equal to the ratio that each exposure employment time bears to the total exposure employment time except as otherwise provided in paragraph (a) of subsection (13) of this section.

(b) The time of the beginning of compensation payments shall be the date of the employe's last injurious exposure to the cause of the disease, or the date of actual disability, whichever is later.

(2) (a) The procedure with respect to the giving of notice and determination of claims in occupational disease cases and the compensation and medical benefits payable for disability or death due to such disease shall be the same as in cases of accidental injury or death under the general provisions of this chapter except that notice of claim shall be given to the employer as soon as practicable after the employe first experiences a distinct manifestation of an occupational disease in the form of symptoms reasonably sufficient to apprise him that he has contracted such disease, or a diagnosis of such disease is first communicated to him, whichever shall first occur.

(b) The procedure with respect to filing of claims shall be as follows:

1. The application shall set forth the work history of the applicant with a concise description of injurious exposure to a specific occupational disease together with the names and addresses of employer or employers with the approximate date of employment and shall also include with the application two written medical reports supporting his claim. These medical reports shall be made on the basis of comprehensive clinical examinations and shall contain full and complete statements of the results thereof. The reports shall be made by duly licensed physicians. The clinical examinations shall include x-ray examinations. However, the failure of an x-ray examination to disclose the presence of an occupational disease shall not affect the legal presumption referred to in subsection (5) of this section.

2. The filing of a properly executed application for adjustment of claim, accompanied by the two medical reports described in subparagraph 1. of this paragraph, shall satisfy the requirements of the presumptive clause set out in subsection (5) of this section and the burden of proof shall immediately thereafter shift to the employer and the Special Fund.

3. Immediately upon receipt of said application for adjustment of claim, the board shall notify the affected employer, the Special Fund and any other interested party of such claim and shall furnish them with a full and complete copy of the claim.

4. Upon receipt of notice of claim the employer, the Special Fund, and any other interested party shall have the right [as provided under KRS 342.021] to have the claimant examined by competent medical experts, at their expense, including a reasonable sum for travel. After said examination, the claimant or his representative, shall be furnished a copy of said medical report within a reasonable time.

5. Within sixty (60) days of the filing of the claim the employer, the Special Fund, and any other interested party shall notify the board and the claimant whether or not the claim will be resisted. If the claim is not resisted, then the board shall within ten days enter an order and award for the claimant. If the claim is resisted, the board shall set a date for a hearing and shall notify all parties thereof. In litigated claims the regular procedures prescribed by the Workmen's Compensation Board shall be followed.

(3) The right to compensation under this chapter for disability resulting from an occupational disease shall be forever barred unless a claim is filed with the Workmen's Compensation Board within three years after the last injurious exposure to the occupational hazard or after the employe first experiences a distinct manifestation of an occupational disease in the form of symptoms reasonably sufficient to apprise him that he has contracted the disease, whichever shall last occur; and if death results from the occupational disease within said period, unless a claim therefor be filed with the Workmen's Compensation Board within three years after such death; provided, however, that notice of such claim shall be deemed waived in case of disability or death where the employer, or his insurance carrier, voluntarily makes payment therefor, or, if the incurrence of the disease or the death of the employe, and its cause was known to the employer. Provided, however, that the right to compensation for any occupational disease shall be forever barred unless a claim is filed with the Workmen's Compensation Board within five years from the last injurious exposure to the occupational hazard, except that, in cases of radiation disease, a claim must be filed within 20 years from the last injurious exposure to the occupational hazard.

(4) The amount of compensation payable for disability due to occupational disease or for death from such disease, and the time and manner of its payment, shall be the same as provided for accidental injury or death under the general provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act, but in no event to exceed such amounts as were in effect at the time of the last injurious exposure, and provided further, that the time of the beginning of compensation payments shall be the date of the employe's last injurious exposure to the cause of the disease, or the date of actual disability, whichever is later, and provided further, that in case of death where the employe has been awarded compensation or made timely claim within the period provided for in this section, an employe has suffered continuous disability to the date of his death occurring at any time within 20 years from the date of disability, his dependents, if any, shall be awarded compensation for his death as provided for under the general provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act and in this section.

(5) Where the occupational disease is a compensable pneumoconiosis and there has been employment exposure for 10 years or more to an industrial hazard sufficient to cause the disability of pneumoconiosis there shall be a rebuttable presumption that the disability or death was due to the compensable pneumoconiosis.

(6) Where the employe is suffering or suffered from a chronic dust disease of the lung which (a) when diagnosed by chest roentgenogram, yields one or more large opacities (greater than one centimeter in diameter) and would be classified in category A, B, or C in the International Classification of Radiographs of the Pneumoconioses by the International Labor Organization, (B) when diagnosed by biopsy or autopsy, yields massive lesions in the lung, or (c) when diagnosis is made by other means, would be a condition which could reasonably be expected to yield results described in paragraph (a) or (b) if diagnosis had been made in the manner prescribed in paragraph (a) or (b), then there shall be an irrebuttable presumption that he is totally disabled due to pneumoconiosis or that his death was due to pneumoconiosis, as the case may be.

(7) In case of disability or death from silicosis, coal workers' pneumoconiosis, or any other compensable pneumoconiosis, complicated with tuberculosis of the lungs, pulmonary emphysema or other pulmonary dysfunction and there has been employment exposures to harmful dust or industrial hazards reasonably competent to produce such accompanying disease or dysfunction, there is a rebuttable legal presumption that all resultant disability therefrom is work related and compensable, and compensation shall be payable as for the uncomplicated disease, provided, however, that the disease or dysfunction was an essential factor in causing such disability or death.

(8) If an autopsy has been performed, no testimony relative thereto shall be competent unless the employer or his representative has available findings and reports of the pathologist or doctor who performed the autopsy examination.

(9) No compensation shall be payable for occupational disease if the employe at the time of entering the employment of the employer by whom compensation would otherwise be payable, falsely represented himself, in writing, as not having been previously disabled, laid off, or compensated in damages or otherwise, because of such disease, or failed or omitted truthfully to state to the best of his knowledge, in answer to written inquiry made by the employer, the place, duration and nature of previous employment, or, to the best of his knowledge, the previous state of his health.

(10) No compensation for death from occupational disease shall be payable to any person whose relationship to the deceased, which, under the provisions of this chapter would give right to compensation, arose, subsequent to the beginning of the first compensable disability, save only to after-born children of a marriage existing at the beginning of such disability.

(11) Whenever any claimant misconceives his remedy and files an application for adjustment of claim under the general provisions of this chapter and it is subsequently discovered, at any time before the final disposition of such cause, that the claim for injury, disability or death which was the basis for such application should properly have been made under the provisions of this section, then the application so filed may be amended in form or substance, or both, to assert a claim for such injury, disability or death under the provisions of this section, and it shall be deemed to have been so filed as amended on the date of the original filing thereof, and such compensation may be awarded as is warranted by the whole evidence pursuant to the provisions of this chapter. When such amendment is submitted, further or additional evidence may be heard by the board when deemed necessary. Nothing this section contains shall be construed to be or permit a waiver of any of the provisions of this chapter with reference to notice of time for filing of a claim, but notice of filing a claim, if given or done, shall be deemed to be a notice of filing of a claim under provisions of this chapter, if given or done within the time required herein.

(12) When an employe has an occupational disease that is covered by this chapter, the employer in whose employment he was last injuriously exposed to the hazard of the disease, and the employer's insurance carrier, if any, at the time of the exposure, shall alone be liable therefor, without right to contribution from any prior employer or insurance carrier; except as otherwise provided herein.

(13) (a) The employer liable for compensation for occupational diseases, other than silicosis or any other compensable pneumoconiosis, which developed to the point of disablement only after an exposure of five or more years, or for silicosis and any other compensable pneumoconiosis, shall be the employer in whose employment the employe was last exposed to the hazard of such occupational disease. In those cases where disability or death are not conclusively proven to be the result of such last exposure all compensation shall be paid out of the Special Fund for all claims filed prior to January 1, 1973; and 75 percent shall be paid by the Special Fund and 25 percent by the employer for all claims filed thereafter. In all other cases of occupational diseases, other than silicosis or any other compensable pneumoconiosis, which developed to the point of disablement only after an exposure of five or more years, or for silicosis and any other compensable pneumoconiosis, the compensation for disability or death due to such diseases shall be paid jointly by the employer and the Special Fund, and the employer shall be liable for sixty percent of the compensation due and the Special Fund shall be liable for forty percent of the compensation due. Provided, however, that when there is a joint award against the carrier or self-insured employer and the Special Fund under this section, all of the compensation awarded shall be paid from the Special Fund and the Special Fund shall be reimbursed by the carrier or self-insured employer on a quarterly basis and under such regulations as the Board may provide for such purpose [by the carrier or self-insured employer, and the carrier or self-insured employer shall be reimbursed for such payments from the Special Fund on a quarterly basis and under such regulations as the board may provide for such purpose].

(b) In all claims for compensation partially payable by the Special Fund the Commissioner of Labor, as custodian of said fund, shall be designated as co-defendant.

(c) In all agreements for the payment of compensation and awards the amount payable by the employer and the amount payable out of the Special Fund shall be separately stated. An award against the employer shall be for only the percentage of the total compensation which the employer is obligated to pay. A separate award shall be made against the Special Fund for the balance of the compensation payable. Nothing in this section shall prohibit the Commissioner of Labor, as custodian of the Special Fund, from entering into agreements to pay the compensation for which it is liable; provided, however, that where compensation is payable by both the employer and the Special Fund, the commissioner shall not enter into an agreement unless the employer is a party to the agreement.

Section 2. KRS 342.320 is amended to read as follows:

(1) All fees of attorneys and physicians, and all charges of hospitals under this chapter, shall be subject to the approval of the board. No attorney fees shall be allowed or approved against any party not represented by said attorney, nor shall any attorney fee be allowed or approved exceeding an amount equal to 20 per cent of the first $25,000.00, 15 percent of the next $10,000.00 and 5 percent of the remainder of the amount recovered as actuarially determined on past and future benefits according to the American Experience Table of Mortality and the Remarriage Tables of the Dutch Royal Insurance Institute. In no case shall the fee exceed $7,500.00. Provided, however, the board, in making an allowance of attorney fees, shall in each case examine the record to ascertain the extent of the services rendered, and fix a reasonable fee for the services rendered, not to exceed the maximum authorized by this section. The board may reduce the attorney's fee to an amount commensurate with the services performed, or may deny or reduce an attorney's fee upon proof of solicitation of employment. Any award made to a claimant in a nonresisted claim as established under the provisions of KRS 342.316 (2) (b) paragraph 5 shall result in an award of an attorney fee not exceeding $750.00.

(2) No attorney's fee in any case involving benefits under this chapter shall be paid until the fee is approved by the board, and any contract for the payment of attorney's fees otherwise than as provided in this section shall be void. The entire attorney's fee in a lump sum shall be paid directly to the attorney of record, and the board in allowing or approving an attorney's fee, as provided in this section, shall order the payment of same directly to the attorney, commuting sufficient of the final payments of compensation payable under the award to a lump sum for that purpose.

(3) The General Assembly declares that by the enactment of subsections (2) (b) and (7) of KRS 342.316, it is the legislative intent to encourage settlement and prompt administrative handling of such claims and thereby reduce expenses to claimants for compensation under the provisions of KRS 342.316, and the board shall give due regard to such legislative intent in the handling of uncontested claims and the allowance of attorney's fees therein.

(4) The board shall approve any contract between attorney and client if the limits on fees enumerated below are followed.

(a) When the claim is uncontested under the provisions of KRS 342.316 (2) (b), paragraph (5), the attorney fee shall not exceed an amount equal to $750.00.

(b) When the claim is contested, the fee of the attorney through the Circuit Court shall not exceed a sum equal to 20 percent of the amount recovered, or $5000.00, whichever is less.

(c) When an order or award is appealed to the Court of Appeals, the attorney fee shall not exceed 20 percent of the amount recovered, or $6000.00, whichever is less.

(5) The attorney's right to his fee shall become vested as of the entry of the award.

Report of Committees

HB 232, AN ACT relating to the Kentucky Penal Code.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS Chapter 500 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:
This Act shall be known as the Kentucky Penal Code.

Section 2. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) Common law offenses are abolished and no act or omission shall constitute a criminal offense unless designated a crime or violation under this code or another statute of this state.

(2) This provision shall not affect the power of a court to punish for contempt or to employ any sanction authorized by law for the enforcement of an order or a civil judgment or decree.

Section 3. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

All provisions of this code shall be liberally construed according to the fair import of their terms, to promote justice, and to effect the objects of the law.

Section 4. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) The provisions of this code shall not apply to any offense committed prior to its effective date, notwithstanding the provisions of KRS 446.110. Such an offense must be construed and punished according to the provisions of law existing at the time of the commission thereof in the same manner as if this code had not been enacted.

(2) This code shall not bar, suspend or otherwise affect any right or liability to damages, penalty, forfeiture or other remedy authorized by law to be recovered or enforced in a civil action.

(3) For purposes of this section, an offense shall be deemed to have been committed prior to the effective date of this code if any element of the offense occurred prior thereto.

Section 5. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise expressly provided, the prosecution of a felony is not subject to a period of limitation and may be commenced at any time.

(2) Except as otherwise expressly provided, the prosecution of an offense other than a felony must be commenced within one year after it is committed.

(3) For purposes of this section, an offense is committed either when every element occurs, or if a legislative purpose to prohibit a continuing course of conduct plainly appears, at the time when the course of conduct or the defendant's complicity therein is terminated.

Section 6. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, a person may be convicted under the law of this state of an offense committed by his own conduct or the conduct of another for which he is legally accountable when:

(a) Either the conduct or the result which is an element of the offense occurs within this state; or

(b) Conduct occurring outside the state is sufficient to constitute an attempt to commit an offense within the state; or

(c) Conduct occurring outside the state is sufficient to constitute a conspiracy to commit an offense within the state and an overt act in furtherance of the conspiracy occurs within the state; or

(d) Conduct occurring within this state establishes complicity in the commission of, or an attempt, solicitation or conspiracy to commit, an offense in another jurisdiction which is also an offense under the law of this state; or

(e) The offense consists of the omission to perform a legal duty imposed by the law of this state regardless of where that person is when the omission occurs; or

(f) The offense is a violation of a statute of this state that expressly prohibits conduct outside the state.

(2) Subsection (1)(a) does not apply if causing a particular result is an element of an offense and the result is caused by conduct occurring outside the state that would not constitute an offense if the result had occurred there, unless the actor intentionally or knowingly caused the result within the state.

(3) When the offense is homicide, either the death of the victim or the bodily impact causing death constitutes a "result" within the meaning of subsection (1) (a). If the body of a homicide victim is found within this state, it shall be prima facie evidence that the result occurred within the state.

Section 7. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) The Commonwealth has the burden of proving every element of the case beyond a reasonable doubt, except as provided in subsection (3). This provision, however, does not require disproof of any element that is entitled a "defense," as that term is used in this code, unless the evidence tending to support the defense is of such probative force that in the absence of countervailing evidence the defendant would be entitled to a directed verdict of acquittal.

(2) No court can require notice of a defense prior to trial time.

(3) The defendant has the burden of proving an element of a case only if the statute which contains that element provides that the defendant may prove such element in exculpation of his conduct.

Section 8. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

As used in the Kentucky Penal Code, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Actor" means any natural person and, where relevant, a corporation or an unincorporated association.

(2) "Crime" means a misdemeanor or a felony.

(3) "Dangerous instrument" means any instrument, article, or substance which, under the circumstances in which it is used, attempted to be used, or threatened to be used, is readily capable of causing death or serious physical injury.

(4) "Deadly weapon" means any weapon from which a shot, readily capable of producing death or other serious physical injury, may be discharged, or a switchblade knife, gravity knife, billy, blackjack, or metal knuckles.

(5) "Felony" means an offense for which a sentence to a term of imprisonment of at least one year in the custody of the Department of Corrections may be imposed.

Section 9. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) All property which is subject to forfeiture under any section of the Kentucky Penal Code shall be disposed of in accordance with this section.

(a) Property which is forfeited under any section of this code may, upon order of the trial court, be destroyed by the sheriff of the county in which the conviction was obtained.

(b) Property which is forfeited under any section of this code may, upon order of the trial court, be sold at public auction. The expenses of keeping and selling such property and the amount of all valid recorded liens that are established by intervention as being bona fide shall be paid out of the proceeds of the sale. The balance shall be paid to the General Fund of:

(i) The state, if the trial is held in circuit court;

(ii) The county, if the trial is held in county or quarterly court;

(iii) The city, if the trial is held in police or municipal court;

(iv) The metropolitan government, if the trial is held in the court of such jurisdiction.

(c) If property which is forfeited under any section of this code is determined by the trial court to be worthless, encumbered with liens in excess of its value, or otherwise a burdensome asset, the court may abandon any interest in such property. Property which is abandoned pursuant to this section shall be returned to the lawful claimant upon payment of expenses for keeping the property.

(d) Property which is forfeited under any section of this code may, upon order of the trial court, be retained for official state use. The expenses for keeping and transferring such property shall be paid by the state.

(2) Money which has been obtained or conferred in violation of any section of this code shall, upon conviction, be forfeited for the use of:

(i) The state, if the trial is held in circuit court;

(ii) The county, if the trial is held in county or quarterly court;

(iii) The city, if the trial is held in police or municipal court;

(iv) The metropolitan government, if the trial is held in the court of such jurisdiction. This subsection shall not apply when, during the course of the proceeding in which the conviction is obtained, the person from whom said money was unlawfully acquired is identified.

(3) Property forfeited under any section of this code shall be disposed of in accordance with this section only after being advertised pursuant to KRS Chapter 424. This subsection shall not apply to property which is designed and suitable only for criminal use or to money forfeited under subsection (2) of this section;

(4) The trial court shall remit the forfeiture of property when the lawful claimant:

(a) Asserts his claim before disposition of the property pursuant to this section;

(b) Establishes his legal interest in the property; and

(c) Establishes that the unlawful use of the property was without his knowledge and consent.

Subsection (4) shall not apply to a lienholder of record when the trial court elects to dispose of the property pursuant to subsection (1)(b) of this section.

(5) For purposes of this section, "lawful claimant" means owner or lienholder of record.

(6) Before forfeiture of any property under this section it shall be the duty of the trial court to determine if a lawful owner or claimant to the property has been identified or is identifiable. If a lawful owner or claimant has been identified or is identifiable the court shall notify the owner or claimant that the property is being held and specify a reasonable period of time during which the claim may be made, or may, in lieu thereof, order the return of the property to the lawful owner or claimant. If the lawful owner or claimant does not assert his claim to the property after notification or if he renounces his claim to the property, the property shall be disposed of as provided in this section. It shall be the duty of all peace officers and other public officers or officials having knowledge of the lawful owner or claimant of property subject to forfeiture to report the same to the trial court before the act of forfeiture occurs.

Section 10. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

The Commentary accompanying this code may be used as an aid in construing the provisions of this code.

Section 11. KRS Chapter 501 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

The following definitions apply in this chapter:

(1) "Culpable mental state" means "intentionally" or "knowingly" or "wantonly" or "recklessly," as these terms are defined in section 12 of this Act.

(2) "Intoxication" means a disturbance of mental or physical capacities resulting from the introduction of substances into the body.

(3) "Voluntary act" means a bodily movement performed consciously as a result of effort or determination and includes the possession of property if the actor was aware of his physical possession or control thereof for a sufficient period to have been able to terminate it.

(4) "Voluntary intoxication" means intoxication caused by substances which the defendant knowingly introduces into his body, the tendency of which to cause intoxication he knows or ought to know, unless he introduces them pursuant to medical advice or under such duress as would afford a defense to a charge of crime.

Section 12. A new section of Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

The following definitions apply in the Kentucky Penal Code:

(1) "Intentionally" - A person acts intentionally with respect to a result or to conduct described by a statute defining an offense when his conscious objective is to cause that result or to engage in that conduct.

(2) "Knowingly" - A person acts knowingly with respect to conduct or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense when he is aware that his conduct is of that nature or that the circumstance exists.

(3) "Wantonly" - A person acts wantonly with respect to a result or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense when he is aware of and consciously disregards a substantial and unjustifiable risk that the result will occur or that the circumstance exists. The risk must be of such nature and degree that disregard thereof constitutes a gross deviation from the standard of conduct that a reasonable person would observe in the situation. A person who creates such a risk but is unaware thereof solely by reason of voluntary intoxication also acts wantonly with respect thereto.

(4) "Recklessly" - A person acts recklessly with respect to a result or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense when he fails to perceive a substantial and unjustifiable risk that the result will occur or that the circumstance exists. The risk must be of such nature and degree that failure to perceive it constitutes a gross deviation from the standard of care that a reasonable person would observe in the situation.

Section 13. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

A person is not guilty of a criminal offense unless:

(1) He has engaged in conduct which includes a voluntary act or the omission to perform a duty which the law imposes upon him and which he is physically capable of performing; and

(2) He has engaged in such conduct intentionally, knowingly, wantonly or recklessly as the law may require, with respect to each element of the offense, except that this requirement does not apply to any offense which imposes absolute liability, as defined in section 15 of this Act.

Section 14. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

Although no culpable mental state is expressly designated in a statute defining an offense, a culpable mental state may nevertheless be required for the commission of such offense, or with respect to some or all of the material elements thereof, if the proscribed conduct necessarily involves such culpable mental state.

Section 15. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

A person may be guilty of an offense without having one of the culpable mental states defined in section 12 of this Act only when:

(1) The offense is a violation or a misdemeanor as defined in section 8 of this Act and no particular culpable mental state is included within the definition of the offense; or

(2) The offense is defined by a statute other than this Penal Code and the statute clearly indicates a legislative purpose to impose absolute liability for the conduct described.

Section 16. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

(1) Conduct is the cause of a result when it is an antecedent without which the result in question would not have occurred.

(2) When intentionally causing a particular result is an element of an offense, the element is not established if the actual result is not within the intention or the contemplation of the actor unless:

(a) The actual result differs from that intended or contemplated, as the case may be, only in the respect that a different person or different property is injured or affected or that the injury or harm intended or contemplated would have been more serious or more extensive; or

(b) The actual result involves the same kind of injury or harm as that intended or contemplated and occurs in a manner which the actor knows or should know is rendered substantially more probable by his conduct.

(3) When wantonly or recklessly causing a particular result is an element of an offense, the element is not established if the actual result is not within the risk of which the actor is aware or, in the case of recklessness, of which he should be aware unless:

(a) The actual result differs from the probable result only in the respect that a different person or different property is injured or affected or that the probable injury or harm would have been more serious or more extensive than that caused; or

(b) The actual result involves the same kind of injury or harm as the probable result and occurs in a manner which the actor knows or should know is rendered substantially more probable by his conduct.

(4) The question of whether an actor knew or should have known the result he caused was rendered substantially more probable by his conduct is an issue of fact.

Section 17. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person's ignorance or mistake as to a matter of fact or law does not relieve him of criminal liability unless:

(a) Such ignorance or mistake negatives the existence of the culpable mental state required for commission of an offense; or

(b) The statute under which he is charged or a statute related thereto expressly provides that such ignorance or mistake constitutes a defense or exemption; or

(c) Such ignorance or mistake is of a kind that supports a defense of justification as defined in this Penal Code.

(2) When ignorance or mistake relieves a person of criminal liability under subsection (1) but he would be guilty of another offense had the situation been as he supposed it was, he may be convicted of that other offense.

(3) A person's mistaken belief that his conduct, as a matter of law, does not constitute an offense does not relieve him of criminal liability, unless such mistaken belief is actually founded upon an official statement of the law, afterward determined to be invalid or erroneous, contained in:

(a) A statute or other enactment; or

(b) A judicial decision, opinion or judgment; or

(c) An administrative order or grant of permission; or

(d) An official interpretation of the public officer or body charged by law with responsibility for the interpretation, administration or enforcement of the law defining the offense.

Section 18. A new section of Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

Intoxication is a defense to a criminal charge only if such condition either;

(a) Negatives the existence of an element of the offense; or

(b) Is not voluntarily produced and deprives the defendant of substantial capacity either to appreciate the criminality of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law.

Section 19. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

(1) In any prosecution for an offense other than an intentional homicide, it is a defense that the defendant engaged in the proscribed conduct because he was coerced to do so by the use of, or a threat of the use of, unlawful physical force against him or another person which a person in his situation could not reasonably be expected to resist.

(2) The defense provided by subsection (1) is unavailable if the defendant intentionally or wantonly placed himself in a situation in which it was probable that he would be subjected to coercion.

Section 20. KRS Chapter 502 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of an offense committed by an innocent or irresponsible person when he:

(a) Acts with the culpability that is sufficient for commission of that offense; and

(b) Causes that innocent or irresponsible person to engage in conduct constituting the offense.

(2) As used in this section, an "innocent or irresponsible person" includes anyone who is not guilty of the offense in question, despite his participation, because of:

(a) Criminal irresponsibility or other legal incapacity or exemption; or

(b) Unawareness of the criminal nature of the conduct in question or the defendant's criminal purpose; or

(c) Any other factor precluding the mental state sufficient for the commission of the offense in question.

Section 21. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of an offense committed by another person when, with the intention of promoting or facilitating the commission of the offense, he:

(a) Solicits, commands, or engages in a conspiracy with such other person to commit the offense; or

(b) Aids, counsels, or attempts to aid such person in planning or committing the offense; or

(c) Having a legal duty to prevent the commission of the offense, fails to make a proper effort to do so.

(2) When causing a particular result is an element of an offense, a person who acts with the kind of culpability with respect to the result that is sufficient for the commission of the offense is guilty of that offense when he:

(a) Solicits or engages in a conspiracy with another person to engage in the conduct causing such result; or

(b) Aids, counsels, or attempts to aid another person in planning, or engaging in the conduct causing such result; or

(c) Having a legal duty to prevent the conduct causing the result, fails to make a proper effort to do so.

Section 22. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

In any prosecution for an offense in which the criminal liability of the accused is based upon the conduct of another person pursuant to sections 20 and 21 of this Act, it is no defense that:

(1) Such other person has not been prosecuted for or convicted of any offense based on the conduct in question, or has previously been acquitted thereof, or has been convicted of a different offense, or has an immunity to prosecution or conviction for such conduct; or

(2) The offense in question, as defined, can be committed only by a particular class or classes of persons, and the accused, not belonging to such class or classes, is for that reason legally incapable of committing the offense in an individual capacity.

Section 23. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

A person is not guilty under sections 20 or 21 of this Act for an offense committed by another person when:

(1) The offense is so defined that his conduct is inevitably incident to its commission; or

(2) Prior to the commission of the offense, he manifests a voluntary and complete renunciation, as defined in section 54 of this Act, of his criminal purposes and:

(a) Deprives his prior effort of its effectiveness in such commission; or

(b) Gives timely warning to the proper law enforcement authorities or otherwise makes proper effort to prevent commission of the offense.

Section 24. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

(1) A corporation is guilty of an offense when:

(a) The conduct constituting the offense consists of a failure to discharge a specific duty imposed upon corporations by law; or

(b) The conduct constituting the offense is engaged in, authorized, commanded or wantonly tolerated by the board of directors or by a high managerial agent acting within the scope of his employment in behalf of the corporation; or

(c) The conduct constituting the offense is engaged in by an agent of the corporation acting within the scope of his employment and in behalf of the corporation and:

(i) The offense is a misdemeanor or violation; or

(ii) The offense is one defined by a statute which clearly indicates a legislative intent to impose such criminal liability on a corporation:

(2) As used in this section:

(a) "Agent" means any officer, director, servant or employe of the corporation or any other person authorized to act in behalf of the corporation.

(b) "High managerial agent" means an officer of a corporation or any other agent of a corporation who has duties of such responsibility that his conduct reasonably may be assumed to represent the policy of the corporation.

Section 25. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

A person is criminally liable for conduct constituting an offense which he performs or causes to be performed in the name of or in behalf of a corporation to the same extent as if the conduct were performed in his own name or behalf.

Section 26. KRS Chapter 503 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

The following definitions apply in this chapter unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Deadly physical force" means force which is used with the purpose of causing death or serious physical injury or which the defendant knows to create a substantial risk of causing death or serious physical injury.

(2) "Dwelling" means any building or structure, though movable or temporary which is for the time being either totally or partially the defendant's home or place of lodging.

(3) "Physical force" means force used upon or directed toward the body of another person and includes confinement.

Section 27. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

In any prosecution for an offense, justification, as defined in this chapter, is a defense.

Section 28. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) Unless inconsistent with the ensuing sections of this code defining justifiable use of physical force or with some other provisions of law, conduct which would otherwise constitute an offense is justifiable when the defendant believes it to be necessary to avoid an imminent public or private injury greater than the injury which is sought to be prevented by the statute defining the offense charged, except that no justification can exist under this section for an intentional homicide.

(2) When the defendant believes that conduct which would otherwise constitute an offense is necessary for the purpose described in subsection (1), but is wanton or reckless in having such belief, or when the defendant is wanton or reckless in bringing about a situation requiring the conduct described in subsection (1), the justification afforded by this section is unavailable in a prosecution for any offense for which wantonness or recklessness, as the case may be, suffices to establish culpability.

Section 29. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) Unless inconsistent with the ensuing sections of this code defining justifiable use of physical force or with some other provisions of law, conduct which would otherwise constitute an offense is justifiable when it is required or authorized by a provision of law imposing a public duty or by a judicial decree.

(2) The justification afforded by subsection (1) applies when:

(a) The defendant believes his conduct to be required or authorized by the judgment or direction of a competent court or tribunal or in the lawful execution of legal process, notwithstanding lack of jurisdiction of the court or defect in the legal process; or

(b) The defendant believes his conduct to be required or authorized to assist a public officer in the performance of his duties, notwithstanding that the officer exceeded his legal authority.

Section 30. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant believes that such force is necessary to protect himself against the use or imminent use of unlawful physical force by the other person.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable under subsection (1) only when the defendant believes that such force is necessary to protect himself against death, serious physical injury, kidnapping, or sexual intercourse compelled by force or threat.

Section 31. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 30 of this act the use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is not justifiable when:

(1) The defendant is resisting an arrest by a peace officer, recognized to be acting under color of official authority and using no more force than reasonably necessary to effect the arrest, although the arrest is unlawful; or

(2) The defendant, with the intention of causing death or serious physical injury to the other person, provokes the use of physical force by such other person; or

(3) The defendant was the initial aggressor, except that his use of physical force upon the other person under this circumstance is justifiable when:

(a) His initial physical force was non-deadly and the force returned by the other is such that he believes himself to be in imminent danger of death or serious physical injury; or

(b) He withdraws from the encounter and effectively communicates to the other person his intent to do so and the latter nevertheless continues or threatens the use of unlawful physical force.

Section 32. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when:

(a) The defendant believes that such force is necessary to protect a third person against the use or imminent use of unlawful physical force by the other person; and

(b) Under the circumstances as the defendant believes them to be, the person whom he seeks to protect would himself have been justified under sections 30 and 31 of this Act in using such protection.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when:

(a) The defendant believes that such force is necessary to protect a third person against imminent death, serious physical injury, kidnapping or sexual intercourse compelled by force or threat; and

(b) Under the circumstances as they actually exist, the person whom he seeks to protect would himself have been justified under sections 30 and 31 of this Act in using such protection.

Section 33. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant believes that such force is immediately necessary to prevent:

(a) The commission of criminal trespass or burglary in a dwelling, building or upon real property in his possession or in the possession of another person for whose protection he acts; or

(b) Theft, criminal mischief, or any trespassory taking of tangible, movable property in his possession or in the possession of another person for whose protection he acts.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable under subsection

(1) only when the defendant believes that the person against whom such force is used is:

(a) Attempting to dispossess him of his dwelling otherwise than under a claim of right to its possession; or

(b) Committing or attempting to commit a burglary of such dwelling; or

(c) Committing or attempting to commit arson of a dwelling or other building in his possession.

Section 34. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant, acting under official authority, is making or assisting in making an arrest, and he:

(a) Believes that such force is necessary to effect the arrest;

(b) Makes known the purpose of the arrest or believes that it is otherwise known or cannot reasonably be made known to the person to be arrested; and

(c) Believes the arrest to be lawful.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable under subsection

(1) only when:

- (a) The defendant, in effecting the arrest, is authorized to act as a peace officer; and
- (b) The arrest is for a felony involving the use or threatened use of physical force likely to cause death or serious physical injury; and
- (c) The defendant believes that the person to be arrested is likely to endanger human life unless apprehended without delay.

(3) The use of physical force, including deadly physical force, by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is preventing the escape of an arrested person and when the force could justifiably have been used to effect the arrest under which the person is in custody, except that a guard or other person authorized to act as a peace officer is justified in using any force, including deadly force, which he believes to be necessary to prevent the escape of a person from jail, prison, or other institution for the detention of persons charged with or convicted of a crime.

Section 35. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant believes that such force is immediately necessary to prevent such other person from:

- (a) Committing suicide or inflicting serious physical injury upon himself; or
- (b) Committing a crime involving or threatening serious physical injury to person, substantial damage to or loss of property, or any other violent conduct.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable under subsection (1)(b) only when the defendant believes that the person whom he seeks to prevent from committing a crime is likely to endanger human life.

(3) The limitations imposed on the justifiable use of force in self-protection by sections 30 and 31, for the protection of other by section 32, for the protection of property by section 33, and for the effectuation of an arrest or the prevention of an escape by section 34 of this Act apply notwithstanding the criminality of the conduct against which such force is used.

Section 36. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a parent, guardian or other person entrusted with the care and supervision of a minor or an incompetent person or when the defendant is a teacher or other person entrusted with the care and supervision of a minor, for a special purpose, and:

(a) The defendant believes that the force used is necessary to promote the welfare of a minor or incompetent person or, if the defendant's responsibility for the minor or incompetent person is for a special purpose, to further that special purpose or maintain reasonable discipline in a school, class or other group; and

(b) The force that is used is not designed to cause or known to create a substantial risk of causing death, serious physical injury, disfigurement, extreme pain, or extreme mental distress.

(2) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a warden or other authorized official of a correctional institution, and:

(a) The defendant believes that the force used is necessary for the purpose of enforcing the lawful rules of the institution;

(b) The degree of force used is not forbidden by any statute governing the administration of the institution; and

(c) If deadly force is used, its use is otherwise justifiable under this code.

(3) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a person responsible for the operation of or the maintenance of order in a vehicle or other carrier of passengers and the defendant believes that such force is necessary to prevent interference with its operation or to maintain order in the vehicle or other carrier, except that deadly physical force may be used only when the defendant believes it necessary to prevent death or serious physical injury.

(4) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a doctor or other therapist or a person assisting him at his direction, and:

(a) The force is used for the purpose of administering a recognized form of treatment which the defendant believes to be adapted to promoting the physical or mental health of the patient; and

(b) The treatment is administered with the consent of the patient or, if the patient is a minor or an incompetent person, with the consent of the parent, guardian, or other person legally competent to consent in his behalf, or the treatment is administered in an emergency when the defendant believes that no one competent to consent can be consulted and that a reasonable person, wishing to safeguard the welfare of the patient, would consent.

Section 37. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) When the defendant believes that the use of force upon or toward the person of another is necessary for any of the purposes for which such belief would establish a justification under sections 30 to 36 of this Act but the defendant is wanton or reckless in believing the use of any force, or the degree of force used, to be necessary or in acquiring or failing to acquire any knowledge or belief which is material to the justifiability of his use of force, the justification afforded by those sections is unavailable in a prosecution for an offense for which wantonness or recklessness, as the case may be, suffices to establish culpability.

(2) When the defendant is justified under sections 30 to 36 of this Act in using force upon or toward the person of another, but he wantonly or recklessly injures or creates a risk of injury to innocent persons, the justification afforded by those sections is unavailable in a prosecution for an offense involving wantonness or recklessness toward innocent persons.

Section 38. KRS Chapter 504 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

Lack of criminal responsibility because of immaturity is a defense to any prosecution for an offense. A person is immature for purposes of this section when, at the time of the conduct charged to constitute an offense, he was:

- (1) Less than sixteen years of age, unless the juvenile court has no jurisdiction over him; or
- (2) Less than 16 years of age, and the offense charged is a Class A felony and the court has entered an order waiving jurisdiction; or
- (3) Sixteen but less than eighteen years of age, unless the juvenile court:
 - (a) Has no jurisdiction over him; or
 - (b) Has entered an order waiving jurisdiction.

Section 39. A new section of KRS Chapter 504 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is not responsible for criminal conduct if at the time of such conduct, as a result of mental disease or defect, he lacks substantial capacity either to appreciate the criminality of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of law.

(2) As used in this chapter, the term "mental disease or defect" does not include an abnormality manifested only by repeated criminal or otherwise anti-social conduct.

(3) A defendant may prove mental disease or defect, as used in this section, in exculpation of criminal conduct.

Section 40. A new section of KRS Chapter 504 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a defendant is acquitted of an offense for lack of criminal responsibility by reason of mental disease or defect, as defined in section 39 of this Act, the court may on motion of the prosecuting attorney or on its own motion proceed immediately to have the defendant committed for examination and possible detention pursuant to the provisions of KRS Chapter 202.

(2) To facilitate the procedure established in subsection (1), the court, if it has reasonable grounds to believe that the defendant will cause injury to himself or others if not immediately restrained, may order him to be hospitalized in a state hospital for a period not to exceed seven consecutive days. The order of commitment under this subsection shall be pursuant to and under the authority of KRS 202.027 and shall be subject to all of the provisions of that statute.

Section 41. A new section of KRS Chapter 504 is created to read as follows:

(1) No person who, as a result of mental disease or defect, lack capacity to appreciate the nature and consequences of the proceedings against him or to participate rationally in his own defense shall be tried, convicted or sentenced for the commission of an offense, so long as such incapacity endures.

(2) When a defendant is found to have a mental disease or defect, as described in subsection (1), the court may on motion of the prosecuting attorney or on its own motion proceed immediately to have the defendant committed for examination and possible detention pursuant to the provisions of KRS Chapter 202.

Section 42. A new section of KRS Chapter 504 is created to read as follows:

(1) Evidence of mental disease or defect which is offered to show lack of criminal responsibility is not admissible unless the defendant files a written notice of his intention to rely on such defense at least 20 days prior to the day of trial or at such later time as the court may for good cause permit. Upon filing of such notice, the prosecution shall be granted reasonable time prior to trial to move for an examination of the defendant under subsection (2) and to prepare the case for the Commonwealth.

(2) Whenever the defendant has filed the notice required by subsection (1) or whenever there is reason to doubt his fitness to proceed, the court shall appoint at least one qualified psychiatrist to examine and report upon the mental condition of the defendant and, to accomplish this, may order the defendant to be committed to a state mental hospital for the purpose of an examination for a period of not more than ten days. A qualified psychiatrist retained by the defendant shall be permitted to witness and participate in the examination.

(3) As soon as practicable after the defendant has given notice of his intention to rely on the defense of mental disease or defect, but in any event no less than ten days before trial, except as provided otherwise by court for good cause shown, the prosecution shall file and serve upon the defendant the names and addresses of the witnesses the state proposes to offer in denial of the defendant's defense, along with any medical reports prepared by those witnesses in connection with the defendant's mental condition.

Section 43. KRS Chapter 505 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

(1) A person is not guilty of an offense arising out of proscribed conduct when:

(a) He was induced or encouraged to engage in that conduct by a public servant or by a person acting in cooperation with a public servant seeking to obtain evidence against him for the purpose of criminal prosecution; and

(b) At the time of the inducement or encouragement, he was not otherwise disposed to engage in such conduct.

(2) The relief afforded by subsection (1) is unavailable when:

(a) The public servant or the person acting in cooperation with a public servant merely affords the defendant an opportunity to commit an offense; or

(b) The offense charged has physical injury or the threat of physical injury as one of its elements and the prosecution is based on conduct causing or threatening such injury to a person other than the person perpetrating the entrapment.

(3) The relief provided a defendant by subsection (1) is a defense.

Section 44. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a single course of conduct of a defendant may establish the commission of more than one offense, he may be prosecuted for each such offense. He may not, however, be convicted of more than one offense when:

(a) One offense is included in the other, as defined in subsection (2); or

(b) Inconsistent findings of fact are required to establish the commission of the offenses, or

(c) The offense is designed to prohibit a continuing course of conduct and the defendant's course of conduct was uninterrupted by legal process, unless the law expressly provides that specific periods of such conduct constitute separate offenses.

(2) A defendant may be convicted of an offense that is included in any offense with which he is formally charged. An offense is so included when:

(a) It is established by proof of the same or less than all the facts required to establish the commission of the offense charged; or

(b) It consists of an attempt to commit the offense charged or to commit an offense otherwise included therein; or

(c) It differs from the offense charged only in the respect that a lesser kind of culpability suffices to establish its commission; or

(d) It differs from the offense charged only in the respect that a less serious injury or risk of injury to the same person, property or public interest suffices to establish its commission.

Section 45. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

When a prosecution is for a violation of the same statutory provision and is based upon the same facts as a former prosecution, it is barred by the former prosecution under the following circumstances:

(1) The former prosecution resulted in:

(a) An acquittal, or

(b) A conviction which has not subsequently been set aside; or

(2) The former prosecution resulted in a determination by the court, which has not subsequently been set aside, that there was insufficient evidence to warrant a conviction; or

(3) The former prosecution was terminated by a final order or judgment, which has not subsequently been set aside, and which required a determination inconsistent with any fact or legal proposition necessary to a conviction in the subsequent prosecution; or

(4) The former prosecution was improperly terminated after the first witness was sworn but before findings were rendered by a trier of fact. Termination under either of the following circumstances is not improper;

(a) The defendant expressly consents to the termination or by motion for mistrial or in some other manner waives his right to object to the termination; or

(b) The trial court, in exercise of its discretion, finds that the termination is manifestly necessary.

Section 46. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

Although a prosecution is for a violation of a different statutory provision from a former prosecution or for a violation of the same provision but based on different facts, it is barred by the former prosecution under the following circumstances:

(1) The former prosecution resulted in an acquittal, a conviction which has not subsequently been set aside, or a determination that there was insufficient evidence to warrant a conviction, and the subsequent prosecution is for:

(a) An offense of which the defendant could have been convicted at the first prosecution; or

(b) An offense involving the same conduct as the first prosecution, unless each prosecution requires proof of a fact not required in the other prosecution or unless the offense was not consummated when the former prosecution began; or

(2) The former prosecution was terminated by a final order or judgment which has not subsequently been set aside and which required a determination inconsistent with any fact necessary to a conviction in the subsequent prosecution; or

(3) The former prosecution was improperly terminated, as that term is used in subsection (4) of Section 45 of this Act, and the subsequent prosecution is for an offense of which the defendant could have been convicted had the former prosecution not been improperly terminated.

Section 47. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

When conduct constitutes an offense within the concurrent jurisdiction of this state and of the United States or another state, a prosecution in such other jurisdiction is a bar to a subsequent prosecution in this state under the following circumstances:

(1) The former prosecution resulted in an acquittal, a conviction which has not subsequently been set aside, or a determination that there was insufficient evidence to warrant a conviction, and the subsequent prosecution is for an offense involving the same conduct unless:

(a) Each prosecution requires proof of a fact not required in the other prosecution; or

(b) The offense involved in the subsequent prosecution was not consummated when the former prosecution began; or

(2) The former prosecution was terminated in a final order or judgment which has not subsequently been set aside and which required a determination inconsistent with any fact necessary to a conviction in the subsequent prosecution.

Section 48. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

A prosecution is not barred, as provided in Sections 45, 46 and 47 of this Act if the former prosecution:

(a) Was procured by the defendant without the knowledge of the proper prosecuting officer and with the purpose of avoiding the sentence which otherwise might be imposed; or

(b) Was before a court which lacked jurisdiction over the defendant or the offense.

Section 49. KRS Chapter 506 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of criminal attempt to commit a crime when, acting with the kind of culpability otherwise required for commission of the crime, he:

(a) Intentionally engages in conduct which would constitute the crime if the attendant circumstances were as he believes them to be; or

(b) Intentionally does or omits to do anything which, under the circumstances as he believes them to be, is a substantial step in a course of conduct planned to culminate in his commission of the crime.

(2) Conduct shall not be held to constitute a substantial step under subsection (1)(b) unless it is an act or omission which leaves no reasonable doubt as to the defendant's intention to commit the crime which he is charged with attempting.

(3) A person is guilty of criminal attempt to commit a crime when he engages in conduct intended to aid another person to commit that crime, although the crime is not committed or attempted by the other person, provided that his conduct would establish complicity under Section 21 of this Act if the crime were committed by the other person.

(4) A criminal attempt is a:

(a) Class B felony when the crime attempted is a Class A felony or capital offense;

(b) Class C felony when the crime attempted is a Class B felony;

(c) Class A misdemeanor when the crime attempted is a Class C or D felony;

(d) Class B misdemeanor when the crime attempted is a misdemeanor.

Section 50. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) In any prosecution for criminal attempt to commit a crime, it is a defense that, under circumstances manifesting a voluntary and complete renunciation of his criminal purpose, the defendant abandoned his effort to commit the crime and, if mere abandonment was insufficient to avoid the commission of the crime, took the necessary affirmative steps to prevent its commission.

(2) A renunciation is not "voluntary and complete" within the meaning of this section if it is motivated in whole or in part by:

(a) A belief that circumstances exist which pose a particular threat of apprehension or detection of the accused or another participant in the criminal enterprise or which render more difficult the accomplishment of the criminal purpose; or

(b) A decision to postpone the criminal conduct until another time or to transfer the criminal effort to another victim or another but similar object.

Section 51. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of criminal solicitation when, with the intent of promoting or facilitating the commission of a crime, he commands or encourages another person to engage in specific conduct which would constitute that crime or an attempt to commit that crime or which would establish the other's complicity in its commission or attempted commission.

(2) A criminal solicitation is a:

(a) Class B felony when the crime solicited is a Class A felony or capital offense;

(b) Class C felony when the crime solicited is a Class B felony;

(c) Class A misdemeanor when the crime solicited is a Class C or D felony;

(d) Class B misdemeanor when the crime solicited is a misdemeanor.

Section 52. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(a) Agrees with one or more persons that at least one of them will engage in conduct constituting that crime or an attempt or solicitation to commit such a crime; or

(b) Agrees to aid one or more persons in the planning or commission of that crime or an attempt or solicitation to commit such a crime.

(2) A criminal conspiracy is a:

(a) Class B felony when the object of the conspiratorial agreement is a Class A felony;

(b) Class C felony when the object of the conspiratorial agreement is a Class B felony;

(c) Class A misdemeanor when the object of the conspiratorial agreement is a Class C or D felony;

(d) Class B misdemeanor when the object of the conspiratorial agreement is a misdemeanor.

Section 53. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) No person may be convicted of conspiracy to commit a crime unless an overt act in furtherance of the conspiracy is alleged and proved to have been committed by one of the conspirators.

(2) A person who conspires to commit more than one crime, all of which are the object of the same agreement or continuous conspiratorial relationship, is guilty of only one conspiracy. The classification of this crime under subsection (2) of section 52 of this Act shall be determined by the most serious offense which he is found guilty of conspiring to commit.

(3) If a person guilty of conspiracy, as defined by section 52 of this Act, knows that a person with whom he conspires to commit a crime has conspired with another person or persons to commit the same crime, he is guilty of conspiring to commit the crime with the other person or persons, whether or not he knows their identity.

(4) No person may be convicted of conspiracy to commit a crime when an element of that crime is agreement with the person with whom he is alleged to have conspired or when that crime is so defined that his conduct is an inevitable incident to its commission.

Section 54. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) In any prosecution for criminal solicitation or criminal conspiracy in which the crime solicited or the crime contemplated by the conspiracy was not in fact committed, it is a defense that, under circumstances manifesting a voluntary and complete renunciation of his criminal purpose, the defendant prevented the commission of the crime.

(2) A renunciation is not "voluntary and complete" within the meaning of this section when it is motivated in whole or in part by:

(a) A belief that circumstances exist which pose a particular threat of apprehension or detection of the accused or another participant in the criminal enterprise or which render more difficult the accomplishment of the criminal purpose; or

(b) A decision to postpone the criminal conduct until another time or to transfer the criminal effort to another victim or another but similar object.

Section 55. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) It is no defense to a prosecution for criminal solicitation that the person solicited could not be guilty of the crime solicited because of:

(a) Criminal irresponsibility or other legal incapacity or exemption; or

(b) Unawareness of the criminal nature of the conduct solicited or of the defendant's criminal purpose; or

(c) Any other factor precluding the mental state required for the commission of the crime solicited.

(2) It is no defense to a prosecution for criminal conspiracy that a co-conspirator could not be guilty of the conspiracy or the crime contemplated by the conspiracy because of:

(a) Criminal irresponsibility or other legal incapacity or exemption; or

(b) Unawareness of the criminal nature of the conspiracy or the conduct contemplated by the conspiracy or of the defendant's criminal purpose; or

(c) Any other factor precluding the mental state required for the commission of the conspiracy or the crime contemplated by the conspiracy.

(3) A defendant cannot be convicted of conspiracy if all of his co-conspirators have been acquitted or discharged under circumstances amounting to an acquittal.

Section 56. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of criminal facilitation when, acting with knowledge that another person is committing or intends to commit a crime, he engages in conduct which knowingly provides such person with means or opportunity for the commission of the crime and which in fact aids such person to commit the crime.

(2) Criminal facilitation is a:

- (a) Class D felony when the crime facilitated is a Class A or Class B felony or capital offense;
- (b) Class A misdemeanor when the crime facilitated is a Class C or Class D felony;
- (c) Class B misdemeanor when the crime facilitated is a misdemeanor.

Section 57. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

In any prosecution for criminal facilitation, it is no defense that:

(1) The person facilitated could not be guilty of the crime facilitated because of criminal irresponsibility or other legal incapacity or exemption, unawareness of the criminal nature of the conduct facilitated, or any other factor precluding the mental state required for commission of the crime facilitated; or

(2) The person facilitated has not been prosecuted for or convicted of the crime facilitated, or has been convicted of a different crime, or has an immunity to prosecution or conviction for such conduct; or

(3) The crime facilitated can be committed only by a particular class or classes of persons, and the accused, not belonging to such class or classes, is for that reason legally incapable of committing the crime in an individual capacity.

Section 58. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

A person is not guilty of criminal facilitation when:

(1) The crime facilitated is so defined that his conduct is inevitably incident to its commission; or

Section 59. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person may not be convicted on the basis of the same course of conduct of both the actual commission of a crime and:

(c) A criminal facilitation of that crime; or

(d) A conspiracy to commit that crime, except as provided in subsection (2) of this section.

(2) A person may be convicted on the basis of the same course of conduct of both the actual commission of a crime and a conspiracy to commit that crime when the conspiracy from which the consummated crime resulted had as an objective of the conspiratorial relationship the commission of more than one crime.

(3) A person may not be convicted of more than one of the offenses defined in sections 49, 51, 52 and 56 of this Act for a single course of conduct designed to consummate in the commission of the same crime.

Section 60. KRS Chapter 507 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

Section 61. A new section of KRS Chapter 507 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of murder when:

(a) With intent to cause the death of another person, he causes the death of such person or of a third person; except that in any prosecution a person shall not be guilty under this subsection if he acted under the influence of extreme emotional disturbance for which there was a reasonable explanation or excuse, the reasonableness of which is to be determined from the viewpoint of a person in the defendant's situation under the circumstances as the defendant believed them to be. However, nothing contained in this section shall constitute a defense to a prosecution for or preclude a conviction of manslaughter in the first degree or any other crime; or

(b) Under circumstances manifesting extreme indifference to human life, he wantonly engages in conduct which creates a grave risk of death to another person and thereby causes the death of another person.

(2) Murder is a Class A felony, except that in the following situations it is a capital offense:

(a) The defendant's act of killing was intentional and was for profit or hire;

(b) The defendant's act of killing was intentional, and occurred during the commission of arson in the first degree, robbery in the first degree, burglary in the first degree, or rape in the first degree;

A person who gambles at a social game of chance on equal terms with other participants does not otherwise advance gambling activity by performing acts, without remuneration or fee, directed toward the arrangement or facilitation of the game as inviting persons to play, permitting the use of premises therefor and supplying equipment used therein.

(2) "Bookmaking" means advancing gambling activity by unlawfully accepting bets upon the outcome of future contingent events from members of the public as a business.

(c) But, the following are not to be considered gambling devices within this definition:

(i) Devices dispensing or selling combination or French pools on licensed, regular racetracks during races on said tracks.

Nonetheless, a pinball machine shall be a gambling device if a person gives or promises to give money, tokens, merchandise, premiums or property of any kind for scores, combinations or free games obtained in playing such pinball machine in which such person has an interest as owner, operator, keeper or otherwise.

(5) "Lottery and gift enterprise" means:

(7) "Player" means a person who engages in any form of gambling solely as a contestant or bettor, without receiving or becoming entitled to receive any profit therefrom other than personal gambling winnings, and without otherwise rendering any material assistance to the establishment, conduct or operation of the particular gambling activity. A person who engages in "bookmaking" as defined in subsection (2) is not a "player." The status of a "player" shall be a defense to any prosecution under this chapter.

(8) "Profiting from gambling activity"--A person "profits from gambling activity" when, other than as a player, he accepts or receives or agrees to accept or receive money or other property pursuant to an agreement or understanding with any person whereby he participates or is to participate in the proceeds of gambling activity.

When a person is convicted of an offense, other than a capital offense, the court, where authorized by KRS Chapter 533, may sentence such person to a period of probation or to a period of conditional discharge as provided in that chapter. A sentence to probation or conditional discharge shall be deemed a tentative one to the extent that it may be altered or revoked in accordance with KRS Chapter 533, but for purposes of appeal shall be deemed to be a final judgment of conviction. In any case where the court imposes a sentence of probation or conditional discharge, it may also impose a fine as authorized by KRS Chapter 534.

Section 275. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) No court shall impose sentence for conviction of a felony, other than a capital offense, without first ordering a presentence investigation and giving due consideration to a written report of such investigation.

(2) The report shall be prepared and presented by a probation officer and shall include an analysis of the defendant's history of delinquency or criminality, physical and mental condition, family situation and background, economic status, education, occupation, personal habits, and any other matters that the court directs to be included.

(3) Before imposing sentence for a felony conviction, the court may order the defendant to submit to psychiatric observation and examination for a period not exceeding sixty days. The defendant may be remanded for this purpose to any available clinic or mental hospital or the court may appoint a qualified psychiatrist to make the examination.

(4) Before imposing sentence, the court shall advise the defendant or his counsel of the factual contents and conclusions of any presentence investigation or psychiatric examinations and afford a fair opportunity and a reasonable period of time, if the defendant so requests, to controvert them. The sources of confidential information need not, however, be disclosed.

Section 276. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) A sentence of imprisonment for a felony shall be an indeterminate sentence, the maximum of which shall be fixed within the limits provided by subsection (2), and subject to modification by the trial judge pursuant to section 277 of this Act.

(a) For a Class A felony, not less than twenty years nor more than life imprisonment;

(b) For a Class B felony, not less than ten years nor more than twenty years;

(c) For a Class C felony, not less than five years nor more than ten years; and

(d) For a Class D felony, not less than one year nor more than five years.

(3) The actual time of release within the maximum established by subsection (1), or as modified pursuant to section 277 of this Act, shall be determined under procedures established elsewhere by law.

Section 277. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a sentence of imprisonment for a felony is fixed by a jury pursuant to section 276 of this Act and the trial court, having regard to the nature and circumstances of the crime and to the history and character of the defendant, is of the opinion that a sentence of imprisonment is necessary but that the maximum term fixed by the jury is unduly harsh, the court may modify that sentence and fix a maximum term within the limits provided in section 276 of this Act for the offense for which the defendant presently stands convicted.

(2) When a sentence of imprisonment for a Class D felony is fixed by a jury pursuant to section 276 of this Act and the trial court, having regard to the nature and circumstances of the crime and to the history and character of the defendant, is of the opinion that a sentence of imprisonment is necessary but that it would be unduly harsh to impose such a sentence, the court may sentence the defendant to a definite term of imprisonment in a county or a regional correctional institution for a term of one year or less.

Section 278. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a defendant is found to be a persistent felony offender, the jury, in lieu of the sentence of imprisonment assessed under section 276 of this Act for the crime of which such person presently stands convicted, shall fix a sentence of imprisonment as authorized by subsection (4) of this section. When a defendant is charged with being a persistent felony offender, the determination of whether or not he is such an offender and the punishment to be imposed pursuant to subsection (4) of this section shall be determined in a separate proceeding from that proceeding which resulted in his last conviction. Such proceeding shall be conducted before the court sitting with the jury that found the defendant guilty of his most recent offense unless the court for good cause discharges that jury and impanels a new jury for that purpose.

(2) A persistent felony offender is a person who is more than twenty-one years of age and who stands convicted of a felony after having previously been convicted of two or more felonies. As used in this provision, a previous felony conviction is a conviction of a felony in this state or conviction of a crime in any other jurisdiction provided:

(a) That a sentence to a term of imprisonment of one year or more or a sentence to death was imposed therefor; and

(b) That the offender was over the age of eighteen years at the time the offense was committed; and

(c) That the defendant was imprisoned under sentence for such conviction prior to commission of the present felony.

(3) For the purpose of determining whether a person has two or more previous felony convictions, two or more convictions of crime for which that person served concurrent or uninterrupted consecutive terms of imprisonment shall be deemed to be only one conviction, unless one of the convictions was for an offense committed while that person was imprisoned.

(4) A person who is found to be a persistent felony offender shall be sentenced to imprisonment as follows:

(a) If the offense for which he presently stands convicted is a Class A felony, a persistent felony offender shall be sentenced to an indeterminate term of imprisonment with life imprisonment as the maximum; or

(b) If the offense for which he presently stands convicted is a Class B felony, a persistent felony offender shall be sentenced to an indeterminate term of imprisonment, the maximum of which shall not be less than twenty years nor more than life imprisonment; or

(c) If the offense of which he presently stands convicted is a Class C or Class D felony, a persistent felony offender shall be sentenced to an indeterminate term of imprisonment, the maximum of which shall not be less than ten years nor more than twenty years.

Section 279. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

A sentence of imprisonment for a misdemeanor shall be a definite term and shall be fixed within the following maximum limitations:

(a) For a Class A misdemeanor, the term shall not exceed twelve months; and

(b) For a Class B misdemeanor, the term shall not exceed ninety days.

Section 280. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) When an indeterminate term of imprisonment is imposed, the court shall commit the defendant to the custody of the Department of Corrections for the term of his sentence and until released in accordance with the law.

(2) When a definite term of imprisonment is imposed, the court shall commit the defendant to the county or city correctional institution or to a regional correctional institution for the term of his sentence and until released in accordance with the law.

Section 281. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) When multiple sentences of imprisonment are imposed on a defendant for more than one crime, including a crime for which a previous sentence of probation or conditional discharge has been revoked, such multiple sentences shall run concurrently or consecutively as the court shall determine at the time of sentence, except that:

(a) A definite and an indeterminate term shall run concurrently and both sentences shall be satisfied by service of the indeterminate term;

(b) The aggregate of consecutive definite terms shall not exceed one year; and

(c) The aggregate of consecutive indeterminate terms shall not exceed in maximum length the longest extended term which would be authorized by section 280 of this Act for the highest class of crime for which any of the sentences is imposed.

(2) If the court does not specify the manner in which a sentence imposed by it is to run, the sentence shall run concurrently with any other sentence which the defendant must serve.

(3) When a defendant is sentenced to imprisonment for a crime committed while on parole in this state such term of imprisonment and any period of reimprisonment that the Board of Parole may require the defendant to serve upon the revocation of his parole shall run concurrently, unless the court orders them to run consecutively.

(4) Notwithstanding any provision in this section to the contrary, if a person is convicted of an offense that is committed while he is imprisoned in a penal or reformatory institution, during an escape from imprisonment, or while he awaits imprisonment, the sentence imposed for that offense may be added to the portion of the term which remained unserved at the time of the commission of the offense.

(5) Notwithstanding any provision in this chapter to the contrary, if a person is convicted of an offense that is committed while he is imprisoned in a penal or reformatory institution the sentence imposed for that offense may, upon order of the trial court be served in that institution.

Section 282. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) An indeterminate sentence of imprisonment commences when the prisoner is received in an institution under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections. When a person is under more than one indeterminate sentence, the sentences shall be calculated as follows:

(a) If the sentences run concurrently, the maximum terms merge in and are satisfied by discharge of the term which has the longest unexpired time to run; or

(b) If the sentences run consecutively, the maximum terms are added to arrive at an aggregate maximum term equal to the sum of all the maximum terms.

(2) A definite sentence of imprisonment commences when the prisoner is received in the institution named in the commitment. When a person is under more than one definite sentence, the sentences shall be calculated as follows:

(a) If the sentences run concurrently, the terms merge in and are satisfied by discharge of the term which has the longest unexpired time to run; or

(b) If the sentences run consecutively, the terms are added to arrive at an aggregate term and are satisfied by discharge of such aggregate term.

(3) Time spent in custody prior to the commencement of a sentence as a result of the charge that culminated in the sentence shall be credited by the court imposing sentence toward service of the maximum term of imprisonment. If the sentence is to an indeterminate term of imprisonment, the time spent in custody prior to the commencement of such sentence shall be considered for all purposes as time served in prison.

(4) If a person has been in custody due to a charge that culminated in a dismissal, acquittal, or other disposition not amounting to a conviction, the amount of time that would have been credited under subsection (3) if the defendant had been convicted of that charge shall be credited as provided in subsection (3) against any sentence based on a charge for which a warrant or commitment was lodged during the pendency of that custody.

(5) If a person serving a sentence of imprisonment escapes from custody, the escape interrupts the sentence. The interruption continues until the person is returned to the institution from which he escaped or to an institution administered by the Department of Corrections. Time spent in actual custody prior to return under this subsection shall be credited against the sentence if custody rested solely on an arrest or surrender for the escape itself.

Section 283. KRS Chapter 533 is established and a new section thereof is created to read as follows:

(1) Any person who has been convicted of a crime and who has not been sentenced to death or life imprisonment without privilege of parole may be sentenced to probation or conditional discharge as provided in this chapter.

(2) Before imposition of a sentence of imprisonment the court shall consider the possibility of probation or conditional discharge. After due consideration of the nature and circumstances of the crime and the history, character and condition of the defendant, probation or conditional discharge should be granted unless the court is of the opinion that imprisonment is necessary for protection of the public because:

(a) There is substantial risk that during a period of probation or conditional discharge the defendant will commit another crime; or

(b) The defendant is in need of correctional treatment that can be provided most effectively by his commitment to a correctional institution; or

(c) A disposition under this chapter will unduly depreciate the seriousness of the defendant's crime.

Section 284. A new section of KRS Chapter 533 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a person who has been convicted of an offense or who has entered a plea of guilty to an offense is not sentenced to imprisonment, the court shall place him on probation if he is in need of the supervision, guidance, assistance or direction that the probation service can provide. Conditions of probation shall be imposed as provided in section 285 of this Act, but the court may modify or enlarge the conditions or, if the defendant commits an additional offense or violates a condition, revoke the sentence at any time prior to the expiration or termination of the period of probation.

(2) When a person who has been convicted of an offense or who has entered a plea of guilty to an offense is not sentenced to imprisonment, the court may sentence him to conditional discharge if it is of the opinion that the defendant should conduct himself according to conditions determined by the court but that probationary supervision is inappropriate. Conditions of conditional discharge shall be imposed as provided in section 285 of this Act, but the court may modify or enlarge the conditions or, if the defendant commits an additional offense or violates a condition, revoke the sentence at any time prior to the expiration or termination of the period of conditional discharge.

(3) The period of probation or conditional discharge shall be fixed by the court and at any time may be extended or shortened by duly entered court order. Such period, with extensions thereof, shall not exceed five years upon conviction of a felony nor two years upon conviction of a misdemeanor. Upon completion of the probationary period or the period of conditional discharge, the defendant shall be deemed finally discharged, provided no warrant issued by the court is pending against him, and probation or conditional discharge has not been revoked.

(4) Notwithstanding the fact that a sentence to probation or conditional discharge can subsequently be modified or revoked, a judgment which includes such a sentence shall constitute a final judgment for purposes of appeal.

Section 285. A new section of KRS Chapter 533 is created to read as follows:

(1) The conditions of probation and conditional discharge shall be such as the court, in its discretion, deems reasonably necessary to insure that the defendant will lead a law-abiding life or to assist him to do so. The court shall provide as an explicit condition of every sentence to probation or conditional discharge that the defendant not commit another offense during the period for which the sentence remains subject to revocation.

(2) When imposing a sentence of probation or conditional discharge, the court may, in addition to any other reasonable condition, require that the defendant:

- (a) Avoid injurious or vicious habits;
- (b) Avoid persons or places of disreputable or harmful character;
- (c) Work faithfully at suitable employment as far as possible;
- (d) Make reparation or restitution, in an amount to be determined by the court, to an aggrieved party for damage or loss caused by his offense;
- (e) Undergo available medical or psychiatric treatment and remain in a specific institution as required for that purpose;
- (f) Post a bond, without surety, conditioned on performance of any of the prescribed conditions;
- (g) Support his dependents and meet other family responsibilities;
- (h) Pay the cost of the proceeding as set by the court;
- (i) Remain within a specified area;
- (j) Report to the probation officer as directed;
- (k) Permit the probation officer to visit him at his home or elsewhere; and
- (l) Answer all reasonable inquiries by the probation officer and promptly notify the probation officer of any change in address or employment.

(3) When a defendant is sentenced to probation or conditional discharge, he shall be given a written statement explicitly setting forth the conditions under which he is being released.

(4) When imposing a sentence of probation or conditional discharge, the court, in addition to conditions imposed under this section, may require as a condition of the sentence that the defendant submit to a period of imprisonment in the county jail at whatever time or intervals, consecutive or nonconsecutive, the court shall determine. The time actually spent in confinement pursuant to this provision shall not exceed six months or the maximum term of imprisonment assessed pursuant to KRS Chapter 532, whichever is the shorter. Time spent in custody under this subsection shall be credited against the maximum term of imprisonment assessed for the defendant pursuant to KRS Chapter 532, if probation or conditional discharge is revoked and the defendant is sentenced to imprisonment.

Section 286. A new section of KRS Chapter 533 is created to read as follows:

(1) A period of probation or conditional discharge commences on the day it is imposed. Multiple periods, whether imposed at the same or different times, run concurrently.

(2) If a court, as authorized by law, determines that a defendant violated the conditions of his probation or conditional discharge but reinstates probation or conditional discharge, the period between the date of the violation and the date of restoration of probation or conditional discharge is not computed as a part of the period of probation or conditional discharge.

(3) A sentence of probation or conditional discharge shall run concurrently with any federal or state jail, prison or parole term for another offense to which the defendant is or becomes subject during the period, unless such sentence of probation or conditional discharge is revoked. Such revocation must take place prior to parole under or expiration of the sentence of imprisonment or within ninety days after the grounds for revocation come to the attention of the Department of Corrections, whichever occurs first.

Section 287. A new section of KRS Chapter 533 is created to read as follows:

(1) At any time before the discharge of the defendant or the termination of the sentence of probation or conditional discharge:

(a) The court may summon the defendant to appear before it or may issue a warrant for his arrest upon a finding of probable cause to believe that he has failed to comply with a condition of the sentence; or

(b) A probation officer, or peace officer acting at the direction of a probation officer, who sees the defendant violate the terms of his probation or conditional discharge may arrest the defendant without a warrant.

(2) The court may not revoke or modify the conditions of a sentence of probation or conditional discharge except after a hearing with defendant represented by counsel and following a written notice of the grounds for revocation or modification.

Section 288. KRS Chapter 534 is established and a new section thereof is created to read as follows:

The following definition applies in this chapter unless the context otherwise requires:

"Gain" means the amount of money or the value of property derived from the commission of the crime, less the amount of money or the value of property returned to the victim of the crime or seized by or surrendered to lawful authority prior to the time sentence is imposed.

Section 289. A new section of KRS Chapter 534 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a defendant is sentenced to pay a fine, the court may provide for payment to be made within a specified period of time or in specified installments. If no such provision is made a part of the sentence, the fine shall be payable forthwith.

(2) When a defendant is sentenced to pay a fine, an alternative sentence of imprisonment that is to be served in the event the fine is not paid shall not be imposed at the same time. The response of a court to nonpayment of a fine shall be determined only after the fine has not been paid, and only as provided in section 293 of this Act.

Section 290. A new section of KRS Chapter 534 is created to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided for an offense defined outside this code, a person who has been convicted of any felony and granted a sentence of probation or conditional discharge may be sentenced to pay a fine in an amount not to exceed $10,000 or double his gain from commission of the offense, whichever is the greater.

(2) In determining the amount and method of paying a fine for commission of a felony, the court shall consider, among others, the following factors:

(a) The defendant's ability to pay the amount of the fine;

(b) The hardship likely to be imposed on the defendant's dependents by the amount of the fine and the time and method of paying it;

(c) The impact the amount of the fine will have on the defendant's ability to make reparation or restitution to the victim; and

(d) The amount of the defendant's gain, if any, derived from the commission of the offense.

(3) When a defendant is convicted of two or more felonies committed through a single act and is sentenced to fines pursuant to subsection (1), the aggregate amount of such fines shall not exceed $10,000 or double the amount of the defendant's gain from commission of the offenses, whichever is the greater.

(4) This section does not apply to a corporation.

Section 291. A new section of KRS Chapter 534 is created to read as follows:

(1) Fines and imprisonment for misdemeanors shall not be mutually exclusive. In any case where imprisonment is authorized a fine may be levied in addition to the imprisonment or a fine may be levied as an alternative to imprisonment. Similarly, a fine may be levied in lieu of imprisonment. Whether or not the fine is to be levied as the sole penalty or as an additional or alternative penalty shall be in the discretion of the judge or jury as the case may be. If the trial is by jury then the jury shall have the discretion. This rule shall apply in all cases where a fine is not the exclusive penalty authorized by law.

(2) Except as otherwise provided for an offense defined outside this code, a person who has been convicted of any offense other than a felony may be sentenced to pay a fine in an amount not to exceed:

(a) For a Class A misdemeanor, $500; or

(b) For a Class B misdemeanor, $250; or

(c) For a Class B misdemeanor, $5,000; or

(d) For a violation, $500; or

(e) Double the amount of the defendant's gain from commission of the offense, whichever is the greater.

(2) For an offense defined outside this code for which no special corporate fine is specified, a corporation convicted of an offense may be sentenced to pay a fine in an amount not to exceed:

(a) $20,000, if the offense when committed by an individual has an authorized term of imprisonment in the penitentiary; or

(b) $10,000, if the offense when committed by an individual has an authorized term of imprisonment of not less than ninety days nor more than twelve months; or

(c) $5,000, if the offense when committed by an individual has an authorized term of imprisonment of less than ninety days; or

Section 293. A new section of KRS Chapter 534 is created to read as follows:

(1) When an individual sentenced to pay a fine defaults in the payment of the fine or any installment, the court upon motion of the prosecuting attorney or upon its own motion may require him to show cause why he should not be imprisoned for nonpayment. The court may issue a warrant of arrest or a summons for his appearance.

(2) Following an order to show cause under subsection (1), unless the defendant shows that his default was not attributable to an intentional refusal to obey the sentence of the court and not attributable to a failure on his part to make a good faith effort to obtain the necessary funds for payment, the court may order the defendant imprisoned for a term not to exceed:

(a) Six months, if the fine was imposed for the conviction of a felony; or
 (b) One-third of the maximum authorized term of imprisonment for the offense committed, if the fine was imposed for conviction of a misdemeanor; or

(3) If the default in payment of a fine is determined to be excusable under the standards set forth in subsection (2), the court may enter an order allowing the defendant additional time for payment, reducing the amount of each installment, or modifying the manner of payment in any other way. In addition the court may enter an order compelling the defendant to work for a department of local government, if:

(a) Such department, through appropriate authority, approves the defendant's employment;

(b) Such department will pay the defendant for his work at a reasonable rate of compensation;

(c) The defendant is not otherwise gainfully employed nor medically disabled; and

(d) Such employment will not cause economic hardship to the defendant or his dependents.

In the event such an order is entered the court shall designate the portion of the defendant's compensation that is to be credited toward payment of his fine, which in no event shall be more than forty percent of gross compensation.

(4) When a fine is imposed on a corporation, it is the duty of the person or persons authorized to make disbursement of the assets of the corporation and their superiors to pay the fine from assets of the corporation. The failure of such persons to do so shall render them subject to imprisonment under subsections (1) and (2).

(5) Following a default in the payment of a fine or any installment thereof, the fine may be collected by any means authorized for the enforcement of money judgments rendered in favor of the Commonwealth.

The Committee Substitute for HB 232 is as follows:

HB 232, AN ACT relating to the Kentucky Penal Code.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

Section 1. KRS Chapter 500 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:
This Act shall be known as the Kentucky Penal Code.

Section 2. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) Common law offenses are abolished and no act or omission shall constitute a criminal offense unless designated a crime or violation under this code or another statute of this state.

(2) This provision shall not affect the power of a court to punish for contempt or to employ any sanction authorized by law for the enforcement of an order or a civil judgment or decree.

Section 3. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

All provisions of this code shall be liberally construed according to the fair import of their terms, to promote justice, and to effect the objects of the law.

Section 4. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) The provisions of this code shall not apply to any offense committed prior to its effective date, notwithstanding the provisions of KRS 446.110. Such an offense must be construed and punished according to the provisions of law existing at the time of the commission thereof in the same manner as if this code had not been enacted.

(2) This code shall not bar, suspend or otherwise affect any right or liability to damages, penalty, forfeiture or other remedy authorized by law to be recovered or enforced in a civil action.

(3) For purposes of this section, an offense shall be deemed to have been committed prior to the effective date of this code if any element of the offense occurred prior thereto.

Section 5. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise expressly provided, the prosecution of a felony is not subject to a period of limitation and may be commenced at any time.

(2) Except as otherwise expressly provided, the prosecution of an offense other than a felony must be commenced within one year after it is committed.

(3) For purposes of this section, an offense is committed either when every element occurs, or if a legislative purpose to prohibit a continuing course of conduct plainly appears, at the time when the course of conduct or the defendant's complicity therein is terminated.

Section 6. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided in this section, a person may be convicted under the law of this state of an offense committed by his own conduct or the conduct of another for which he is legally accountable when:

(a) Either the conduct or the result which is an element of the offense occurs within this state; or
(b) Conduct occurring outside the state is sufficient to constitute an attempt to commit an offense within the state; or

(c) Conduct occurring outside the state is sufficient to constitute a conspiracy to commit an offense within the state and an overt act in furtherance of the conspiracy occurs within the state; or

(d) Conduct occurring within this state establishes complicity in the commission of, or an attempt, solicitation or conspiracy to commit, an offense in another jurisdiction which is also an offense under the law of this state; or

(e) The offense consists of the omission to perform a legal duty imposed by the law of this state regardless of where that person is when the omission occurs; or

(f) The offense is a violation of a statute of this state that expressly prohibits conduct outside the state.

(2) Subsection (1)(a) does not apply if causing a particular result is an element of an offense and the result is caused by conduct occurring outside the state that would not constitute an offense if the result had occurred there, unless the actor intentionally or knowingly caused the result within the state.

(3) When the offense is homicide, either the death of the victim or the bodily impact causing death constitutes a "result" within the meaning of subsection (1)(a). If the body of a homicide victim is found within this state, it shall be prima facie evidence that the result occurred within the state.

Section 7. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) The Commonwealth has the burden of proving every element of the case beyond a reasonable doubt, except as provided in subsection (3). This provision, however, does not require disproof of any element that is entitled a "defense," as that term is used in this code, unless the evidence tending to support the defense is of such probative force that in the absence of countervailing evidence the defendant would be entitled to a directed verdict of acquittal.

(2) No court can require notice of a defense prior to trial time.

(3) The defendant has the burden of proving an element of a case only if the statute which contains that element provides that the defendant may prove such element in exculpation of his conduct.

Section 8. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

As used in the Kentucky Penal Code, unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Actor" means any natural person and, where relevant, a corporation or an unincorporated association.

(2) "Crime" means a misdemeanor or a felony.

(3) "Dangerous instrument" means any instrument, article, or substance which, under the circumstances in which it is used, attempted to be used, or threatened to be used, is readily capable of causing death or serious physical injury.

(4) "Deadly weapon" means any weapon from which a shot, readily capable of producing death or other serious physical injury, may be discharged, or a switchblade knife, gravity knife, billy, blackjack, or metal knuckles.

(5) "Felony" means an offense for which a sentence to a term of imprisonment of at least one year in the custody of the Department of Corrections may be imposed.

(6) "Government" means the United States, any state, county, municipality, or other political unit, or any department, agency or subdivision of any of the foregoing, or any corporation or other association carrying out the functions of government.

(7) "He" means any natural person and, where relevant, a corporation or an unincorporated association.

(8) "Law" includes statutes, ordinances, and properly adopted regulatory provisions. Unless the context otherwise clearly requires, "law" also includes the common law.

(9) "Minor" means any person who has not reached the age of majority as defined in KRS 2.015.

(10) "Misdemeanor" means an offense, other than a traffic infraction, for which a sentence to a term of imprisonment of not more than twelve months can be imposed.

(11) "Offense" means conduct for which a sentence to a term of imprisonment or to a fine is provided by any law of this state or by any law, local law or ordinance of a political subdivision of this state or by any law, order, rule or regulation of any governmental instrumentality authorized by law to adopt the same.

(12) "Person" means human being, and where appropriate, a public or private corporation, an unincorporated association, a partnership, a government or a governmental authority.

(13) "Physical injury" means substantial physical pain or any impairment of physical condition.

(14) "Possession" means to have actual physical possession or otherwise to exercise actual dominion or control over a tangible object.

(15) "Serious physical injury" means physical injury which creates a substantial risk of death, or which causes serious and prolonged disfigurement, prolonged impairment of health, or prolonged loss or impairment of the function of any bodily organ.

(16) "Unlawful" means contrary to law or, where the context so requires, not permitted by law. It does not mean wrongful or immoral.

(17) "Violation" means an offense, other than a traffic infraction, for which a sentence to a fine only can be imposed.

Section 9. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

(1) All property which is subject to forfeiture under any section of the Kentucky Penal Code shall be disposed of in accordance with this section.

(a) Property which is forfeited under any section of this code may, upon order of the trial court, be destroyed by the sheriff of the county in which the conviction was obtained.

(b) Property which is forfeited under any section of this code may, upon order of the trial court, be sold at public auction. The expenses of keeping and selling such property and the amount of all valid recorded liens that are established by intervention as being bona fide shall be paid out of the proceeds of the sale. The balance shall be paid to the General Fund of:

(i) The state, if the trial is held in circuit court;

(ii) The county, if the trial is held in county or quarterly court;

(iii) The city, if the trial is held in police or municipal court;

(iv) The metropolitan government, if the trial is held in the court of such jurisdiction.

(c) If property which is forfeited under any section of this code is determined by the trial court to be worthless, encumbered with liens in excess of its value, or otherwise a burdensome asset, the court may abandon any interest in such property. Property which is abandoned pursuant to this section shall be returned to the lawful claimant upon payment of expenses for keeping the property.

(d) Property which is forfeited under any section of this code may, upon order of the trial court, be retained for official state use. The expenses for keeping and transferring such property shall be paid by the state.

(2) Money which has been obtained or conferred in violation of any section of this code shall, upon conviction, be forfeited for the use of:

- (i) The state, if the trial is held in circuit court;
- (ii) The county, if the trial is held in county or quarterly court;
- (iii) The city, if the trial is held in police or municipal court;
- (iv) The metropolitan government, if the trial is held in the court of such jurisdiction. This subsection shall not apply when, during the course of the proceeding in which the conviction is obtained, the person from whom said money was unlawfully acquired is identified.

(3) Property forfeited under any section of this code shall be disposed of in accordance with this section only after being advertised pursuant to KRS Chapter 424. This subsection shall not apply to property which is designed and suitable only for criminal use or to money forfeited under subsection (2) of this section;

(4) The trial court shall remit the forfeiture of property when the lawful claimant:

- (a) Asserts his claim before disposition of the property pursuant to this section;
- (b) Establishes his legal interest in the property; and
- (c) Establishes that the unlawful use of the property was without his knowledge and consent.

Subsection (4) shall not apply to a lienholder of record when the trial court elects to dispose of the property pursuant to subsection (1)(b) of this section.

(5) For purposes of this section, "lawful claimant" means owner or lienholder of record.

(6) Before forfeiture of any property under this section it shall be the duty of the trial court to determine if a lawful owner or claimant to the property has been identified or is identifiable. If a lawful owner or claimant has been identified or is identifiable the court shall notify the owner or claimant that the property is being held and specify a reasonable period of time during which the claim may be made, or may, in lieu thereof, order the return of the property to the lawful owner or claimant. If the lawful owner or claimant does not assert his claim to the property after notification or if he renounces his claim to the property, the property shall be disposed of as provided in this section. It shall be the duty of all peace officers and other public officers or officials having knowledge of the lawful owner or claimant of property subject to forfeiture to report the same to the trial court before the act of forfeiture occurs.

Section 10. A new section of KRS Chapter 500 is created to read as follows:

The Commentary accompanying this code may be used as an aid in construing the provisions of this code.

Section 11. KRS Chapter 501 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

The following definitions apply in this chapter:

(1) "Culpable mental state" means "intentionally" or "knowingly" or "wantonly" or "recklessly," as these terms are defined in section 12 of this Act.

(2) "Intoxication" means a disturbance of mental or physical capacities resulting from the introduction of substances into the body.

(3) "Voluntary act" means a bodily movement performed consciously as a result of effort or determination and includes the possession of property if the actor was aware of his physical possession or control thereof for a sufficient period to have been able to terminate it.

(4) "Voluntary intoxication" means intoxication caused by substances which the defendant knowingly introduces into his body, the tendency of which to cause intoxication he knows or ought to know, unless he introduces them pursuant to medical advice or under such duress as would afford a defense to a charge of crime.

Section 12. A new section of Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

The following definitions apply in the Kentucky Penal Code:

(1) "Intentionally" - A person acts intentionally with respect to a result or to conduct described by a statute defining an offense when his conscious objective is to cause that result or to engage in that conduct.

(2) "Knowingly" - A person acts knowingly with respect to conduct or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense when he is aware that his conduct is of that nature or that the circumstance exists.

(3) "Wantonly" - A person acts wantonly with respect to a result or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense when he is aware of and consciously disregards a substantial and unjustifiable risk that the result will occur or that the circumstance exists. The risk must be of such nature and degree that disregard thereof constitutes a gross deviation from the standard of conduct that a reasonable person would observe in the situation. A person who creates such a risk but is unaware thereof solely by reason of voluntary intoxication also acts wantonly with respect thereto.

(4) "Recklessly" - A person acts recklessly with respect to a result or to a circumstance described by a statute defining an offense when he fails to perceive a substantial and unjustifiable risk that the result will occur or that the circumstance exists. The risk must be of such nature and degree that failure to perceive it constitutes a gross deviation from the standard of care that a reasonable person would observe in the situation.

Section 13. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

A person is not guilty of a criminal offense unless:

(1) He has engaged in conduct which includes a voluntary act or the omission to perform a duty which the law imposes upon him and which he is physically capable of performing; and

(2) He has engaged in such conduct intentionally, knowingly, wantonly or recklessly as the law may require, with respect to each element of the offense, except that this requirement does not apply to any offense which imposes absolute liability, as defined in section 15 of this Act.

Section 14. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

Although no culpable mental state is expressly designated in a statute defining an offense, a culpable mental state may nevertheless be required for the commission of such offense, or with respect to some or all of the material elements thereof, if the proscribed conduct necessarily involves such culpable mental state.

Section 15. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

A person may be guilty of an offense without having one of the culpable mental states defined in section 12 of this Act only when:

(1) The offense is a violation or a misdemeanor as defined in section 8 of this Act and no particular culpable mental state is included within the definition of the offense; or

(2) The offense is defined by a statute other than this Penal Code and the statute clearly indicates a legislative purpose to impose absolute liability for the conduct described.

Section 16. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

(1) Conduct is the cause of a result when it is an antecedent without which the result in question would not have occurred.

(2) When intentionally causing a particular result is an element of an offense, the element is not established if the actual result is not within the intention or the contemplation of the actor unless:

(a) The actual result differs from that intended or contemplated, as the case may be, only in the respect that a different person or different property is injured or affected or that the injury or harm intended or contemplated would have been more serious or more extensive; or

(b) The actual result involves the same kind of injury or harm as that intended or contemplated and occurs in a manner which the actor knows or should know is rendered substantially more probable by his conduct.

(3) When wantonly or recklessly causing a particular result is an element of an offense, the element is not established if the actual result is not within the risk of which the actor is aware or, in the case of recklessness, of which he should be aware unless:

(a) The actual result differs from the probable result only in the respect that a different person or different property is injured or affected or that the probable injury or harm would have been more serious or more extensive than that caused; or

(b) The actual result involves the same kind of injury or harm as the probable result and occurs in a manner which the actor knows or should know is rendered substantially more probable by his conduct.

(4) The question of whether an actor knew or should have known the result he caused was rendered substantially more probable by his conduct is an issue of fact.

Section 17. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person's ignorance or mistake as to a matter of fact or law does not relieve him of criminal liability unless:

(a) Such ignorance or mistake negatives the existence of the culpable mental state required for commission of an offense; or

(b) The statute under which he is charged or a statute related thereto expressly provides that such ignorance or mistake constitutes a defense or exemption; or

(c) Such ignorance or mistake is of a kind that supports a defense of justification as defined in this Penal Code.

(2) When ignorance or mistake relieves a person of criminal liability under subsection (1) but he would be guilty of another offense had the situation been as he supposed it was, he may be convicted of that other offense.

(3) A person's mistaken belief that his conduct, as a matter of law, does not constitute an offense does not relieve him of criminal liability, unless such mistaken belief is actually founded upon an official statement of the law, afterward determined to be invalid or erroneous, contained in:

(a) A statute or other enactment; or

(b) A judicial decision, opinion or judgment; or

(c) An administrative order or grant of permission; or

(d) An official interpretation of the public officer or body charged by law with responsibility for the interpretation, administration or enforcement of the law defining the offense.

Section 18. A new section of Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

Intoxication is a defense to a criminal charge only if such condition either;

(a) Negatives the existence of an element of the offense; or

(b) Is not voluntarily produced and deprives the defendant of substantial capacity either to appreciate the criminality of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law.

Section 19. A new section of KRS Chapter 501 is created to read as follows:

(1) In any prosecution for an offense other than an intentional homicide, it is a defense that the defendant engaged in the proscribed conduct because he was coerced to do so by the use of, or a threat of the use of, unlawful physical force against him or another person which a person in his situation could not reasonably be expected to resist.

(2) The defense provided by subsection (1) is unavailable if the defendant intentionally or wantonly placed himself in a situation in which it was probable that he would be subjected to coercion.

Section 20. KRS Chapter 502 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of an offense committed by an innocent or irresponsible person when he:

(a) Acts with the culpability that is sufficient for commission of that offense; and

(b) Causes that innocent or irresponsible person to engage in conduct constituting the offense.

(2) As used in this section, an "innocent or irresponsible person" includes anyone who is not guilty of the offense in question, despite his participation, because of:

(a) Criminal irresponsibility or other legal incapacity or exemption; or

(b) Unawareness of the criminal nature of the conduct in question or the defendant's criminal purpose; or

(c) Any other factor precluding the mental state sufficient for the commission of the offense in question.

Section 21. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of an offense committed by another person when, with the intention of promoting or facilitating the commission of the offense, he:

(a) Solicits, commands, or engages in a conspiracy with such other person to commit the offense; or

(b) Aids, counsels, or attempts to aid such person in planning or committing the offense; or

(c) Having a legal duty to prevent the commission of the offense, fails to make a proper effort to do so.

(2) When causing a particular result is an element of an offense, a person who acts with the kind of culpability with respect to the result that is sufficient for the commission of the offense is guilty of that offense when he:

(a) Solicits or engages in a conspiracy with another person to engage in the conduct causing such result; or

(b) Aids, counsels, or attempts to aid another person in planning, or engaging in the conduct causing such result; or

(c) Having a legal duty to prevent the conduct causing the result, fails to make a proper effort to do so.

Section 22. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

In any prosecution for an offense in which the criminal liability of the accused is based upon the conduct of another person pursuant to sections 20 and 21 of this Act, it is no defense that:

(1) Such other person has not been prosecuted for or convicted of any offense based on the conduct in question, or has previously been acquitted thereof, or has been convicted of a different offense, or has an immunity to prosecution or conviction for such conduct; or

(2) The offense in question, as defined, can be committed only by a particular class or classes of persons, and the accused, not belonging to such class or classes, is for that reason legally incapable of committing the offense in an individual capacity.

Section 23. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

A person is not guilty under sections 20 or 21 of this Act for an offense committed by another person when:

(1) The offense is so defined that his conduct is inevitably incident to its commission; or

(2) Prior to the commission of the offense, he manifests a voluntary and complete renunciation, as defined in section 54 of this Act, of his criminal purposes and:

(a) Deprives his prior effort of its effectiveness in such commission; or

(b) Gives timely warning to the proper law enforcement authorities or otherwise makes proper effort to prevent commission of the offense.

Section 24. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

(1) A corporation is guilty of an offense when:

(a) The conduct constituting the offense consists of a failure to discharge a specific duty imposed upon corporations by law; or

(b) The conduct constituting the offense is engaged in, authorized, commanded or wantonly tolerated by the board of directors or by a high managerial agent acting within the scope of his employment in behalf of the corporation; or

(c) The conduct constituting the offense is engaged in by an agent of the corporation acting within the scope of his employment and in behalf of the corporation and:

(i) The offense is a misdemeanor or violation; or

(ii) The offense is one defined by a statute which clearly indicates a legislative intent to impose such criminal liability on a corporation.

(2) As used in this section:

(a) "Agent" means any officer, director, servant or employe of the corporation or any other person authorized to act in behalf of the corporation.

(b) "High managerial agent" means an officer of a corporation or any other agent of a corporation who has duties of such responsibility that his conduct reasonably may be assumed to represent the policy of the corporation.

Section 25. A new section of KRS Chapter 502 is created to read as follows:

A person is criminally liable for conduct constituting an offense which he performs or causes to be performed in the name of or in behalf of a corporation to the same extent as if the conduct were performed in his own name or behalf.

Section 26. KRS Chapter 503 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

The following definitions apply in this chapter unless the context otherwise requires:

(1) "Deadly physical force" means force which is used with the purpose of causing death or serious physical injury or which the defendant knows to create a substantial risk of causing death or serious physical injury.

(2) "Dwelling" means any building or structure, though movable or temporary which is for the time being either totally or partially the defendant's home or place of lodging.

(3) "Physical force" means force used upon or directed toward the body of another person and includes confinement.

Section 27. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

In any prosecution for an offense, justification, as defined in this chapter, is a defense.

Section 28. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) Unless inconsistent with the ensuing sections of this code defining justifiable use of physical force or with some other provisions of law, conduct which would otherwise constitute an offense is justifiable when the defendant believes it to be necessary to avoid an imminent public or private injury greater than the injury which is sought to be prevented by the statute defining the offense charged, except that no justification can exist under this section for an intentional homicide.

(2) When the defendant believes that conduct which would otherwise constitute an offense is necessary for the purpose described in subsection (1), but is wanton or reckless in having such belief, or when the defendant is wanton or reckless in bringing about a situation requiring the conduct described in subsection (1), the justification afforded by this section is unavailable in a prosecution for any offense for which wantonness or recklessness, as the case may be, suffices to establish culpability.

Section 29. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) Unless inconsistent with the ensuing sections of this code defining justifiable use of physical force or with some other provisions of law, conduct which would otherwise constitute an offense is justifiable when it is required or authorized by a provision of law imposing a public duty or by a judicial decree.

(2) The justification afforded by subsection (1) applies when:

(a) The defendant believes his conduct to be required or authorized by the judgment or direction of a competent court or tribunal or in the lawful execution of legal process, notwithstanding lack of jurisdiction of the court or defect in the legal process; or

(b) The defendant believes his conduct to be required or authorized to assist a public officer in the performance of his duties, notwithstanding that the officer exceeded his legal authority.

Section 30. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant believes that such force is necessary to protect himself against the use or imminent use of unlawful physical force by the other person.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable under subsection (1) only when the defendant believes that such force is necessary to protect himself against death, serious physical injury, kidnapping, or sexual intercourse compelled by force or threat.

Section 31. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 30 of this Act, the use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is not justifiable when:

(1) The defendant is resisting an arrest by a peace officer, recognized to be acting under color of official authority and using no more force than reasonably necessary to effect the arrest, although the arrest is unlawful; or

(2) The defendant, with the intention of causing death or serious physical injury to the other person, provokes the use of physical force by such other person; or

(3) The defendant was the initial aggressor, except that his use of physical force upon the other person under this circumstance is justifiable when:

(a) His initial physical force was non-deadly and the force returned by the other is such that he believes himself to be in imminent danger of death or serious physical injury; or

(b) He withdraws from the encounter and effectively communicates to the other person his intent to do so and the latter nevertheless continues or threatens the use of unlawful physical force.

Section 32. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when:

(a) The defendant believes that such force is necessary to protect a third person against the use or imminent use of unlawful physical force by the other person; and

(b) Under the circumstances as the defendant believes them to be, the person whom he seeks to protect would himself have been justified under sections 30 and 31 of this Act in using such protection.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when:

(a) The defendant believes that such force is necessary to protect a third person against imminent death, serious physical injury, kidnapping or sexual intercourse compelled by force or threat; and

(b) Under the circumstances as they actually exist, the person whom he seeks to protect would himself have been justified under sections 30 and 31 of this Act in using such protection.

Section 33. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant believes that such force is immediately necessary to prevent:

(a) The commission of criminal trespass or burglary in a dwelling, building or upon real property in his possession or in the possession of another person for whose protection he acts; or

(b) Theft, criminal mischief, or any trespassory taking of tangible, movable property in his possession or in the possession of another person for whose protection he acts.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable under subsection (1) only when the defendant believes that the person against whom such force is used is:

(a) Attempting to dispossess him of his dwelling otherwise than under a claim of right to its possession; or

(b) Committing or attempting to commit a burglary of such dwelling; or

(c) Committing or attempting to commit arson of a dwelling or other building in his possession.

Section 34. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant, acting under official authority, is making or assisting in making an arrest, and he:

(a) Believes that such force is necessary to effect the arrest;

(b) Makes known the purpose of the arrest or believes that it is otherwise known or cannot reasonably be made known to the person to be arrested; and

(c) Believes the arrest to be lawful.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable under subsection (1) only when:

(a) The defendant, in effecting the arrest, is authorized to act as a peace officer; and

(b) The arrest is for a felony involving the use or threatened use of physical force likely to cause death or serious physical injury; and

(c) The defendant believes that the person to be arrested is likely to endanger human life unless apprehended without delay.

(3) The use of physical force, including deadly physical force, by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is preventing the escape of an arrested person and when the force could justifiably have been used to effect the arrest under which the person is in custody, except that a guard or other person authorized to act as a peace officer is justified in using any force, including deadly force, which he believes to be necessary to prevent the escape of a person from jail, prison, or other institution for the detention of persons charged with or convicted of a crime.

Section 35. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant believes that such force is immediately necessary to prevent such other person from:

(a) Committing suicide or inflicting serious physical injury upon himself; or
(b) Committing a crime involving or threatening serious physical injury to person, substantial damage to or loss of property, or any other violent conduct.

(2) The use of deadly physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable under subsection (1)(b) only when the defendant believes that the person whom he seeks to prevent from committing a crime is likely to endanger human life.

(3) The limitations imposed on the justifiable use of force in self-protection by sections 30 and 31, for the protection of other by section 32, for the protection of property by section 33, and for the effectuation of an arrest or the prevention of an escape by section 34 of this Act apply notwithstanding the criminality of the conduct against which such force is used.

Section 36. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a parent, guardian or other person entrusted with the care and supervision of a minor or an incompetent person or when the defendant is a teacher or other person entrusted with the care and supervision of a minor, for a special purpose, and:

(a) The defendant believes that the force used is necessary to promote the welfare of a minor or incompetent person or, if the defendant's responsibility for the minor or incompetent person is for a special purpose, to further that special purpose or maintain reasonable discipline in a school, class or other group; and

(b) The force that is used is not designed to cause or known to create a substantial risk of causing death, serious physical injury, disfigurement, extreme pain, or extreme mental distress.

(2) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a warden or other authorized official of a correctional institution, and:

(a) The defendant believes that the force used is necessary for the purpose of enforcing the lawful rules of the institution;

(b) The degree of force used is not forbidden by any statute governing the administration of the institution; and

(c) If deadly force is used, its use is otherwise justifiable under this code.

(3) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a person responsible for the operation of or the maintenance of order in a vehicle or other carrier of passengers and the defendant believes that such force is necessary to prevent interference with its operation or to maintain order in the vehicle or other carrier, except that deadly physical force may be used only when the defendant believes it necessary to prevent death or serious physical injury.

(4) The use of physical force by a defendant upon another person is justifiable when the defendant is a doctor or other therapist or a person assisting him at his direction, and:

(a) The force is used for the purpose of administering a recognized form of treatment which the defendant believes to be adapted to promoting the physical or mental health of the patient; and

(b) The treatment is administered with the consent of the patient or, if the patient is a minor or an incompetent person, with the consent of the parent, guardian, or other person legally competent to consent in his behalf, or the treatment is administered in an emergency when the defendant believes that no one competent to consent can be consulted and that a reasonable person, wishing to safeguard the welfare of the patient, would consent.

Section 37. A new section of KRS Chapter 503 is created to read as follows:

(1) When the defendant believes that the use of force upon or toward the person of another is necessary for any of the purposes for which such belief would establish a justification under sections 30 to 36 of this Act but the defendant is wanton or reckless in believing the use of any force, or the degree of force used, to be necessary or in acquiring or failing to acquire any knowledge or belief which is material to the justifiability of his use of force, the justification afforded by those sections is unavailable in a prosecution for an offense for which wantonness or recklessness, as the case may be, suffices to establish culpability.

(2) When the defendant is justified under sections 30 to 36 of this Act in using force upon or toward the person of another, but he wantonly or recklessly injures or creates a risk of injury to innocent persons, the justification afforded by those sections is unavailable in a prosecution for an offense involving wantonness or recklessness toward innocent persons.

Section 38. KRS Chapter 504 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

Lack of criminal responsibility because of immaturity is a defense to any prosecution for an offense. A person is immature for purposes of this section when, at the time of the conduct charged to constitute an offense, he was:

(1) Less than sixteen years of age, except that a person of this age shall not be deemed immature if the juvenile court has no jurisdiction over him nor shall he be deemed immature if the offense charged against him is a Class A felony or capital offense and the juvenile court has entered an order waiving jurisdiction; or

(2) Sixteen but less than eighteen years of age, except that a person of this age shall not be deemed immature if the juvenile court has no jurisdiction over him nor shall he be deemed immature if the offense against him is a felony and the juvenile court has entered an order waiving jurisdiction.

Section 39. A new section of KRS Chapter 504 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is not responsible for criminal conduct if at the time of such conduct, as a result of mental disease or defect, he lacks substantial capacity either to appreciate the criminality of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of law.

(2) As used in this chapter, the term "mental disease or defect" does not include an abnormality manifested only by repeated criminal or otherwise anti-social conduct.

(3) A defendant may prove mental disease or defect, as used in this section, in exculpation of criminal conduct.

Section 40. A new section of KRS Chapter 504 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a defendant is acquitted of an offense for lack of criminal responsibility by reason of mental disease or defect, as defined in section 39 of this Act, the court may on motion of the prosecuting attorney or on its own motion proceed immediately to have the defendant committed for examination and possible detention pursuant to the provisions of KRS Chapter 202.

(2) To facilitate the procedure established in subsection (1), the court, if it has reasonable grounds to believe that the defendant will cause injury to himself or others if not immediately restrained, may order him to be hospitalized in a state hospital for a period not to exceed seven consecutive days. The order of commitment under this subsection shall be pursuant to and under the authority of KRS 202.027 and shall be subject to all of the provisions of that statute.

Section 41. A new section of KRS Chapter 504 is created to read as follows:

(1) No person who, as a result of mental disease or defect, lack capacity to appreciate the nature and consequences of the proceedings against him or to participate rationally in his own defense shall be tried, convicted or sentenced for the commission of an offense, so long as such incapacity endures.

(2) When a defendant is found to have a mental disease or defect, as described in subsection (1), the court may on motion of the prosecuting attorney or on its own motion proceed immediately to have the defendant committed for examination and possible detention pursuant to the provisions of KRS Chapter 202.

Section 42. A new section of KRS Chapter 504 is created to read as follows:

(1) Evidence of mental disease or defect which is offered to show lack of criminal responsibility is not admissible unless the defendant files a written notice of his intention to rely on such defense at least 20 days prior to the day of trial or at such later time as the court may for good cause permit. Upon filing of such notice, the prosecution shall be granted reasonable time prior to trial to move for an examination of the defendant under subsection (2) and to prepare the case for the Commonwealth.

(2) Whenever the defendant has filed the notice required by subsection (1) or whenever there is reason to doubt his fitness to proceed, the court shall appoint at least one qualified psychiatrist to examine and report upon the mental condition of the defendant and, to accomplish this, may order the defendant to be committed to a state mental hospital for the purpose of an examination for a period of not more than ten days. A qualified psychiatrist retained by the defendant shall be permitted to witness and participate in the examination.

(3) As soon as practicable after the defendant has given notice of his intention to rely on the defense of mental disease or defect, but in any event no less than ten days before trial, except as provided otherwise by court for good cause shown, the prosecution shall file and serve upon the defendant the names and addresses of the witnesses the state proposes to offer in denial of the defendant's defense, along with any medical reports prepared by those witnesses in connection with the defendant's mental condition.

Section 43. KRS Chapter 505 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

(1) A person is not guilty of an offense arising out of proscribed conduct when:

(a) He was induced or encouraged to engage in that conduct by a public servant or by a person acting in cooperation with a public servant seeking to obtain evidence against him for the purpose of criminal prosecution; and

(b) At the time of the inducement or encouragement, he was not otherwise disposed to engage in such conduct.

(2) The relief afforded by subsection (1) is unavailable when:

(a) The public servant or the person acting in cooperation with a public servant merely affords the defendant an opportunity to commit an offense; or

(b) The offense charged has physical injury or the threat of physical injury as one of its elements and the prosecution is based on conduct causing or threatening such injury to a person other than the person perpetrating the entrapment.

(3) The relief provided a defendant by subsection (1) is a defense.

Section 44. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a single course of conduct of a defendant may establish the commission of more than one offense, he may be prosecuted for each such offense. He may not, however, be convicted of more than one offense when:

(a) One offense is included in the other, as defined in subsection (2); or
(b) Inconsistent findings of fact are required to establish the commission of the offenses, or
(c) The offense is designed to prohibit a continuing course of conduct and the defendant's course of conduct was uninterrupted by legal process, unless the law expressly provides that specific periods of such conduct constitute separate offenses.

(2) A defendant may be convicted of an offense that is included in any offense with which he is formally charged. An offense is so included when:

(a) It is established by proof of the same or less than all the facts required to establish the commission of the offense charged; or

(b) It consists of an attempt to commit the offense charged or to commit an offense otherwise included therein; or

(c) It differs from the offense charged only in the respect that a lesser kind of culpability suffices to establish its commission; or

(d) It differs from the offense charged only in the respect that a less serious injury or risk of injury to the same person, property or public interest suffices to establish its commission.

Section 45. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

When a prosecution is for a violation of the same statutory provision and is based upon the same facts as a former prosecution, it is barred by the former prosecution under the following circumstances:

(1) The former prosecution resulted in:

(a) An acquittal, or

(b) A conviction which has not subsequently been set aside; or

(2) The former prosecution resulted in a determination by the court, which has not subsequently been set aside, that there was insufficient evidence to warrant a conviction; or

(3) The former prosecution was terminated by a final order or judgment, which has not subsequently been set aside, and which required a determination inconsistent with any fact or legal proposition necessary to a conviction in the subsequent prosecution; or

(4) The former prosecution was improperly terminated after the first witness was sworn but before findings were rendered by a trier of fact. Termination under either of the following circumstances is not improper;

(a) The defendant expressly consents to the termination or by motion for mistrial or in some other manner waives his right to object to the termination; or

(b) The trial court, in exercise of its discretion, finds that the termination is manifestly necessary.

Section 46. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

Although a prosecution is for a violation of a different statutory provision from a former prosecution or for a violation of the same provision but based on different facts, it is barred by the former prosecution under the following circumstances:

(1) The former prosecution resulted in an acquittal, a conviction which has not subsequently been set aside, or a determination that there was insufficient evidence to warrant a conviction, and the subsequent prosecution is for:

(a) An offense of which the defendant could have been convicted at the first prosecution; or

(b) An offense involving the same conduct as the first prosecution, unless each prosecution requires proof of a fact not required in the other prosecution or unless the offense was not consummated when the former prosecution began; or

(2) The former prosecution was terminated by a final order or judgment which has not subsequently been set aside and which required a determination inconsistent with any fact necessary to a conviction in the subsequent prosecution; or

(3) The former prosecution was improperly terminated, as that term is used in subsection (4) of Section 45 of this Act, and the subsequent prosecution is for an offense of which the defendant could have been convicted had the former prosecution not been improperly terminated.

Section 47. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

When conduct constitutes an offense within the concurrent jurisdiction of this state and of the United States or another state, a prosecution in such other jurisdiction is a bar to a subsequent prosecution in this state under the following circumstances:

(1) The former prosecution resulted in an acquittal, a conviction which has not subsequently been set aside, or a determination that there was insufficient evidence to warrant a conviction, and the subsequent prosecution is for an offense involving the same conduct unless:

(a) Each prosecution requires proof of a fact not required in the other prosecution; or

(b) The offense involved in the subsequent prosecution was not consummated when the former prosecution began; or

(2) The former prosecution was terminated in a final order or judgment which has not subsequently been set aside and which required a determination inconsistent with any fact necessary to a conviction in the subsequent prosecution.

Section 48. A new section of KRS Chapter 505 is created to read as follows:

A prosecution is not barred, as provided in Sections 45, 46 and 47 of this Act if the former prosecution:

(a) Was procured by the defendant without the knowledge of the proper prosecuting officer and with the purpose of avoiding the sentence which otherwise might be imposed; or

(b) Was before a court which lacked jurisdiction over the defendant or the offense.

Section 49. KRS Chapter 506 is established and a new section thereof created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of criminal attempt to commit a crime when, acting with the kind of culpability otherwise required for commission of the crime, he:

(a) Intentionally engages in conduct which would constitute the crime if the attendant circumstances were as he believes them to be; or

(b) Intentionally does or omits to do anything which, under the circumstances as he believes them to be, is a substantial step in a course of conduct planned to culminate in his commission of the crime.

(2) Conduct shall not be held to constitute a substantial step under subsection (1)(b) unless it is an act or omission which leaves no reasonable doubt as to the defendant's intention to commit the crime which he is charged with attempting.

(3) A person is guilty of criminal attempt to commit a crime when he engages in conduct intended to aid another person to commit that crime, although the crime is not committed or attempted by the other person, provided that his conduct would establish complicity under Section 21 of this Act if the crime were committed by the other person.

(4) A criminal attempt is a:

(a) Class B felony when the crime attempted is a Class A felony or capital offense;

(b) Class C felony when the crime attempted is a Class B felony;

(c) Class A misdemeanor when the crime attempted is a Class C or D felony;

(d) Class B misdemeanor when the crime attempted is a misdemeanor.

Section 50. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) In any prosecution for criminal attempt to commit a crime, it is a defense that, under circumstances manifesting a voluntary and complete renunciation of his criminal purpose, the defendant abandoned his effort to commit the crime and, if mere abandonment was insufficient to avoid the commission of the crime, took the necessary affirmative steps to prevent its commission.

(2) A renunciation is not "voluntary and complete" within the meaning of this section if it is motivated in whole or in part by:

(a) A belief that circumstances exist which pose a particular threat of apprehension or detection of the accused or another participant in the criminal enterprise or which render more difficult the accomplishment of the criminal purpose; or

(b) A decision to postpone the criminal conduct until another time or to transfer the criminal effort to another victim or another but similar object.

Section 51. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of criminal solicitation when, with the intent of promoting or facilitating the commission of a crime, he commands or encourages another person to engage in specific conduct which would constitute that crime or an attempt to commit that crime or which would establish the other's complicity in its commission or attempted commission.

(2) A criminal solicitation is a:

(a) Class B felony when the crime solicited is a Class A felony or capital offense;

(b) Class C felony when the crime solicited is a Class B felony;

(c) Class A misdemeanor when the crime solicited is a Class C or D felony;

(d) Class B misdemeanor when the crime solicited is a misdemeanor.

Section 52. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person having the intention of promoting or facilitating the commission of a crime is guilty of criminal conspiracy when he:

(a) Agrees with one or more persons that at least one of them will engage in conduct constituting that crime or an attempt or solicitation to commit such a crime; or

(b) Agrees to aid one or more persons in the planning or commission of that crime or an attempt or solicitation to commit such a crime.

(2) A criminal conspiracy is a:

(a) Class B felony when the object of the conspiratorial agreement is a Class A felony or capital offense;

(b) Class C felony when the object of the conspiratorial agreement is a Class B felony;

(c) Class A misdemeanor when the object of the conspiratorial agreement is a Class C or D felony;

(d) Class B misdemeanor when the object of the conspiratorial agreement is a misdemeanor.

Section 53. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) No person may be convicted of conspiracy to commit a crime unless an overt act in furtherance of the conspiracy is alleged and proved to have been committed by one of the conspirators.

(2) A person who conspires to commit more than one crime, all of which are the object of the same agreement or continuous conspiratorial relationship, is guilty of only one conspiracy. The classification of this crime under subsection (2) of section 52 of this Act shall be determined by the most serious offense which he is found guilty of conspiring to commit.

(3) If a person guilty of conspiracy, as defined by section 52 of this Act, knows that a person with whom he conspires to commit a crime has conspired with another person or persons to commit the same crime, he is guilty of conspiring to commit the crime with the other person or persons, whether or not he knows their identity.

(4) No person may be convicted of conspiracy to commit a crime when an element of that crime is agreement with the person with whom he is alleged to have conspired or when that crime is so defined that his conduct is an inevitable incident to its commission.

Section 54. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) In any prosecution for criminal solicitation or criminal conspiracy in which the crime solicited or the crime contemplated by the conspiracy was not in fact committed, it is a defense that, under circumstances manifesting a voluntary and complete renunciation of his criminal purpose, the defendant prevented the commission of the crime.

(2) A renunciation is not "voluntary and complete" within the meaning of this section when it is motivated in whole or in part by:

(a) A belief that circumstances exist which pose a particular threat of apprehension or detection of the accused or another participant in the criminal enterprise or which render more difficult the accomplishment of the criminal purpose; or

(b) A decision to postpone the criminal conduct until another time or to transfer the criminal effort to another victim or another but similar object.

Section 55. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) It is no defense to a prosecution for criminal solicitation that the person solicited could not be guilty of the crime solicited because of:

(a) Criminal irresponsibility or other legal incapacity or exemption; or

(b) Unawareness of the criminal nature of the conduct solicited or of the defendant's criminal purpose; or

(c) Any other factor precluding the mental state required for the commission of the crime solicited.

(2) It is no defense to a prosecution for criminal conspiracy that a co-conspirator could not be guilty of the conspiracy or the crime contemplated by the conspiracy because of:

(a) Criminal irresponsibility or other legal incapacity or exemption; or

(b) Unawareness of the criminal nature of the conspiracy or the conduct contemplated by the conspiracy or of the defendant's criminal purpose; or

(c) Any other factor precluding the mental state required for the commission of the conspiracy or the crime contemplated by the conspiracy.

(3) A defendant cannot be convicted of conspiracy if all of his co-conspirators have been acquitted or discharged under circumstances amounting to an acquittal.

Section 56. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of criminal facilitation when, acting with knowledge that another person is committing or intends to commit a crime, he engages in conduct which knowingly provides such person with means or opportunity for the commission of the crime and which in fact aids such person to commit the crime.

(2) Criminal facilitation is a:

(a) Class D felony when the crime facilitated is a Class A or Class B felony or capital offense;

(b) Class A misdemeanor when the crime facilitated is a Class C or Class D felony;

(c) Class B misdemeanor when the crime facilitated is a misdemeanor.

Section 57. A new section of KRS Chapter 506 is created to read as follows:

In any prosecution for criminal facilitation, it is no defense that:

(1) The person facilitated could not be guilty of the crime facilitated because of criminal irresponsibility or other legal incapacity or exemption, unawareness of the criminal nature of the conduct facilitated, or any other factor precluding the mental state required for commission of the crime facilitated; or

(2) The person facilitated has not been prosecuted for or convicted of the crime facilitated, or has been convicted of a different crime, or has an immunity to prosecution or conviction for such conduct; or

(1) "Advancing gambling activity"--A person "advances gambling activity" when, acting other than as a player, he engages in conduct that materially aids any form of gambling activity. Such conduct includes but is not limited to conduct directed toward the establishment of the particular game, contest, scheme, device or activity involved; toward the acquisition or maintenance of premises, paraphernalia, equipment or apparatus therefor; toward the solicitation or inducement of persons to participate therein; toward the actual conduct of the playing phases thereof; toward the arrangement of any of its financial or recording phases or toward any other phase of its operation. A person who gambles at a social game of chance on equal terms with other participants does not otherwise advance gambling activity by performing acts, without remuneration or fee, directed toward the arrangement or facilitation of the game as inviting persons to play, permitting the use of premises therefor and supplying equipment used therein.

(2) "Bookmaking" means advancing gambling activity by unlawfully accepting bets upon the outcome of future contingent events from members of the public as a business.

(3) "Gambling" means staking or risking something of value upon the outcome of a contest, game, gaming scheme or gaming device which is based upon an element of chance, in accord with an agreement or understanding that someone will receive something of value in the event of a certain outcome.

(4) "Gambling device" means:

(a) Any so-called slot machine or any other machine or mechanical device an essential part of which is a drum or reel with insignia thereon, and which when operated may deliver, as a result of the application of an element of chance, any money or property, or by the operation of which a person may become entitled to receive, as the result of the application of an element of chance, any money or property; or

(b) Any other machine or any mechanical or other device (including but not limited to roulette wheels, gambling tables and similar devices) designed and manufactured primarily for the use in connection with gambling and which when operated may deliver, as the result of the application of an element of chance, any money or property, or by the operation of which a person may become entitled to receive, as the result of the application of an element of chance, any money or property.

(c) But, the following are not to be considered gambling devices within this definition:

(i) Devices dispensing or selling combination or French pools on licensed, regular racetracks during races on said tracks.

(ii) Electro-mechanical pinball machines specially designed, constructed, set up and kept to be played for amusement only; provided any such pinball machine shall be made to receive and react to the deposit of one five or ten cent coin and no more during the course of a game; provided the ultimate and only award given directly or indirectly to any player for the attainment of a winning score or combination on any such pinball machine shall be the right to play one or more additional games immediately on the same device at no further cost; provided the maximum number of free games that can be won, registered, or accumulated at one time in operation of any such pinball machine shall not exceed thirty free games; provided any such pinball machine shall be made to discharge accumulated free games only by reactivating the playing mechanism once for each game released; and provided any such pinball machine shall be made and kept with no meter or system to preserve a record of free games played, awarded or discharged. Nonetheless, a pinball machine shall be a gambling device if a person gives or promises to give money, tokens, merchandise, premiums or property of any kind for scores, combinations or free games obtained in playing such pinball machine in which such person has an interest as owner, operator, keeper or otherwise.

(5) "Lottery and gift enterprise" means:

(7) "Player" means a person who engages in any form of gambling solely as a contestant or bettor, without receiving or becoming entitled to receive any profit therefrom other than personal gambling winnings, and without otherwise rendering any material assistance to the establishment, conduct or operation of the particular gambling activity. A person who engages in "bookmaking" as defined in subsection (2) is not a "player." The status of a "player" shall be a defense to any prosecution under this chapter.

(8) "Profiting from gambling activity"--A person "profits from gambling activity" when, other than as a player, he accepts or receives or agrees to accept or receive money or other property pursuant to an agreement or understanding with any person whereby he participates or is to participate in the proceeds of gambling activity.

- (c) Uses, a minor to do or assist in doing any of the acts prohibited by section 266 of this Act.

(2) Using minors to distribute obscene material is a Class A misdemeanor unless the defendant has previously been convicted of violation of this section or section 267 of this Act, in which case it shall be a Class D felony.

Section 269. A new section of KRS Chapter 531 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of advertising obscene material when, having knowledge of its content and character thereof, he writes or creates advertising or solicits anyone to publish such advertising or otherwise promotes the sale or distribution of obscene matter.

(2) Advertising obscene material is a Class B misdemeanor.

Section 270. A new section of KRS Chapter 531 is created to read as follows:

(1) A person is guilty of promoting sale of obscenity when he knowingly, as a condition to a sale, allocation, consignment, or delivery for resale of any paper, magazine, book, periodical, publication or other merchandise, requires that the purchaser or consignee receive any matter reasonably believed by the purchaser or consignee to be obscene, or he denies or threatens to deny a franchise, revokes or threatens to revoke, or imposes any penalty, financial or otherwise, by reason of the failure of any person to accept such matter, or by reason of the return of such matter.

(2) Promoting sale of obscenity is a Class B misdemeanor for the first offense; a Class A misdemeanor for the second offense; and a Class D felony for each subsequent offense.

Section 271. A new section of KRS Chapter 531 is created to read as follows:

The prohibitions and penalties imposed in this chapter shall not extend to persons having a bona fide scientific, educational, governmental, or other similar justification for conduct which would, except for such justification, be criminal under this chapter.

Section 272. A new section of KRS Chapter 531 is created to read as follows:

(1) The jury, or the court, if a jury trial is waived, shall render a general verdict, and shall also render a special verdict as to whether the matter named in the charge is obscene. The special verdict or findings on the issue of obscenity may be: "We find the _____ (title or description of matter) to be obscene," or, "We find the _____ (title or description of matter) not to be obscene," as they may find each item is or is not obscene.

(2) Upon the conviction of the accused, the court may, when the conviction becomes final, order any matter or advertisement, in respect whereof the accused stands convicted, and which remains in the possession or under the control of the attorney general, commonwealth's attorney, county attorney, city attorney or their authorized assistants, or any law enforcement agency, to be destroyed, and the court may cause to be destroyed any such material in its possession or under its control.

Section 273. KRS Chapter 532 is established and a new section thereof is created to read as follows:

- (1) Felonies are classified, for the purpose of sentencing, into five categories:
 - (a) Capital offenses;
 - (b) Class A felonies;
 - (c) Class B felonies;
 - (d) Class C felonies; and
 - (e) Class D Felonies.

Section 274. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) Any offense defined outside this code for which a law outside this code provides a sentence to a term of imprisonment in the state penitentiary or reformatory for:

- (a) At least one but not more than 5 years shall be deemed a Class D felony;
- (b) At least 5 but not more than 10 years shall be deemed a Class C felony;
- (c) At least 10 but not more than 20 years shall be deemed a Class B felony;
- (d) For 20 or more years shall be deemed a Class A felony.

(2) Any offense defined outside this code for which a law outside this code provides a sentence to a definite term of imprisonment with a maximum which falls between ninety days and twelve months shall be deemed a Class A misdemeanor.

(3) Any offense defined outside this code for which a law outside this code provides a sentence to a definite term of imprisonment with a maximum of less than ninety days shall be deemed a Class B misdemeanor.

(4) Any offense defined outside this code for which a law outside this code provides a sentence to a fine but no term of imprisonment shall be deemed a violation.

Section 275. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a person is convicted of a capital offense he shall have his punishment fixed at death. However, any crime classified as a capital offense may at the discretion of the state be prosecuted as a Class A felony, provided such election to so prosecute is made at the time of indictment.

(2) When a person is convicted of a Class A felony he shall have his punishment fixed at imprisonment in accordance with section 278 of this Act.

(3) When a person is convicted of an offense other than a capital offense or Class A felony, he shall have his punishment fixed at:

- (a) A term of imprisonment authorized by this chapter; or
- (b) A fine authorized by KRS Chapter 534; or
- (c) Both imprisonment and a fine unless precluded by the provisions of KRS Chapter 534.

Section 276. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

When a person is convicted of an offense, other than a capital offense, the court, where authorized by KRS Chapter 533, may sentence such person to a period of probation or to a period of conditional discharge as provided in that chapter. A sentence to probation or conditional discharge shall be deemed a tentative one to the extent that it may be altered or revoked in accordance with KRS Chapter 533, but for purposes of appeal shall be deemed to be a final judgment of conviction. In any case where the court imposes a sentence of probation or conditional discharge, it may also impose a fine as authorized by KRS Chapter 534.

Section 277. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) No court shall impose sentence for conviction of a felony, other than a capital offense, without first ordering a presentence investigation and giving due consideration to a written report of such investigation.

(2) The report shall be prepared and presented by a probation officer and shall include an analysis of the defendant's history of delinquency or criminality, physical and mental condition, family situation and background, economic status, education, occupation, personal habits, and any other matters that the court directs to be included.

(3) Before imposing sentence for a felony conviction, the court may order the defendant to submit to psychiatric observation and examination for a period not exceeding sixty days. The defendant may be remanded for this purpose to any available clinic or mental hospital or the court may appoint a qualified psychiatrist to make the examination.

(4) Before imposing sentence, the court shall advise the defendant or his counsel of the factual contents and conclusions of any presentence investigation or psychiatric examinations and afford a fair opportunity and a reasonable period of time, if the defendant so requests, to controvert them. The sources of confidential information need not, however, be disclosed.

Section 278. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) A sentence of imprisonment for a felony shall be an indeterminate sentence, the maximum of which shall be fixed within the limits provided by subsection (2), and subject to modification by the trial judge pursuant to section 279 of this Act.

(2) The authorized maximum terms of imprisonment for felonies are:

- (a) For a Class A felony, not less than twenty years nor more than life imprisonment;
- (b) For a Class B felony, not less than ten years nor more than twenty years;
- (c) For a Class C felony, not less than five years nor more than ten years; and
- (d) For a Class D felony, not less than one year nor more than five years.

(3) The actual time of release within the maximum established by subsection (1), or as modified pursuant to section 279 of this Act, shall be determined under procedures established elsewhere by law.

Section 279. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a sentence of imprisonment for a felony is fixed by a jury pursuant to section 278 of this Act and the trial court, having regard to the nature and circumstances of the crime and to the history and character of the defendant, is of the opinion that a sentence of imprisonment is necessary but that the maximum term fixed by the jury is unduly harsh, the court may modify that sentence and fix a maximum term within the limits provided in section 278 of this Act for the offense for which the defendant presently stands convicted.

(2) When a sentence of imprisonment for a Class D felony is fixed by a jury pursuant to section 278 of this Act and the trial court, having regard to the nature and circumstances of the crime and to the history and character of the defendant, is of the opinion that a sentence of imprisonment is necessary but that it would be unduly harsh to impose such a sentence, the court may sentence the defendant to a definite term of imprisonment in a county or a regional correctional institution for a term of one year or less.

Section 280. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a defendant is found to be a persistent felony offender, the jury, in lieu of the sentence of imprisonment assessed under section 278 of this Act for the crime of which such person presently stands convicted, shall fix a sentence of imprisonment as authorized by subsection (4) of this section. When a defendant is charged with being a persistent felony offender, the determination of whether or not he is such an offender and the punishment to be imposed pursuant to subsection (4) of this section shall be determined in a separate proceeding from that proceeding which resulted in his last conviction. Such proceeding shall be conducted before the court sitting with the jury that found the defendant guilty of his most recent offense unless the court for good cause discharges that jury and impanels a new jury for that purpose.

(2) A persistent felony offender is a person who is more than twenty-one years of age and who stands convicted of a felony after having previously been convicted of two or more felonies. As used in this provision, a previous felony conviction is a conviction of a felony in this state or conviction of a crime in any other jurisdiction provided:

(a) That a sentence to a term of imprisonment of one year or more or a sentence to death was imposed therefor; and

(b) That the offender was over the age of eighteen years at the time the offense was committed; and

(c) That the defendant was imprisoned under sentence for such conviction prior to commission of the present felony.

(3) For the purpose of determining whether a person has two or more previous felony convictions, two or more convictions of crime for which that person served concurrent or uninterrupted consecutive terms of imprisonment shall be deemed to be only one conviction, unless one of the convictions was for an offense committed while that person was imprisoned.

(4) A person who is found to be a persistent felony offender shall be sentenced to imprisonment as follows:

(a) If the offense for which he presently stands convicted is a Class A felony, a persistent felony offender shall be sentenced to an indeterminate term of imprisonment with life imprisonment as the maximum; or

(b) If the offense for which he presently stands convicted is a Class B felony, a persistent felony offender shall be sentenced to an indeterminate term of imprisonment, the maximum of which shall not be less than twenty years nor more than life imprisonment; or

(c) If the offense of which he presently stands convicted is a Class C or Class D felony, a persistent felony offender shall be sentenced to an indeterminate term of imprisonment, the maximum of which shall not be less than ten years nor more than twenty years.

Section 281. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

A sentence of imprisonment for a misdemeanor shall be a definite term and shall be fixed within the following maximum limitations:

(a) For a Class A misdemeanor, the term shall not exceed twelve months; and

(b) For a Class B misdemeanor, the term shall not exceed ninety days.

Section 282. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) When an indeterminate term of imprisonment is imposed, the court shall commit the defendant to the custody of the Department of Corrections for the term of his sentence and until released in accordance with the law.

(2) When a definite term of imprisonment is imposed, the court shall commit the defendant to the county or city correctional institution or to a regional correctional institution for the term of his sentence and until released in accordance with the law.

Section 283. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) When multiple sentences of imprisonment are imposed on a defendant for more than one crime, including a crime for which a previous sentence of probation or conditional discharge has been revoked, such multiple sentences shall run concurrently or consecutively as the court shall determine at the time of sentence, except that:

(a) A definite and an indeterminate term shall run concurrently and both sentences shall be satisfied by service of the indeterminate term;

(b) The aggregate of consecutive definite terms shall not exceed one year; and

(c) The aggregate of consecutive indeterminate terms shall not exceed in maximum length the longest extended term which would be authorized by section 280 of this Act for the highest class of crime for which any of the sentences is imposed.

(2) If the court does not specify the manner in which a sentence imposed by it is to run, the sentence shall run concurrently with any other sentence which the defendant must serve.

(3) When a defendant is sentenced to imprisonment for a crime committed while on parole in this state such term of imprisonment and any period of reimprisonment that the Board of Parole may require the defendant to serve upon the revocation of his parole shall run concurrently, unless the court orders them to run consecutively.

(4) Notwithstanding any provision in this section to the contrary, if a person is convicted of an offense that is committed while he is imprisoned in a penal or reformatory institution, during an escape from imprisonment, or while he awaits imprisonment, the sentence imposed for that offense may be added to the portion of the term which remained unserved at the time of the commission of the offense.

(5) Notwithstanding any provision in this chapter to the contrary, if a person is convicted of an offense that is committed while he is imprisoned in a penal or reformatory institution the sentence imposed for that offense may, upon order of the trial court be served in that institution.

Section 284. A new section of KRS Chapter 532 is created to read as follows:

(1) An indeterminate sentence of imprisonment commences when the prisoner is received in an institution under the jurisdiction of the Department of Corrections. When a person is under more than one indeterminate sentence, the sentences shall be calculated as follows:

(a) If the sentences run concurrently, the maximum terms merge in and are satisfied by discharge of the term which has the longest unexpired time to run; or

(b) If the sentences run consecutively, the maximum terms are added to arrive at an aggregate maximum term equal to the sum of all the maximum terms.

(2) A definite sentence of imprisonment commences when the prisoner is received in the institution named in the commitment. When a person is under more than one definite sentence, the sentences shall be calculated as follows:

(a) If the sentences run concurrently, the terms merge in and are satisfied by discharge of the term which has the longest unexpired time to run; or

(b) If the sentences run consecutively, the terms are added to arrive at an aggregate term and are satisfied by discharge of such aggregate term.

(3) Time spent in custody prior to the commencement of a sentence as a result of the charge that culminated in the sentence shall be credited by the court imposing sentence toward service of the maximum term of imprisonment. If the sentence is to an indeterminate term of imprisonment, the time spent in custody prior to the commencement of such sentence shall be considered for all purposes as time served in prison.

(4) If a person has been in custody due to a charge that culminated in a dismissal, acquittal, or other disposition not amounting to a conviction, the amount of time that would have been credited under subsection (3) if the defendant had been convicted of that charge shall be credited as provided in subsection (3) against any sentence based on a charge for which a warrant or commitment was lodged during the pendency of that custody.

(5) If a person serving a sentence of imprisonment escapes from custody, the escape interrupts the sentence. The interruption continues until the person is returned to the institution from which he escaped or to an institution administered by the Department of Corrections. Time spent in actual custody prior to return under this subsection shall be credited against the sentence if custody rested solely on an arrest or surrender for the escape itself.

Section 285. KRS Chapter 533 is established and a new section thereof is created to read as follows:

(1) Any person who has been convicted of a crime and who has not been sentenced to death or life imprisonment without privilege of parole may be sentenced to probation or conditional discharge as provided in this chapter.

(2) Before imposition of a sentence of imprisonment the court shall consider the possibility of probation or conditional discharge. After due consideration of the nature and circumstances of the crime and the history, character and condition of the defendant, probation or conditional discharge should be granted unless the court is of the opinion that imprisonment is necessary for protection of the public because:

(a) There is substantial risk that during a period of probation or conditional discharge the defendant will commit another crime; or

(b) The defendant is in need of correctional treatment that can be provided most effectively by his commitment to a correctional institution; or

(c) A disposition under this chapter will unduly depreciate the seriousness of the defendant's crime.

Section 286. A new section of KRS Chapter 533 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a person who has been convicted of an offense or who has entered a plea of guilty to an offense is not sentenced to imprisonment, the court shall place him on probation if he is in need of the supervision, guidance, assistance or direction that the probation service can provide. Conditions of probation shall be imposed as provided in section 287 of this Act, but the court may modify or enlarge the conditions or, if the defendant commits an additional offense or violates a condition, revoke the sentence at any time prior to the expiration or termination of the period of probation.

(2) When a person who has been convicted of an offense or who has entered a plea of guilty to an offense is not sentenced to imprisonment, the court may sentence him to conditional discharge if it is of the opinion that the defendant should conduct himself according to conditions determined by the court but that probationary supervision is inappropriate. Conditions of conditional discharge shall be imposed as provided in section 287 of this Act, but the court may modify or enlarge the conditions or, if the defendant commits an additional offense or violates a condition, revoke the sentence at any time prior to the expiration or termination of the period of conditional discharge.

(3) The period of probation or conditional discharge shall be fixed by the court and at any time may be extended or shortened by duly entered court order. Such period, with extensions thereof, shall not exceed five years upon conviction of a felony nor two years upon conviction of a misdemeanor. Upon completion of the probationary period or the period of conditional discharge, the defendant shall be deemed finally discharged, provided no warrant issued by the court is pending against him, and probation or conditional discharge has not been revoked.

(4) Notwithstanding the fact that a sentence to probation or conditional discharge can subsequently be modified or revoked, a judgment which includes such a sentence shall constitute a final judgment for purposes of appeal.

Section 287. A new section of KRS Chapter 533 is created to read as follows:

(1) The conditions of probation and conditional discharge shall be such as the court, in its discretion, deems reasonably necessary to insure that the defendant will lead a law-abiding life or to assist him to do so. The court shall provide as an explicit condition of every sentence to probation or conditional discharge that the defendant not commit another offense during the period for which the sentence remains subject to revocation.

(2) When imposing a sentence of probation or conditional discharge, the court may, in addition to any other reasonable condition, require that the defendant:

(a) Avoid injurious or vicious habits;

(b) Avoid persons or places of disreputable or harmful character;

(c) Work faithfully at suitable employment as far as possible;

(d) Make reparation or restitution, in an amount to be determined by the court, to an aggrieved party for damage or loss caused by his offense;

(e) Undergo available medical or psychiatric treatment and remain in a specific institution as required for that purpose;

(f) Post a bond, without surety, conditioned on performance of any of the prescribed conditions;

(g) Support his dependents and meet other family responsibilities;

(h) Pay the cost of the proceeding as set by the court;

(i) Remain within a specified area;

(j) Report to the probation officer as directed;

(k) Permit the probation officer to visit him at his home or elsewhere; and

(l) Answer all reasonable inquiries by the probation officer and promptly notify the probation officer of any change in address or employment.

(3) When a defendant is sentenced to probation or conditional discharge, he shall be given a written statement explicitly setting forth the conditions under which he is being released.

(4) When imposing a sentence of probation or conditional discharge, the court, in addition to conditions imposed under this section, may require as a condition of the sentence that the defendant submit to a period of imprisonment in the county jail at whatever time or intervals, consecutive or nonconsecutive, the court shall determine. The time actually spent in confinement pursuant to this provision shall not exceed six months or the maximum term of imprisonment assessed pursuant to KRS Chapter 532, whichever is the shorter. Time spent in custody under this subsection shall be credited against the maximum term of imprisonment assessed for the defendant pursuant to KRS Chapter 532, if probation or conditional discharge is revoked and the defendant is sentenced to imprisonment.

Section 288. A new section of KRS Chapter 533 is created to read as follows:

(1) A period of probation or conditional discharge commences on the day it is imposed. Multiple periods, whether imposed at the same or different times, run concurrently.

(2) If a court, as authorized by law, determines that a defendant violated the conditions of his probation or conditional discharge but reinstates probation or conditional discharge, the period between the date of the violation and the date of restoration of probation or conditional discharge is not computed as a part of the period of probation or conditional discharge.

(3) A sentence of probation or conditional discharge shall run concurrently with any federal or state jail, prison or parole term for another offense to which the defendant is or becomes subject during the period, unless such sentence of probation or conditional discharge is revoked. Such revocation must take place prior to parole under or expiration of the sentence of imprisonment or within ninety days after the grounds for revocation come to the attention of the Department of Corrections, whichever occurs first.

Section 289. A new section of KRS Chapter 533 is created to read as follows:

(1) At any time before the discharge of the defendant or the termination of the sentence of probation or conditional discharge:

(a) The court may summon the defendant to appear before it or may issue a warrant for his arrest upon a finding of probable cause to believe that he has failed to comply with a condition of the sentence; or

(b) A probation officer, or peace officer acting at the direction of a probation officer, who sees the defendant violate the terms of his probation or conditional discharge may arrest the defendant without a warrant.

(2) The court may not revoke or modify the conditions of a sentence of probation or conditional discharge except after a hearing with defendant represented by counsel and following a written notice of the grounds for revocation or modification.

Section 290. KRS Chapter 534 is established and a new section thereof is created to read as follows:

The following definition applies in this chapter unless the context otherwise requires:

"Gain" means the amount of money or the value of property derived from the commission of the crime, less the amount of money or the value of property returned to the victim of the crime or seized by or surrendered to lawful authority prior to the time sentence is imposed.

Section 291. A new section of KRS Chapter 534 is created to read as follows:

(1) When a defendant is sentenced to pay a fine, the court may provide for payment to be made within a specified period of time or in specified installments. If no such provision is made a part of the sentence, the fine shall be payable forthwith.

(2) When a defendant is sentenced to pay a fine, an alternative sentence of imprisonment that is to be served in the event the fine is not paid shall not be imposed at the same time. The response of a court to nonpayment of a fine shall be determined only after the fine has not been paid, and only as provided in section 293 of this Act.

Section 292. A new section of KRS Chapter 534 is created to read as follows:

(1) Except as otherwise provided for an offense defined outside this code, a person who has been convicted of any felony and granted a sentence of probation or conditional discharge may be sentenced to pay a fine in an amount not to exceed $10,000 or double his gain from commission of the offense, whichever is the greater.

(2) In determining the amount and method of paying a fine for commission of a felony, the court shall consider, among others, the following factors:

(a) The defendant's ability to pay the amount of the fine;

(b) The hardship likely to be imposed on the defendant's dependents by the amount of the fine and the time and method of paying it;

(c) The impact the amount of the fine will have on the defendant's ability to make reparation or restitution to the victim; and

(d) The amount of the defendant's gain, if any, derived from the commission of the offense.

(3) When a defendant is convicted of two or more felonies committed through a single act and is sentenced to fines pursuant to subsection (1), the aggregate amount of such fines shall not exceed $10,000 or double the amount of the defendant's gain from commission of the offenses, whichever is the greater.

(4) This section does not apply to a corporation.

Section 293. A new section of KRS Chapter 534 is created to read as follows:

(1) Fines and imprisonment for misdemeanors shall not be mutually exclusive. In any case where imprisonment is authorized a fine may be levied in addition to the imprisonment or a fine may be levied as an alternative to imprisonment. Similarly, a fine may be levied in lieu of imprisonment. Whether or not the fine is to be levied as the sole penalty or as an additional or alternative penalty shall be in the discretion of the judge or jury as the case may be. If the trial is by jury then the jury shall have the discretion. This rule shall apply in all cases where a fine is not the exclusive penalty authorized by law.

(2) Except as otherwise provided for an offense defined outside this code, a person who has been convicted of any offense other than a felony may be sentenced to pay a fine in an amount not to exceed:

- (a) For a Class A misdemeanor, $500; or
- (b) For a Class B misdemeanor, $250; or
- (c) For a violation, $250.

(3) This section does not apply to a corporation.

Section 294. A new section of KRS Chapter 534 is created to read as follows:

(1) For an offense defined in this code a corporation convicted of an offense may be sentenced to pay a fine in an amount not to exceed:

- (a) For a felony of any class, $20,000; or
- (b) For a Class A misdemeanor, $10,000; or
- (c) For a Class B misdemeanor, $5,000; or
- (d) For a violation, $500; or

(e) Double the amount of the defendant's gain from commission of the offense, whichever is the greater.

(2) For an offense defined outside this code for which no special corporate fine is specified, a corporation convicted of an offense may be sentenced to pay a fine in an amount not to exceed:

- (a) $20,000, if the offense when committed by an individual has an authorized term of imprisonment in the penitentiary; or
- (b) $10,000, if the offense when committed by an individual has an authorized term of imprisonment of not less than ninety days nor more than twelve months; or
- (c) $5,000, if the offense when committed by an individual has an authorized term of imprisonment of less than ninety days; or
- (d) $500, if the offense when committed by an individual has no authorized term of imprisonment; or
- (e) Double the amount of the defendant's gain from commission of the offense, whichever is the greater.

(3) For an offense defined outside this code for which a special corporate fine is specified, a corporation convicted of the offense may be sentenced to pay a fine in the amount specified in the law that defines the offense.

Section 295. A new section of KRS Chapter 534 is created to read as follows:

(1) When an individual sentenced to pay a fine defaults in the payment of the fine or any installment, the court upon motion of the prosecuting attorney or upon its own motion may require him to show cause why he should not be imprisoned for nonpayment. The court may issue a warrant of arrest or a summons for his appearance.

(2) Following an order to show cause under subsection (1), unless the defendant shows that his default was not attributable to an intentional refusal to obey the sentence of the court and not attributable to a failure on his part to make a good faith effort to obtain the necessary funds for payment, the court may order the defendant imprisoned for a term not to exceed:

- (a) Six months, if the fine was imposed for the conviction of a felony; or
- (b) One-third of the maximum authorized term of imprisonment for the offense committed, if the fine was imposed for conviction of a misdemeanor; or
- (c) Ten days, if the fine was imposed for conviction of a violation.

(3) If the default in payment of a fine is determined to be excusable under the standards set forth in subsection (2), the court may enter an order allowing the defendant additional time for payment, reducing the amount of each installment, or modifying the manner of payment in any other way. In addition the court may enter an order compelling the defendant to work for a department of local government, if:

- (a) Such department, through appropriate authority, approves the defendant's employment;
- (b) Such department will pay the defendant for his work at a reasonable rate of compensation;
- (c) The defendant is not otherwise gainfully employed nor medically disabled; and
- (d) Such employment will not cause economic hardship to the defendant or his dependents.

In the event such an order is entered the court shall designate the portion of the defendant's compensation that is to be credited toward payment of his fine, which in no event shall be more than forty percent of gross compensation.

(4) When a fine is imposed on a corporation, it is the duty of the person or persons authorized to make disbursement of the assets of the corporation and their superiors to pay the fine from assets of the corporation. The failure of such persons to do so shall render them subject to imprisonment under subsections (1) and (2).

(5) Following a default in the payment of a fine or any installment thereof, the fine may be collected by any means authorized for the enforcement of money judgments rendered in favor of the Commonwealth.

Section 296. KRS 2.060 is amended to read as follows:

No person shall in any manner, for exhibition or display, place or cause to be placed upon, or expose or cause to be exposed to public view any flag, standard, colors or ensign of the United States upon which has been placed, or to which is attached, appended, affixed or annexed, any word, figure, mark, picture, design or drawing, or advertisement of any nature; nor shall any person manufacture, sell, expose for sale or to public view or give away or have in possession for sale or to be given away or for use for any purpose, any article of merchandise, or a receptacle for merchandise or thing for carrying or transporting merchandise upon which has been placed a representation of any such flag, standard, colors or ensign, to advertise, call attention to, decorate, mark or distinguish the article on which so placed [; nor shall any person publicly mutilate, deface, defile, or defy, trample upon or cast contempt, either by word or act, upon any such flag, standard, colors or ensign].

Section 297. KRS 21.140 is amended to read as follows:

(1) A defendant may appeal as a matter of right to the Court of Appeals from a final judgment of the circuit court imposing a sentence of confinement or imprisonment of twelve (12) months or more.

(2) The Court of Appeals may grant an appeal on a motion by a defendant from a final judgment of the circuit court imposing a sentence of confinement of less than twelve (12) months or a fine or both. The court may also grant an appeal on a motion by a defendant from a final judgment of a county judge on a prosecution transferred to the county judge in accordance with KRS 23.145.

(3) An appeal may be taken to the Court of Appeals by the state from an adverse decision or ruling of the circuit judge and such an appeal shall not suspend the proceedings in the case. An appeal by the state shall be taken in the manner provided in the Rules of Criminal Procedure except that the record on appeal shall be transmitted by the clerk of the circuit court to the Attorney General. If the Attorney General is satisfied, after inspecting the record, that error has been committed to the prejudice of the state, upon which it is important to the correct and uniform administration of the law that the Court of Appeals should decide, he may deliver the record to the Clerk of the Court of Appeals within the time prescribed by the Rules of Criminal Procedure.

[(3) An appeal may be taken to the Court of Appeals by the commonwealth from an adverse decision or ruling of the circuit judge and such an appeal shall not suspend the proceedings in the case. An appeal by the commonwealth shall be taken in the manner provided in the Rules of Criminal Procedure except that the record on appeal shall be transmitted by the clerk of the circuit court to the attorney general. If the attorney general is satisfied, after inspecting the record, that error has been committed to the prejudice of the commonwealth, upon which it is important to the correct and uniform administration of the law that the Court of Appeals should decide, he may deliver the record to the clerk of the Court of Appeals within the time prescribed by the Rules of Criminal Procedure.]

(4) When an appeal is taken pursuant to subsection (3), the Court of Appeals, if the record so warrants, may reverse the decision of the circuit court and order a new trial in any case in which a new trial would not constitute double jeopardy or otherwise violate any constitutional rights of the defendant.

(5) *An appeal may be taken to the circuit court by the prosecution from an adverse decision or ruling of a judge of the police, magistrate's, or county court on any question of law and such an appeal shall not suspend the proceedings in the case. Such appeal shall be taken in the manner provided in the Rules of Criminal Procedure.
